MONTH ADDED TO CALENDAR

Sears, Roebuck & Co. Will Have Thirteen This Year

A thirteen-month year began yesterday for the hundreds of employees in the four Los Angeles stores of Sears, Roebuck & Co., according to J. L. Gurney, merchandise manager, as well as for the 40,000 members of the company's mail-order and retail organizations throughout the country. Business, and not faddism, dictated the reform of the calendar, the first major change made in dividing years since 1752, when England advanced its calendar eleven days.

Preparations to inaugurate the change have been in progress at the local stores of the nation-wide concern since early in December, when orders were issued by the Chicago headquarters that the company be conducted on a basis of a year of thirteen months of twenty-eight days each. Sales and earnings are to be computed on this basis. Where monthly payments of the personnel prevail, there will be thirteen monthly pay days a year.

The reason for the change, as announced from Chicago at the time it was ordered, is that equal months will afford a better basis for comparison of sales and earnings.

This is said to be the first adoption of the thirteen-month year by any organization west of the Mississippi River. In the carefully worked-out calendar provided for the change, no new name of a month, such as have been proposed by time congresses, has been added to the original twelve. The fifty-two weeks of the year simply have been divided into thirteen equal periods, with weeks of two months overlapping. One advantage from a business standpoint, as contemplated, is that in a thirteen-month year, the corresponding dates of the months fall on the same day of the week throughout.

RUM KILLING ROILS MOB

Boston Crowd Rips Posters

Coast Guard Standards at Recruiting Station Broken as Meeting Sequel

Liberal League Asks Hoover to Investigate Deaths of Liquor-Running Trio

BOSTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—A demonstration on Boston Common in which Coast Guard recruiting posters were destroyed was an unexpected aftermath today of a meeting in historic Faneuil Hall called by the Liberal Civic League in protest of the killing of three rum-runners in Rhode Island waters Sunday by Coast Guardsmen.

The petty officer in charge of the recruiting station was unable to stem the crowd. The posters were torn from their metal standards and trampled and the standards were bent and broken.

The ancient rafters of Faneuil Hall echoed to charges by speakers that in enforcement of prohibition the nation faces a new form of oppression. The Rhode Island incident was referred to by one speaker as the "Newport massacre" and was compared with the Boston Massacre, the first bloodshed of the war of independence.

INVESTIGATION ASKED

A resolution adopted by an audience which filled the hall called upon President Hoover for an impartial investigation. It follows in part:

"We believe that we have a right to respectfully demand that you, sir, as President of the United States, order a thorough and searching investigation into the facts surrounding this deplorable incident by somebody not connected with the Coast Guard or the Treasury Department.

"By the continuance of such governmental practices as the incident above described we can see nothing but the destruction of the liberties for which our fathers fought, for which free men have bled from the time of the great charter.

"We are not asserting the guilt of the Coast Guard, but we believe the attitude of the government as [illegible] taken will justly give the impression that an attempt is being made to suppress the facts and whitewash a criminal act of the worst kind and all this for the enforcement of an unpopular, unnecessary and stupid law which has no proper place in the Constitution of our nation and which all intelligent people know can never be enforced."

ESCAPE ATTEMPT DENIED

Conrad W. Crooker, general counsel for the Liberal Civic League, which has conducted an investigation into the shooting, denied that the rum runners had attempted to escape or that they were given any warning by Coast Guard patrol boat

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 2. [To the Editor of The Times:] Result of the big interdenominational football game, California Methodists (Modern) 47; Pittsburgh Cumberland Presbyterians (old school) 14. While 81,000 part-time atheists howled in heathen glee the Methodists believed in the "passover," and their faith was well founded, for seven out of eight passes were touchdowns. It was their greatest day since the Wesley boys, Johnny and Charley, single-handed beat the Church of England. The Rt. Rev. Russell Saunders was the principal presiding elder called upon to carry or heave their message and text into infidel territory. As darkness enveloped the field Pittsburgh did better. The Presbyterians seemed to be carrying out the traditions of their new Senator, Uncle Joe Grundy, they was always "lobbying" when they should have been running.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

P.S.—The winner will be allowed to cheer till they meet Notre Dame.

TWO-MILE AIR PLUNGE REVEALED

Army Report Tells How Pilot Recovered in Time to Prevent Crash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—A routine report reaching Army Air Corps headquarters today told how an army pilot had fallen unconscious more than two miles in a tail spin and recovered in time to live to tell the tale.

Lieut. B. D. Graves of the Ninety-fifth Pursuit Squadron at Rockwell Field, California, lost consciousness at an altitude of 23,000 feet in an airplane he was testing. A fitting on his oxygen tank failed.

The plane lurched into a spin and he did not begin to recover until passing the 15,000-foot altitude. So fast was his drop that he had fallen 2000 feet more before regaining his faculties sufficiently to bring the plane into control. He landed without damage to the ship.

Signs Point to Receivership

Stockholders' Attorney Tells Plans in Event Creditors Fail to Take Action

Class A Shares in Tumble on Wall Street as Result of Announcement

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. (AP)—Stanley M. Lazarus, attorney for the Class A stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation, announced today that unless the creditors immediately apply for a receivership the holders of the "A" shares contemplate such action "for their protection."

The immediate effect of the statement was a drop of $5 a share in Fox Film Class A stock on the New York Stock Exchange, carrying the stock to $17, a new low record, and depressing the market generally in sympathy. The peak price last year was $105.62.

The corporation's Class B stock is controlled by William Fox, who a month ago offered to relinquish control of both the Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theaters Corporation. H. L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and John E. Otterson, president of Electric Research Products, Inc., a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, then agreed to act as trustees with Fox.

ATTORNEY'S STATEMENT

"Class A stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation announce that the prospect now in the Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theaters Corporation does not look encouraging," the statement by Lazarus says, "and indications are that a receivership must be resorted to at once in order to protect all interests. The reported disagreement among the trustees and holders of Class B Fox Film stock, the unwillingness of the company officials and trustees to co-operate with the Class A stockholders' committee and the status of the creditors whose claims are reported due with no present arrangement for satisfying them make such step seem inevitable."

None of the trustees for the banks which are understood to hold approximately $90,000,000 in short-term obligations of the Fox companies would comment on the statement.

Lazarus announced that a committee of the Class A stockholders of Fox Theaters is being formed "so that their interests also will be protected."

FORECAST BY FOX

William Fox tonight issued a statement predicting the year 1930 "will be the greatest in every respect in the history of the company." Fox's statement said:

"The assets of the Fox Film Corporation over and above all liabilities are in excess of $73,000,000 and the earnings for this corporation during the year 1929 are more than $13,000,000, with a special nonrecurring profit of $6,000,000, or a total for the year of more than $19,000,000.

"The estimated profits for 1930 based on figures presented by operating members of the organization are in excess of $17,000,000.

"Officials of the company are in process of negotiations which, when completed, they believe will enable them to fund all of the corporation's short-term obligations."

Lindbergh Likes Mail Boy Better Than Sea Flyer

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Rather than be memorialized in stone as the hero of the New York-to-Paris flight, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would prefer to be remembered in St. Louis as "the boy who flew the air mail."

While expressing no particular objection to a movement to erect a statue to him in a city park here, the famous flyer expressed this preference in a telephone conversation today with Mayor Victor J. Miller, prior to leaving with Mrs. Lindbergh on their westward cross-country flight.

WICHITA (Kan.) Jan. 2. (AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh passed the night here on their westbound trip over the Transcontinental Air Transport lines. They arrived this afternoon after a flight from St. Louis and Kansas City.

Weygand Made Chief of Staff

PARIS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Gen. Maxine Weygand, considered the military heir of Marshal Foch, today was named officially chief of the French army general staff.

Weygand was considered by Foch the ablest active military chief in France. Not long before his death Foch said in a conversation "when I am no longer here, if a military peril menaces France, call on Weygand and you can be tranquil."

NUPTIALS TO OPEN JAILS

Italian King Decrees Amnesty and Thousands Will be Freed in Honor of Humbert Wedding

[Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune]

ROME, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—Amnesty for offenses involving not more than a one-year sentence and fines corresponding to a one-year term in prison are acts of leniency of King Victor Emmanuel on the occasion of Crown Prince Humbert's forthcoming wedding to Princess Marie Jose of Belgium. Four hundred thousand persons altogether thus are to benefit under the royal pardon while 6000 prisoners are to be freed from jail, it was learned tonight.

Political crimes mentioned in the law for defense of the state and the crimes of high treason, spying, revolt and desertion from military service are excluded from the pardon.

In the preface to the amnesty decree which is signed by the King and Premier Mussolini, Minister of Justice Rocco recalls how since 1925 no general pardon has been extended. Sig. Rocco further points out that the government is not granting pardons to political criminals, especially those involved in plots against the Fascist state, to avoid liberation of new elements of danger to the present regime which recently has been attacked by Italian and foreign subversive elements.

The amnesty, which chiefly includes offenders charged with petty larceny, light military offenses, and general fines, which have been numerous lately following the increased severity of traffic regulations, also excludes extortion offenses, financial misdealings and dope sellers.

BELGIAN PARTY READY TO DEPART

BRUSSELS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Princess Marie Jose will leave this capital tomorrow for Rome, where, next Wednesday, she will become the bride of Humbert, Prince of Piedmont and heir to the Italian throne.

She will be accompanied on the special train which will carry her across France and Italy by her father, King Albert, and her mother, Queen Elizabeth, high government dignitaries, and those who will serve as her attendants at the wedding.

PRECAUTIONS ORDERED

Extraordinary precautions will be taken over the entire route to be traveled to prevent any untoward incident. An attempt was made recently to assassinate the Prince when he visited Brussels to announce his betrothal, and since then several conspiracies against the lives of the Belgian royalties and Italian dignitaries have been uncovered.

The Princess, the youngest of three children of the Belgian royal pair, and but 23 years of age, yesterday took leave of the personnel of the royal house. Each member was presented with the Princess' photograph and an autograph inscription signed "Marie Jose."

FEW EYES DRY

Both the Princess and the household were moved by the leave-taking; each had known the other for many years, and few eyes remained dry during the half-hour interview.

The presidents of the Senate and House of Deputies called on the Princess today, bringing her gifts, and bidding her farewell.

SCOTLAND FILM MAN ARRESTED

Manager Faces Charges as Result of Fire Panic; First Funerals Conducted

PAISLEY (Scotland) Jan. 2. (AP)—Charles Dorward, manager of the Glen Cinema, where seventy-two children perished during a fire panic on New Year's Eve, was arrested today charged with culpable homicide or culpable negligence.

Dorward's arrest followed lengthy official inspection of the theater. He will appear in the Sheriff's Court tomorrow.

The first funerals for the child victims were conducted today. John and William Pinkerton, brothers, 6 and 12 years of age, were buried with an impressive public tribute. The crowds lining the route from the Pinkerton house in the working-class district of North Paisley to the cemetery were so dense the police had to be summoned to regulate traffic and enable the funeral party to reach its destination. Representatives of the Town Council attended the simple services for the children.

Special services will be conducted in the Paisley churches tomorrow when most of the other children will be buried. Business premises and places of amusement will be closed for several hours as a sign of general mourning. There will be double or triple funerals in four families.

Warden Resigns Auburn Prison, Scene of Riots

ALBANY (N. Y.) Jan. 2. (AP)—The resignation of Edgar S. Jennings as warden of Auburn State prison where two riots have occurred in the past year was announced today by Dr. Raymond F. C. Kieb, State Commissioner of Correction.

Dr. Kieb would not discuss whether Jennings's resignation had been requested, but said "it has been accepted."

REPORTS CONFLICT ON CHILEAN SHIP'S WRECK

LIMA (Peru) Jan. 2. (AP)—The Chilean steamer Mapocho went aground at Samanco, about 200 miles north of Callao, today while en route from Guayaquil to Valparaiso carrying many passengers. Advices given out by the national telegraphs said that panic prevailed on board, but the Compania Sud Americana de Vapores, owners of the vessel, said the captain had forwarded a message stating that calm prevailed on board.

TWO NEW DRY BILLS FOR MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—State Representative Sawyer of Ware, Democrat and a Congregationalist minister, today filed with the clerk of the House two drastic prohibition bills. The first provides an appropriation of $2,000,000 to enforce the State prohibition law and the second would make possession of a quart or more of liquor "prima facie evidence of intent to sell."

WIND-TORN SHIP FIGHTS TO SURVIVE

Two Coast Guard Cutters Race to Aid of Vessel That Lost Rudder

BREMERTON (Wash.) Jan. 2. (AP)—Battling a seventy-mile gale far out on the Pacific, the Portland freighter California was precariously making headway toward Cape Flattery with a temporary rudder which replaced steering gear carried away by the storm, being broken up in its turn, a message received by the naval radio station here late today said.

The crippled ship was 330 miles off Cape Flattery and 390 miles off Astoria.

Two Coast Guard cutters, the Snohomish and Haida, are speeding out to sea tonight to the rescue of the disabled ship, which has a crew of forty-five men aboard. Because of the storm, the cutters are not expected to reach the California until late tomorrow.

The California was drifting helplessly for several hours today until Capt. Gregor Johnson rigged up a temporary rudder when she got under way again. In the meanwhile, the Snohomish had left Port Angeles and the Haida followed soon after from Seattle.

Gen. Aguinaldo to Enter Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Isauro Gabaldon, representative of the Philippine Independence League, announced today that Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, who thirty years ago led an armed revolt against the United States, will enter the political campaign for the islands' independence.

Gabaldon said it is the league's purpose to unite all Filipinos, regardless of party affiliations and religious creeds, to "fight for immediate restoration of the Philippine republic in any form."

Gen. Aguinaldo is honorary president of the league.

In a letter to King Fuad, Nahas Pasha says that one of the real measures of independence for Egypt is the forthcoming negotiation for a new Anglo-Egyptian treaty.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Dr. Paul F. W. Wipperman, 41 years of age, superintendent of Touro Infirmary and widely known in medical circles died early today after suffering a month from a rare form of blood poisoning in which he had specialized and discovered a treatment.

Physicians injected a serum of Dr. Wipperman's discovery and amputated one of his feet in an effort to save his life. He served in the World War.

TEN DIE AS PLANES CRASH FILMING SCENE AT BEACH

Ships Chartered by Fox Studios Hit at 3000-Foot Altitude and Plunge Aflame Into Sea

Ten men lost their lives yesterday afternoon when two motion-picture airplanes crashed together 3000 feet in the air over the ocean two miles south of Redondo Beach, off Point Vicente.

The collision instantly was followed by an explosion and fire and the two planes plunged into the sea, a mass of flaming wreckage.

The planes were chartered for filming a sea episode in a motion picture for the Fox Film studios, and the official death list as given out by the company is:

LIST OF DEAD

Kenneth Hawks, director, 2280 Alcyona Drive.

Max Gold, assistant director, 330 North Orange Drive.

George Eastman, cameraman, 2040 Purnell avenue, Westwood.

Conrad Wells, cameraman, 6626 Franklin avenue.

Ben Frankel, assistant cameraman, 6015 Sunset Boulevard.

Otto Jordan, assistant cameraman, 5624 Santa Monica Boulevard.

Hallock Rouse, pilot, 2231 Pearl street, Venice.

Capt. Ross Cooke, pilot, 333 South Canyon Drive.

Tom Harris, property man, 1121 Poinsettia Place.

Henry Johannes, property man, 3343 Garden street.

The scene to be photographed was to represent a parachute drop into the sea and a third plane carrying Jacob Triebwasser, parachute jumper; Fred Osborne and Bert White, motion-picture men, piloted by Lieut.-Col. Roscoe Turner, which was being used in the maneuvers, was not in the accident.

THREE BODIES FOUND

Three of the bodies had been recovered last night when darkness spread a pall over the area and hampered the search. They were identified as Max Gold, Ben Frankel and Conrad Wells.

Gold still was alive when picked up by crews of two speed boats, which were on the ocean equipped for picking up the parachute jumper and taking close-up photographs of the fall.

The boats were in charge of Tom Monise, and he had as crews George Duke and Glenn Whitikan. In the boats also were L. W. O'Connell, head cameraman of the film-shooting group, and Henry Klein.

When they reached the scene the surface of the sea was a floating mass of flames as the gasoline from the tanks ignited and for two or three minutes caused a roaring furnace. The rescuers were not able to penetrate the blaze, they said. When it finally died away they picked up the three bodies. Gold had survived the fiery furnace and the fall, but died as the speed boat rushed to shore.

GO DOWN IN SEA

The two planes, with noses locked, plunged into the water, and sank almost immediately. When the first rescue boats reached the scene they found only twisted and charred portions of wings and canvas, and the heavy motors are believed to have carried their cargo to the ocean's bottom.

The three bodies brought back to shore were found floating on the surface of the sea, face downward, and two of them are believed to have jumped from the flaming planes. The third was thrown out by the force of the explosion when the planes came together, and was seen by eyewitnesses to hurtle to the water.

Floating markers were placed at the scene of the accident, which is located about three miles offshore and two miles south of Redondo Beach.

The three bodies found were burned badly and many bones broken.

Recovery of the missing seven will be attempted today, when boats will go out to the area equipped with grappling hooks and ropes. The Los Angeles Municipal Life Guard crew will seek to recover the bodies. They will be aided by the blimp, Volunteer, and navy planes,

NAVY BLAST KILLS TWO

Plane Carrier's Launch Burns

Four Others Injured When Blazing Paint Pot Sets Off Gasoline

Quick Work of Fire Crew on Mother Ship Halts Worse Disaster

With a roar that was reported audible from a distance of several miles, 200 gallons of gasoline in the storage tank of the captain's gig attached to the $44,000,000 aircraft carrier Saratoga exploded while being manned in the harbor at San Pedro yesterday, killing two seamen and injuring four others, and for a time threatening destruction to the mother ship.

The two dead men, whose bodies have not been recovered, are Mathew La Vielle, 22 years of age, seaman second class, Schenectady, N. Y., and Vincent V. Lalor, 29, engineer second class, 466 Pacific avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The injured are:

George William Fabrey, 19, Annapolis, Md., seaman second class, burned about face, expected to recover.

Henry Kenfield, 24, R.F.D. No. 2, Hampton, Ct., seaman first class, seriously burned, recovery doubtful.

Albert Lee Houston, 20, R.F.D. No. 1, Centralia, Wash., seaman second class, burned seriously, recovery in doubt.

R. J. Morton, seaman second class, slightly burned.

DEATHS DISCOVERED LATER

The deaths of La Vielle and Lalor were not discovered until some time after the fire had been extinguished.

La Vielle was in the punt alongside the Saratoga, engaged in painting the hull, when the turpentine pot blazed. Commander Reid said that he threw the pot into the water, causing a blast of flame from the gasoline compressor pump residue on the surface and which immediately leaped up the side of the vessel, scorching the starboard hull and superstructure for two-thirds the ship's length.

Lalor was one of the three men aboard the captain's gig and all jumped as the flames spread and authorities believe that La Vielle and Lalor, coming to the surface, inhaled flames and sank.

The most seriously injured are Houston, Kenfield and Febrey. They are in the ship's hospital in a critical condition. Morton is reported recovering.

JUST LEAVING SHIP

The blast occurred shortly before 4 p.m. The seamen had boarded the gig, a fifty-foot tender used in service to and from shore, preparatory to going ashore. They were about to cut loose from the ship's boom on the starboard side to which the little craft was moored, when the deafening explosion rent the launch asunder. The detonation was followed by a great sheet of flame and clouds of smoke that shot several hundred feet in the

Midwinter Number Gets Overwhelming Response

Approval of the Los Angeles Times Annual Midwinter Number—which went on sale yesterday—manifested itself in the one way that leaves no room for doubt—a spontaneous and sweeping demand for copies that began early in the morning and continued uninterruptedly throughout the day, taxing to capacity The Times' distributing facilities.

Dealers and agents in every city and town in Southern California telephoned almost identically the same report to The Times circulation manager, that the edition was being greeted as the most beautifully illustrated and interestingly told Annual Midwinter Number The Times had ever produced, and that not only were individuals sending away a larger number of copies than ever before, but many who ordinarily do not send away the Midwinter Number were doing so this year.

Realizing that New Year's diversions have engaged the attention of many people and that consequently the peak of the demand is still to come, The Times has enlarged its Midwinter sales and mailing staff so that all copies will continue to go forward within a few hours from the moment orders are placed.

All Six Magazines Mailed Postpaid 25c

To co-operate in bringing about a wide national distribution of this edition The Times will send a set of the six magazines, together with a full illustrated account of the Tournament of Roses and the East-West football game, to any point in the United States, Canada or Mexico for 25c, and to other countries for 35c. The domestic postage on this year's edition when copies are mailed by individuals will amount to 18c. Use order blank printed on another page.

which will cruise over the spot and attempt to locate the wreckage and bodies from the air. As soon as this has been done, the entire bottom will be dragged. The wreckage is believed resting in about 200-foot water.

Searchlights from the Coast Guard Cutter 254, which steamed to the scene, constantly played over the waters during the night in the hopes of rescuing any of the men who might be found alive, and also to pick up the bodies should any come to the surface.

Very few signs remained on the sea shortly after the plunge to mark the fall, and hopes of finding any living were practically given up by Coast Guard officials.

INVESTIGATION BEGUN

An immediate investigation of the accident was started by J. G. Nall, inspector in the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce, who is stationed at Clover Field. "The three planes started from this port," Nall explained, "and it is my duty to ascertain as far as possible the cause of the accident."

Both pilots, who went down with their planes, were experienced, and the conditions of the two planes were described as excellent by C. H. Tanner, president of the Tanner Aircraft Corporation, from whom they were chartered.

"The J-6 type of plane, which they were using, is a fine commercial plane, and unless the ships were subjected to heavy punishment I cannot imagine them becoming unmanageable or breaking up," he said.

STRUCK AT ANGLE

"Reports made to me by members of the crew of the speed boats," said Mr. Tanner, "are to the effect that the ships struck at about an angle of 45 deg." Members of the crew of the boats told Mr. Tanner, he said, that cameramen on the planes might have observed the smoke from the flames on the Saratoga, and started there to make some photographs, coming together.

"I saw the planes, one of which was settling, come together," said Bert White, who was in the Turner ship directing the parachute jumper, and their wing tips touched. There was an explosive flash and two bodies were thrown out as the flaming ships fell like plummets into the sea."

FILMING DEATH SCENE

The two planes were engaged in filming an episode in a picture which was to depict a death similar to that in real life of Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, noted Belgian financier, according to studio officials.

The leading man in the picture is Warner Baxter, who plays the part of a multimillionaire, who supposedly stepped from his powerful plane and disappeared. He was not present at the time of the crash.

The planes yesterday were preparing to shoot the scene showing the parachute drop. The third plane had maneuvered into position and, according to Turner, was being followed by the camera ships. Turner flew as prearranged and was practically over the spot where the jump was to be made.

CRASH DESCRIBED

Eyewitnesses to the fatal crash assert that the two camera planes were flying on practically the same level, and attempted to make quarter turns in maneuvering to new positions. Their noses met and almost immediately the ships exploded, bursting into flames.

The seven still missing are believed trapped in the cabins. A speed-boat operator, who was waiting to pick up the parachute jumper, said that he was watching the three planes. The plane with the actors had passed and was flying about 500 feet in the air. It was followed by the camera planes, both about 1500 feet in the air. Suddenly the two ships swerved and struck. Two men were seen to jump from the plane, and the third body, which came almost immediately after, was thrown out by the explosion, he said.

"The two camera planes were supposed to swoop down on the parachute jumper and make photographs from different angles, according to studio authorities.

ANOTHER VERSION

Turner, who was sent to bed after making his report, suffering from a nervous breakdown, said that he did not see the actual collision. The parachute jumper was watching the ship for his signal to jump, and when they came together yelled to Turner. "I turned my ship as soon as possible," and all I could see was the flames and the smoke as the burning planes struck the water."

Another eyewitness to hte air tragedy declared that the three planes were flying in a "V" formation, when one dived down into another, bringing both down in flames. He said that two men on one of the planes attempted to leave in parachutes but hit before they opened.

MANY SEE CRASH

Many motorists along the Coast Highway and a number of fishermen in their boats saw the double fall, as did the crew of a freighter and passengers aboard the liner Ruth Alexander, which was off Point Vicente. The crash was described by W. Carlson, chief officer of the liner, as coming like a bolt of lightning with the two planes bursting into flames just as they started to fall.

All persons on the two planes were employed by the Fox Film studios, and the two ships were chartered for the afternoon scene shooting from the Tanner Air Livery, with an airport at Clover Field.

Kenneth Hawks, the director, was the husband of Mary Astor, film actress. Max Gold, assistant director, was a former national handball champion. Howard Hawks, it was reported, just missed the fate of his brother, when a last-minute shift in his plans prevented his making the flight.

air. So terrific was the force of the blast that the cabin and entire after part of the gig were blown nearly 200 feet above the water, higher than the masts of the Saratoga herself.

BLAZING LIQUID SCATTERED

Blazing gasoline was scattered hundreds of yards in all directions on the surface of the sea, which instantly became a mass of flames. The blazing fluid also splattered against the starboard side of the airplane carrier, striking terror for the moment to the complement of officers and men by threatening to set fir to the big vessel's gasoline storage tank.

In the absence of Capt. F. J. Horne, who was ashore, Lieut. L. N. Miller was in command of the carrier, as officer of the deck. With presence of mind he grasped the situation at a glance and sounded the fire alarm that sent all hands on duty to the pumps and chemicals. Within a few minutes the fire was extinguished.

Meantime, two commercial motor boat pilots had put out from shore to take the injured men off the burning gig. They are Mat Babick of 6961 Fourteenth street, San Pedro, and John Richardson of Alta Loma street, San Pedro. In a little launch called the Chief they sped out over the water, brought up alongside the blazing craft and removed the four unconscious sailors.

INQUIRY TO BE HELD

The explosion shattered the antennae of the carrier's wireless apparatus, rendering communication with sister ships of the battle fleet impossible except by searchlight. The latter means was employed to explain to the flagship California that the fire had been placed under control and that the dense pall of black smoke was not as serious as might be believed.

Commander A. C. Reid, senior officer of the Saratoga, said the fire was caused by a turpentine pot in a punt alongside the Saratoga catching fire from an unknown cause and firing the surface of the water, which was covered with a residue from a gasoline compressor pump which was being cleaned aboard the aircraft carrier.

The captain's gig, moored alongside the big ship, was burned. It was valued at $25,000. Damage to the Saratoga is not yet estimated. Commander Reid said, however, that repairs can be made to the ship without difficulty while she remains at her anchorage.

A court of inquiry will convene aboard the carrier today to fix responsibility for the disaster.

HAWKS FILMS VETERAN BUT NEW AS DIRECTOR

Kenneth Hawks, film director and one of the ten men killed in the airplane crash, was born at Goshen, Ind., August 12, 1896. Although he has been connected with the motion-picture industry for years, it was not many months ago he got his first directorial assignment.

He was educated at the Pasadena public schools and then entered Yale, but left college during the World War when he enlisted in the air service. He served one year in the Army and won his wings, but the Armistice prevented his going to France.

After the war he completed his college course. He first became interested in pictures by financing a number of independent productions. He finally came to Hollywood and in 1924 joined Universal as an assistant to Director Jack Conway. From there he went to Paramount, where he worked as assistant to George Melford, Victor Fleming, Clarence Badger and William K. Howard.

Then he joined the Fox Films, with which company he was working when he was killed. He got his first assignment as a director with Fox when David Butler had to leave the final scenes of "Masked Emotions" to direct another picture. He did so well finishing this picture that he was assigned to direct "Big Time," and then a number of others.

Hawks married Mary Astor, screen actress, about eighteen months ago. His brother Howard also is connected with pictures. Howard is the husband of the former Mrs. Athole Ward, a sister of Norma Shearer, while another brother, William, now is on a honeymoon with Bessie Love, screen actress.

COAST GUARD JOINS HUNT

Cruisers Using Powerful Lights Conduct All Night Search for Missing Bodies

Government Coast Guard cutters last night joined in the search for the bodies of ten men killed when two planes being used by a company from the Fox Studio crashed in midair in the vicinity of Point Vicente, nine miles west of San Pedro.

At the same time two newly found eyewitnesses told of the spectacular crash of the planes and their plunge into the ocean in flames.

The search for bodies was first taken up by Coast Guard Cutter 854 in command of Quartermaster W. E. Smith. Smith cruised the waters about where the planes are believed to have fallen until nightfall, when the hunt was resumed by Coast Guard Cutter 254 in command of Boatswain L. H. Williams. The cutter is armed with powerful searchlights.

Shortly before midnight Keith Weeks, executive manager at the Fox studios, who has been placed in charge of the search, accompanied by W. E. Deming and E. H. Hansen, went to the scene aboard a cutter. They expected to cruise over the spot until daylight and be prepared to start the intensive search early today.

One of the eyewitnesses of the crash is W. Carlson, chief officer on the passenger liner Ruth Alexander, which was off Point Vicente preparing to enter the harbor from Seattle.

"I noticed three planes in the air at about an altitude of 5000 feet," Carlson said when the liner docked. "Suddenly, like a bolt of lightning, there was a crash and the two planes burst into flames and fell like a blazing meteor into the water.

"There were several small craft in the water about the spot where the planes crashed and they made no apparent effort to rescue. That is the way it appeared to us from our distance so we proceeded to dock, believing the crash was a motion-picture stunt."

Carlson's statement concerning the crash was corroborated by a score or more of the passengers on the liner, who declined to give their names.

According to Boatswain Williams, he plans on cruising about the vicinity all night and until daybreak, when the search will be taken up by other cutters as well as by boats engaged by the studio.

GOLD ONCE HELD TITLE IN HANDBALL

Fox Director Killed in Crash Was Nationally Known as Athlete

Max Gold, assistant director at the Fox studio, killed in the airplane tragedy yesterday afternoon, was national handball champion in 1920 and 1921 while playing with the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He lost his championship the following year in Detroit. He also played on several championship basketball teams of the L.A.A.C. in the Southern California division of the A.A.U. He participated in several national basketball tournaments in Kansas City and in 1923 was ranked as the second best forward in the nation, captaining the second all-American team. He was forced to give up his athletic activities after that, having been connected with motion pictures since 1922.

Born in New York City, where his father was a real estate operator for many years, Gold was 32 years of age. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Rosalee Gold, and a small daughter Maxine; also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gold, three brothers and four sisters, all of this city. He came to Los Angeles in 1910 and attended Los Angeles High School, where he made a record as an all-around athlete.

Bay Extremely Deep at Scene of Plane Crash

Extremely deep water is the rule in the area where the plane crash occurred. At Point Dume, the northerly extremity of Santa Monica Bay, governmental charts show a depth of 233 fathoms to exist. At Point Vicente, the southerly tip of the bay, the depth is 120 fathoms, except in areas close to shore. At the halfway mark between Point Dume and Point Vicente a depth of 260 fathoms is recorded.

Inshore depth in the bay averages twenty-three fathoms. Even as close as a few yards from the two points depths of six to twenty-five fathoms obtain.

A fathom is approximately six feet.

Screen Tragedy Linked to Death of Loewenstein

Kenneth Hawks, director, and nine of his assistants who lost their lives yesterday were filming an episode for a motion picture which is to parallel the death on July 5, 1928, of Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, multimillionaire Belgian financier, according to information obtained from the Fox studio yesterday.

Capt. Loewenstein either fell or leaped from a passenger plane crossing to Belgium from Croydon, Eng. The mystery of his death never was solved.

The picture which Hawks was directing is "Such Men Are Dangerous." It concerns a multimillionaire who marries only to be left almost at the altar by his bride.

The multimillionaire in the picture disappears from his plane. He is not killed, however, in the story. Following his disappearance he goes to a London plastic surgeon and has his entire face changed. He begins the romance anew and wins back his bride. It was the airplane disappearance the company was filming at the time of the tragic accident.

According to the studio officials, Warner Baxter plays the lead in the picture, but neither he nor any of the other members of the cast was present at the time of the crash. The supporting players are Catherine Dale Owen, Claude Allister, Hedda Hopper, Albert Conti and Bela Lugosi. The picture is from a story by Elinor Glyn.

PILOT OF THIRD SHIP OVERCOME

Turner Ill in Bed as Result of Witnessing Crash

Roaring Plunge of Planes Into Sea Described

Parachute Jumper and Two Actors in His Craft

Two smoking, flaming airplanes plunging toward the sea—

Men struggling to get free, their bodies splashing into the ocean a few yards from the interlocked planes—

LIEUT-COL ROSCOE TURNER

Those were poignant memories last night of Lieut.-Col. Roscoe Turner, noted flyer and pilot of the third machine that figured in the fatal air crash crash off Palos Verdes coast late yesterday.

Turner was piloting an open plane carrying two actors and a parachute jumper which the cameramen aboard the other two planes were to photograph. When Turner returned to Clover Field after witnessing the crash of his companion planes, he was so overcome that he hurried to his home and later was reported ill in bed.

OTHERS BEHIND HIM

"We left Clover Field and were to meet near Pt. Firmin," Turner declared. "I had straightened out and was making a direct line for Pt. Firmin. The other ships were a little behind and above me.

"Suddenly one of my companions shouted, 'Look, they have hit each other!'

"I winged over and turned around to get a look at them. They were tangled together, both afire, and plunging toward the ocean. Just as they were about to hit, two or three of the men either jumped or were thrown out of the burning planes. I saw the bodies splash into the ocean a little distance away from the point where the planes hit the sea."

SPEED BOAT CHARTERED

Turner said it had been planned that the camera planes would follow his close together and be prepared to follow the parachute jumper when he made his leap. A speed boat had been chartered, also, to follow the planes and pick up the parachute jumper from the water.

"I did not witness the actual collision," said Turner. "I don't know how it could have happened unless the sun got in the eyes of the other two pilots. They were probably jockeying to get in position and one swung into the glare of the sun, hitting the other head on before he knew it."

Turner circled over the spot where the others had disappeared in the ocean, but realizing his helplessness, returned to Clover Field.

PLAY GOES ON IN FACE OF DEATH

Mary Astor Swept Out of Downtown Show Cast by Plane Crash That Killed Kenneth Hawks, Her Husband, But Understudy Calmly Takes Place

The shadow of the airplane accident which snuffed out the lives of Kenneth Hawks and nine others fell upon the Majestic Theater downtown last night, but the inexorable law of the stage that "the play must go on" held.

The play went on with Doris Lloyd substituting for Mary Astor, wife of Hawks and one of the leads in the play, called "Among the Married." The play is a comedy with many a laugh, but it was no fun for those who performed it last night.

Miss Astor had just concluded her matinee performance and was lying down for a moment on a couch that was part of the furniture of the play when news was brought of the accident. There was no doubt as to Hawks's fate in the message that was flashed to the theater, but the hops of the friends of Miss Astor at the theater was that somehow there might be a mistake. When the facts were verified Florence Eldridge, leading lady in the company, had the sad duty of breaking the news to the young actress.

"She bore up well," said Miss Eldridge, "and when I said at first that it was uncertain just what had happened, she said calmly, 'If he is dead—tell me!'"

Miss Astor appeared to be stunned. Although she cried softly, she did not collapse, and was taken immediately to Miss Eldridge's apartment.

Even as Miss Eldridge was relating to a reported back stage how the news was broken the hour for the evening performance was approaching and out on the stage Miss Lloyd in the scarlet coat, black hat and white gloves, which she wore when she was rushed to the theater from Hollywood, was rehearsing the part suddenly given to her, and was reading the lines and taking her cues.

Just before the curtain went up Edward Everett Horton, the leading man, stepped out, explained briefly what had accurred, explained the substitution, the audience understood, and the play went on.

Mary Astor

It was not easy for any of those in the company last night, but knowing that the audience understood they carried on.

FOX STUDIO HEAD GIVES STATEMENT

Wurtzel Voices Sorrow Over Tragedy and Tells Story of Crash

Sol M. Wurtzel, general superintendent of the Fox Film Corporation, last night issued the following statement:

"It is with the greatest sorrow and regret that we announce the loss of eight members of the studio staff of the Fox Film Corporation and two pilots in an accident occasioned by the collision of two airplanes off the coast of Palos Verdes this afternoon.

"In the filming of a scene for one of our pictures three planes took the air from Clover Field, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Two of the planes carried our people and the two pilots. The third plane carried a pilot and a parachute jumper.

"It was the purpose of the two planes carrying our cameras to maneuver above the third plane and, while in motion, photograph the leap of the parachute jumper.

"The planes reached a position three miles off Point Concepcion. The two camera planes were at an altitude of 3000 feet, with the third plane several hundred feet below. We had prepared fast boats to pick up the parachute jumper. The two upper planes, carrying the cameras, suddenly collided. Three of the men were thrown from the ships, either by the force of the collision or because of an explosion of the gasoline. Their bodies fell into the sea. The two planes burst into flames and sank upon striking the water.

"The boats immediately put out and recovered the three bodies that had dropped from the planes. The third plane, after circling, flew back to Clover Field. We have a force of men and boats searching for bodies through the night around the scene of the accident.

"The aviators employed to pilot the camera ships were competent and experienced men who had had long and varied experience in photographing motion-picture scenes.

"Kenneth Hawks, the director, was a wartime pilot and has flown occasionally since the war."

Orange County Sends Protest on Border Ban

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—Resolutions recently adopted by the Orange County Farm Bureau opposing passage by Congress of proposed legislation restricting immigration from Mexico were received today by members of the California delegation and by the House and Senate immigration committees.

The resolutions denied that Mexican laborers are causing a "social problem" in this country, declared that restriction will increase severely the farm problem in Orange county, and asked that action by Congress be withheld until an unprejudiced investigation can be made covering the labor needs of agricultural sections which are dependent upon Mexico for common labor:

She Often Lay Awake Whole Night, She Says

There is only one explanation of the marvelous powers of Sargon to win victory over ailments that have resisted other treatments; only one reason why it triumphs in countless instances where everything else has apparently failed. The answer can be given in one word and one alone—MERIT.

MRS. ELIZABETH MARVIN

That is why Sargon is perhaps the most-talked-of medicine in America today; that is why it is breaking sales records wherever placed on sale. Soundly based on some of the very latest findings in medical science, Sargon is today, according to the statements of those who have actually put it to the test, bringing health, strength and energy to thousands by some of the latest and most advanced methods known to modern therapy.

How Sargon succeeds is strikingly illustrated in the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Marvin, Hollenbeck Home, Los Angeles, who is a prominent member of the Rebekah Lodge and Eastern Star. She recently said:

"There's been many a time in the past two years that I've lain awake all night long, suffering with such terrible nervous headaches that I couldn't sleep to save my life! My troubles started with an attack of ptomaine poisoning that left my stomach in such an acid condition, nearly everything I ate put me in misery. My liver must have been badly disordered for I was always bothered with constipation and I had spells of biliousness that were simply awful. I was miserably run down and finally I just got so weak I could scarcely get around.

"Since I started taking Sargon I eat anything in the world I want and never have even a trace of stomach trouble, and it's almost like a miracle to me the way my strength and energy have returned. I never have those terrible headaches like I used to. I'm entirely free from nervousness and I sleep just fine.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills reconditioned my liver and overcame my constipation in the most pleasant, natural way, and I think they are simply wonderful.

"When I think of the many things that ailed me and realize that Sargon has made me well and strong I'm so grateful I just want to tell everybody; and I do wish that anyone who is interested would get in touch with me at any time."

The same splendid story of success is heard wherever Sargon is put to the test. The records of this new and totally different medicine are filled with numberless indorsements from men and women who have found in Sargon the medicine they should have had in the first place.

Meet the Sargon Man at the Owl Drug Store, 6th & Broadway. No obligations; just the opportunity to know what Sargon means to those who are ill and would be well again.

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

NEW SITE URGED FOR RIVER MEET

Young Suggests El Tovar in Place of Phoenix

Other Governors Expected to Assent Today

Date Definitely Agreed on for 20th Inst.

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young of California wired Secretary Wilbur today urging that the lower basin Boulder dam conference scheduled for the 20th inst. be held at El Tovar, Ariz., rather than Phoenix. Dr. Wilbur was agreeable to the suggestion and immediately communicated with the governors of Arizona and Nevada asking them to assent to the proposed change. He expects to hear from them tomorrow.

The Secretary announced that the 20th inst. definitely has been agreed upon as the date. He also announced that he has received assurance from all concerned that a report on the meeting will be placed in his hands by February 1, next. Dr. Wilbur has set that date as the deadline in his effort to bring about an agreement with Arizona whereby that State will drop its threatened court fight and permit the Colorado River project to proceed on friendly lines, under full seven-State concord.

Gov. Young's message was not given out but it is understood it advanced the argument that El Tovar would be more neutral ground and that a conference there would be less likely to fall under local Arizona prejudices and influences than one held at Phoenix. Moreover, the California executive is said to have pointed out that since El Tovar is in the Grand Canyon in the heart of the Boulder dam country, the tri-State commissioners might be able there to get a closer view of the problems they are to discuss and the controversies they are to attempt to iron out, than would be possible if they met at the Arizona capital.

The entire move for a final lower-basin conference has been based on the hope that here, at the eleventh hour, the river spokesmen for Arizona, California and Nevada may be induced to cast aside all their old prejudices and set ideas and take a fresh and broader view of the Boulder dam development.

PHILLIPS WANTS RIVER CONFERENCE AT PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Jan. 2. (AP)—Gov. Phillips today sent a telegram to Secretary Wilbur, requesting that the tri-State conference between California, Arizona and Nevada, be held in Phoenix as originally planned instead of Grand Canyon, as suggested.

Phillips's message was in reply to one received from Wilbur advising that the date for the conference, the 20th inst., was satisfactory but suggesting that the meeting-place be changed to the Grand Canyon.

Gov. Phillips in a telephone conversation with Gov. Young of California, was advised that the California executive had no objections to the conference being held in Phoenix provided members of his commission did not object. Young said that Mathews had asked that it be held at Grand Canyon. He said he would take the matter up with the California commission and advise later.

Wales Busy on Eve of Trip to South Africa

LONDON, Jan. 2. (AP)—The Prince of Wales spent a busy day paying farewell visits and supervising the arrangements for his departure tomorrow to resume the African trip interrupted by King George's illness more than a year ago. He returned to the capital after spending the Christmas holidays with King George and Queen Mary at Sandringham.

The Prince will travel to Southampton tomorrow on the regular mail train and embark on the liner Kenilworth Castle in the afternoon.

During the voyage to Cape Town, South Africa, he will mingle freely with the first-class passengers and take his meals in the dining saloon.

Firebug Tries to Burn Third Oakland School

OAKLAND, Jan. 2. (AP)—The pyromaniac whom authorities believe responsible for two school fires here last night also attempted to destroy a third school, Fire Chief William Lutkey disclosed today.

Lutkey said a gasoline bomb was found burned out about ten feet from a wall of the Highland school. He believes it was hurled after the incendiarist had destroyed the historic Fremont High School, causing a loss estimated by H. D. Blasefield, principal, at $830,000, and hurled a gasoline bomb that set fire to the Lockwood Junior High School. The Lockwood blaze caused only slight damage.

Moody Delays Action Against Attorney Valls

AUSTIN (Tex.) Jan. 2. (AP)—Gov. Moody will not take any action on the petition of Laredo business interests to remove Dist.-Atty. John Valls from office until Atty.-Gen. Bobbitt can make an investigation of charges brought against Valls, he announced today.

The Mexican government closed the consulate at Laredo when Valls threatened to arrest former President Calles on a charge that he conspired in the killing of two Mexican army officers at Laredo in 1922.

SITES SELECTED FOR NEW PRISON

Tract for Insane Hospital Included in Choices

Technical Committee Trims Twenty-seven to Four

All Locations in Three of Southland's Counties

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—Four sites located in Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties have been recommended by a technical committee, headed by State Architect McDougall, for the intermediate State prison and a new State hospital for the insane in Southern California, State Director of Finance Heron announced today.

This technical committee spent three weeks investigating twenty-seven sites that had been selected by the joint legislative committee and the commissions named by Gov. Young, out of 130 sites originally submitted.

In the consideration of the twenty-seven sites, which are located in Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Ventura, San Diego and Riverside counties, only those close to transportation facilities were given attention. Availability of water, the fertility of the soil and sewage disposal were the principal points considered in reducing the number to four.

Heron said the exact location of the four sites recommended will not be divulged until a decision on the two finally to be selected is reached, so as not to jump up their values. Saturday morning Heron will confer in Los Angeles with the members of the joint legislative committee to plan further inspection of the four sites. In addition to McDougall, the committee was composed of W. S. Kingsbury, chief of the division of lands; P. T. Poage, assistant State Architect, and W. H. Rockingham, engineer of the division of architecture. The 1929 Legislature appropriated $375,000 for the site and initial buildings for the intermediate prison and $1,000,000 for the hospital site and buildings.

SPANISH MUSSOLINI PLANS ABDICATION

Primo de Rivera

DICTATORSHIP'S END PROPOSED

De Rivera Makes Suggestion to King of Spain

Parliamentary Government's Return Included in Plan

Premier Denies Existence of Any Crisis

MADRID, Jan. 2. (AP)—Gen. Primo De Rivera, the Spanish Premier, in what many believe is part of his political "last will and testament," today laid before the country a plan providing for a return to constitutional guarantees and parliamentary government by next September. That would be just seven years after the suspension of parliamentary government following upon the bloodless coup by which Primo De Rivera seized the reins.

At the same time the Premier denied that any immediate governmental changes are contemplated or that a crisis exists in his Cabinet. He said King Alfonso approved the plan today after studying it since its submission to the monarch on Tuesday.

PREMIER'S UNION RULES

The plan calls for reorganization of "the patriotic union." This is the political organization which was called into being at the behest of Primo De Rivera early in his dictatorship. It has been carefully nurtured by him ever since and its various committees have been virtually carrying on municipal and other local administrations.

In the attempt to get new blood into the administration of the party elections for provincial delegates to its central body will be held in February. If these turn out in a manner approved by the dictatorship the next step will be popular elections for municipal councils and provincial legislatures, but only about one-fourth of the present membership of these latter bodies is to be changed.

ELECTIONS TO DECIDE

The ultimate fate of the present National Assembly is undecided. It has a legal life until September 12, 1930. Whether it is to continue in its present capacity of being purely advisory or whether it is to be given at least a modicum of true parliamentary powers will not be determined until after the elections in the provinces and cities have shown the trend of popular choice for public officials.

Meanwhile the National Assembly is to discuss a proposed new constitution. This debate is likely to continue well into the summer.

The censorship prevented a full discussion of the much-heralded "political plan" and it was received with mixed feelings in authoritative quarters.

PARIS HOUSEMAIDS REVOLT

Union Seeks Fixed Wage With Freedom from Drudgery and Some Time Off

PARIS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Parisian "femmes de menage"—or, in English, chambermaids—are in revolt. Repairing yesterday by the hundreds from apartments, great and small, to the left bank of the Seine, they drew up a bill of rights for presentation to the households they serve.

"We, the Union of the Femme de Menage of Paris, have the honor to announce to you our ultimate and unalterable decisions taken in general assembly.

"From now on we must have a fixed wage, not depending on the whim and humor of our employers. The tip, being a varying amount depending on change, should be fixed.

REFUSE TO CLIMB

"From the 1st inst. we refuse to polish as well as to climb up ladders for the pupose of shining windowpanes and keeping them in condition

"We further ask a respite for fifteen minutes each morning, no deduction to be made from wages in consequence.

ASK EXTRA PAY

"We ask for double pay Sundays and holidays and not to have pay arbitrarily deducted for uniforms.

"After special dinners and receptions we ask for a supplement for polishing the glasses and shining the silver."

The ultimatum is signed by three comrades, leaders of the union, Julie, Marie and Jeanne.

The regular wage of these maids of all work in Paris is $12 to $16 a month. In the provincial towns it is $10 a month; in the country less.

FOREST SAFETY NEEDS LISTED

Inadequate Fire Protection Cited by District Chief

Speedy Action to Improve Safeguards Advocated

Data Submitted in Report to Washington Officials

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Western forests, disastrously burned in the summer of 1929, need 31,696 more miles of trails, 12,600 more miles of telephone system, 785 more lookout towers and 1569 more men to bring them up to an adequate standard of safety.

These figures were given today in a report to the Forest Service by District Forester Kelley, in charge of the northern Rocky Mountain district, who has just completed an investigation of the four great fire districts of the West, the northern Rocky Mountain, the Pacific Northwest, the California and the intermountain.

In urging the speedy adoption of better forest protection, Kelley said it will take nine and one-half years at the present rate of accomplishment to complete the telephone system alone. He said that one guard now attempts to protect 28,000 acres, or forty-four square miles, and that this area should be cut down to 10,000 acres and the main force increased from 2223 regular guards in the fire season to 3792.

BURGLAR STUCK IN CHIMNEY

Firemen Pull Former Sailor Out of Trap Just Above Fireplace

CHADDS FORD (Pa.) Jan. 2. (AP)—A burglar who tried to enter the home of John D. Schiedt here by way of a chimney got stuck today and was forced to call upon the occupants of the house for help. He was rescued by firemen and then arrested.

The prisoner gave his name as Michael Toth, 27 years of age, of Philadelphia. He said he learned to climb when he was a sailor and thought 'chimneys would be easy." Just above a fireplace in the living-room he found himself trapped.

SHIPS CRASH AT HAVANA

HAVANA, Jan. 2. (AP)—The liners Statendam of the Holland-American Line and Franconia of the Cunard Line were slightly damaged here last night when the Statendam swung on her bow moorings while docking and crashed into the Cunarder.

CHINESE DECREE DECLARED MILD

Extraterritoriality Edict Interpreted by Stimson

Secretary Asserts Views in Accord With America's

Only Gradual Abolition of Foreign Rights Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that a study of the recent Chinese proclamation on extraterritoriality showed that government to be in accord with the American position on abolition of these rights.

Reports from China that the action of the Nanking government was taken to end all extraterritorial rights on the 1st inst., Mr. Stimson said, are not borne out by the text of proclamation, which he interpreted to mean that the Chinese wished the 1st inst. to be the starting point for gradual elimination of the extraterritorial rights of the foreign powers.

This, he said, is exactly in keeping with the conversations which have been conducted in Washington between the State Department and Minister of China.

These conversations will continue while Mr. Stimson is in London attending the naval conference.

ALCOHOL LEAKS TO BE PLUGGED

New Administration Plans Reported in Dry Row

Clash Leaders Center Their Attention on Diversion

Criticism Again Answered by Mitchell and Doran

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—New plans by the administration to check leaks of industrial alcohol into bootleg channels are rumored tonight, as the prohibition-enforcement controversy continues to dominate the interest of Washington.

Apparently gratified by the assurance of Senator Jones of Washington that the Hoover law enforcement commission will not go into the wisdom or unwisdom of the Eighteenth Amendment, the clashing dry leaders centered their attention on the industrial-alcohol situation. They agree that this is prohibition's most difficult problem.

The rumor also circulated today that the law-enforcement commission has been blocked so far in efforts to investigate that problem, and that the commission is divided over the question of open or closed hearings on this subject.

CRITICS ANSWERED

Once more Atty.-Gen. Mitchell and Prohibition Director Doran answered their critics in the Senate. Doran issued a statement saying the leaks of industrial alcohol have been checked and that corn sugar now constitutes the main source of supply to bootleggers. Senator Borah of Idaho stood by his contention that the administration of the industrial alcohol-permit system constitutes a "scandal."

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell listed the turnover in district attorneys since the Hoover administration began and said he has received no information from Senator Borah about the latter's complaint that "practically open saloons are running" in the jurisdiction of many district attorneys. This report reached the Idaho Senator and he is understood to have replied that the Attorney-General ought to be able to find the evidence himself.

TURNOVER CITED

Attention was called by Mitchell that since March 4, one District Attorney has been removed from office, five have resigned before the expiration of their terms due to unsatisfactory conditions in their offices and two have completed their terms and have not been reappointed. He also said that the terms of thirteen other district attorneys will expire before February 1, next.

Returning to Washington during the dispute, Senator Fess of Ohio, another Republican dry, proposed that Senator Borah, the chief critic of the Hoover administration enforcement policy, be named as chairman of the proposed joint Congressional committee to study reorganization of the prohibition machinery.

Just what is under contemplation for tightening up the industrial alcohol-permit system has not been revealed but, despite the optimism of Doran over this situation, those close to the administration have indicated they are giving the subject serious consideration.

Citing the increased use of corn sugar for the manufacture of liquor, Mr. Doran read statistics of the Department of Commerce showing that production of corn sugar has increased from 152,000,000 pounds in 1921 to 968,000,000 pounds during the last fiscal year.

KILLINGS ROIL BOSTON CROWD

290 before it opened fire with a machine gun. Crooker said his investigation showed the men were shot down from a point blank range of fifteen feet as their craft, the Black Duck, was proceeding at four miles an hour in a dense fog and headed directly toward the 290. The 290, he said, instead of being in pursuit, was tied, by the stern, to Dumpling Rock buoy at the time.

Representative Douglass said the rum runners were "outrageously, feloniously murdered," and promised to forward an investigation at Washington.

John F. Fitzgerald, former Mayor of Boston, after attacking the Newport slayings, announced his intention of being a Democratic candidate for Governor next year, with repeal of the State's enforcement act as a platform plank.

SEVEN WITNESSES HEARD AT INQUEST INTO DEATHS

NEWPORT (R. I.) Jan. 2. (AP)—Seven witnesses were heard today at the State's inquest into the deaths of three rum runners on the motor boat Black Duck off here Sunday. Federal officers were barred from the hearing by Atty.-Gen. Heltzen who said he did not consider they had a right to be present to get information that could be used for a defense if an indictment should be brought against the crew of the Coast Guard boat 290 who shot the rum runners.

CAPITOL'S WETS LAMENTED

Senator Jones of "Five-and-Ten" Dry-Law Fame Also Predicts Less Drinking in Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Lamenting the drinking of liquor by "some Senators and some Representatives," Senator Jones of Washington tonight contributed his latest views on prohibition to the furious discussion of the enforcement situation which has excited the capital recently.

"He practices what he preaches," was the way the Washington Senator described President Hoover, in appealing over the radio for the public to be patient and help. His address, broadcast in the Evening Star Forum, took notice of arguments advanced against the dry laws and gave his answers to them.

LESS DRINKING NOW

"In my judgment," he said, "a far fewer number of Senators and Representatives drink now than did twenty and thirty years ago. I have seen far fewer Senators under the influence of liquor during the last ten years than I did during the preceding ten years. They will get fewer and fewer as the years go by."

Senator Jones revealed that he had received many letters recently asking if Congressmen were excused from the laws to enforce prohibition.

"Of course not," he answered tonight.

Alluding to reports that "many Congressmen vote 'dry' while they drink liquor," Jones declares that is not a valid argument against prohibition.

HOOVER PRAISED

"I am sorry that it may be so," he continued, "but this just emphasizes the strength of the sentiment of the people back home. Instead of showing a weakness in prohibition sentiment, it demonstrates its strength. Representatives are, primarily, to represent the majority views of their constituents and that is what many of them do regardless of their personal views."

Senator Jones remarked that he did not know the attitude of President Hoover toward prohibition before it became a law. With that, he praised the President at length and said "his personal example should be followed by every good citizen in his home, at social gatherings and in business affairs."

"Americans pride themselves on being good sports," he said. "This is the time to show it. The will of the majority has been expressed in no uncertain way. It should be obeyed and observed until it is changed in the way prescribed by our fundamental law."

The church was crowded with those who paid their last respects to the city's greatest benefactor. Following the church service the body was taken to Spring Grove Cemetery for burial in the presence of only members of the family and a few friends.

Lynchings Show Decline in South

ATLANTA, Jan. 2. (AP)—The commission on interracial co-operation in a statement today cited "a decrease during the last ten years of 88 per cent in the annual lynching record" as "notable evidence of improving interracial conditions in the South."

"The steady decline in the number of lynchings from eighty-three in 1919 to eleven in 1928 and ten in the year just ended is undoubtedly due," the statement said, "to a rapid growth of public sentiment in behalf of justice and law."

DINNER HONORS BRITISH ENVOY

Mrs. Gann Will Preside at Formal Affair

Seventy Guests to Attend Curtis's Function

Event Planned as Farewell for Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann will preside with her brother, Vice-President Curtis, at a formal dinner party on Saturday for about seventy high ranking American and foreign officials.

This function, the first affair of the kind to be given by them since she assumed the social duties of official Vice-Presidential hostess last winter, will be a farewell to Sir Esme Howard, the retiring British Ambassador.

Vice-President Curtis said today that he and Mr. and Mrs. Gann are giving the affair to return the courtesy of Sir Esme.

"He has been fine to me and Mrs. Gann," said Vice-President Curtis.

It was Sir Esme Howard who, at the height of the controversy over Mrs. Gann's social rank last winter, sent a communication to the Diplomatic Corps, declaring in effect that the Vice-President's sister was recognized as entitled to the same honor she would have as the Vice-President's wife.

SCIENCE PRIZE AWARDED

Prof. Dempster Honored for Demonstrating Theory That Deflected Atoms Act Like Light Waves

CHICAGO, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—For demonstrating that atoms act like waves of light and thus strengthening the experimental proof of the new kind of physics known as wave mechanics, Prof. A. J. Dempster of the University of Chicago was awarded the $1000 prize of the American Association for the Advancement of Science for a noteworthy contribution to science presented during the annual science meeting which ended at Des Moines today.

Prof. Dempster's researches are an extension of the new physical concepts which last fall won for Prince De Broglie, eminent French scientist, the Nobel Prize in Physics.

REVOLUTIONARY IDEA

It once was believed that matter and radiation, such as light, had different kinds of properties, but De Broglie's wave mechanics predicated that small particles of matter should behave like waves of light in many respects. This revolutionary idea first was given experimental support by Dr. C. J. Davisson and H. A. Germer, New York physicists, about two years ago, when they showed that electrons, particles of electricity and the most minute matter are deflected from a crystal of nickel as though they were waves instead of particles. Dr. Davisson was honored with a National Academy of Science gold medal for his research.

Now Prof. Dempster in his prize paper before the American Physical Society showed that atoms, larger particles of matter than electrons, also act like waves when they are deflected from a crystal in much the same way that sunlight is reflected from a finely ruled diffraction grating to make a glorious rainbow. A firmer foundation is provided for the new ideas of the constitution of matter.

ACT LIKE WAVES

A stream of canal rays, charged hearts or nuclei of hydrogen atoms, also called protons, speeding 1500 miles a second at a potential of 30,000 volts were used by Prof. Dempster in his experiments. These were projected against a crystal of calcite with the experimental result that the atomic hearts were shown to act like waves instead of particles of matter.

Since the hydrogen atom's heart is 2000 times as massive as the electron and since the larger the particle of matter the less it acts like a wave, Prof. Dempster's achievement is hailed as a considerable advance.

Proof of the wave likeness of atoms was presented by an unusual coincidence on the same program of the physicists by a German, Prof. Otto Stern of Hamburg. He obtained results like those of Prof. Dempster through the use of another method. Slower hydrogen particles were used and the crystal used was lithium fluoride. Two University of Iowa physicists, Drs. Harold A. Zahl and A. Ellett, reported similar reflections of zinc and cadmium atoms from crystals that lend further support to wave mechanics.

STATE PARK FUNDS WILL BE DIVIDED

Commission Adopts Policy of Spending Half in North and Half in South

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—The State Park Commission has adopted the policy of spending the $6,000,000 in bond-issue funds for the purchase of lands for State parks, one-half in the north and one-half in south, according to a report filed today with Gov. Young.

All money spent by the State in the acquisition of lands for park and recreational purposes must be matched, dollar for dollar, by local or other interests. Therefore, said Fred G. Stevenot, State director of natural resources, the park commission cannot move any faster than the local interests.

During the year gifts of money and lands for park development amounted to $350,000.

Riverside county has pledged $40,000 for the San Jacinto Mountain State park area. The State, says the report, is moving toward the purchase of the Silver Strand beach property in San Diego Bay.

Fumes in Tank of Ship Cause Two to Perish

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—Two men were asphyxiated by carbon monoxide fumes when they entered a salt water ballast tank of the Panama Pacific liner California in dry dock at Hunters Point today, and two others were gassed slightly in their efforts to rescue their ill-fated companions. One of the two, who died, Theodore Wall, junior engineering officer of the ship, gave his life in a vain attempt to save that of Carl A. Olsen, pipe fitter employed by the Union Iron Works, whose home was in this city.

Olsen had entered the tank to repair a pipe. It was said the tank had not been opened for several months and Olsen did not wait to have the air in the chamber tested.

Smith, Democratic Presidential nominee.

Josiah William Bailey, Raleigh attorney and long a leader in the Democratic party in this State, announced today he will be a candidate against Senator Simmons.

Bailey is a Baptist and a dry.

HAGUE PARLEY GROUP ARRIVES

Reparations Delegates Rally for Second Conference

Possibility of Necessity for Third Meeting Set Forth

Proposed Trust Agreement May be Stumbling Block

THE HAGUE, Jan. 2. (AP)—The advance guard of the second conference on the Young plan for reparations scarcely had arrived here today when talk began of the necessity of a possible third meeting to stabilize the peace of Europe.

The normal work ahead of this second conference has been outlined definitely, but the proposed trust agreement between the central banks of the creditor powers and the new Bank for International Settlements, which is to handle collections and distributions under the Young plan, seems destined to meet with some critical opposition.

Another question that may prove bothersome embraces the reparations payable by Hungary, Bulgaria and Austria to the "succession states"—Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Greece. A subcommittee appointed by the first Hague conference has been unable to reach a unanimous agreement regarding the reparations obligations of Bulgaria and Hungary.

Aside from these subjects the new conference is to adopt statutes for the Bank of International Settlements and consider reports from committees appointed last August to find methods for liquidating all the hangovers of the past between Germany and the creditor nations.

NEW YEAR'S BOMB BLAST BABY DIES

Death in Hospital Puts Toll of Outrage to Two; Officers Examine Clew

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—A second death resulted tonight from the New Year's Day bombing outrage at the home of John S. Hall in Seat Pleasant, Md. His infant son, Samuel Hall, died in a Washington hospital from injuries received in the explosion. Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, 18-year-old bride, was killed when the bomb exploded.

Scarred nails gathered at the scene of the explosion sent authorities to a farm near Marlboro today in an effort to establish the identity of the sender of the bomb.

Some of the nails concealed with the explosive under the Christmas wrappings of the package are said to have been traced to a farm where construction was under way, and authorities are understood to have placed two suspects under surveillance.

County officials said, however, they do not expect to make any arrest soon. The nails, a small coiled spring, a piece of copper wire and bits of brown paper are the only shreds of evidence.

Questioning of the neighbors, relatives and friends of Mrs. Brady failed to develop any positive avenue on which authorities could hope to move upon the sender of the bomb.

Meanwhile surgeons sought to save the life of Dorothy Hall, 4½ years of age, whose face was torn by the exploding of the supposed Christmas present as it was opened by Mrs. Brady. Mrs. Nora Hall, their mother, was seriously hurt and two of her other children, Leslie, 16, and Thomas, 8, had their hands mangled.

Plane's Wreck Will Not Delay Eielson Search

FAIRBANKS (Alaska) Jan. 2. (AP) Destruction in a forced landing today of one of the three Fairchild cabin planes brought here from Seattle to engage in the search for Pilot Carl Ben Eielson and Mechanic Earl Borland, missing since November 9, last, will not delay the expedition, Maj. H. C. Deckard, who is in charge of relief work for the aviation corporation, announced. Deckard said the two remaining planes will leave for Nome tomorrow morning, weather permitting.

One of the planes was wrecked today when Pilot Gifford Swartman, who had taken off after Capt. Pat Reid, found that he could not climb over distant trees and was forced to bring his plane down in the underbrush on rough ground. He and Mechanic Sam Macauley, who accompanied him, were badly shaken up but escaped injury.

Supreme Court Gets Culver City Fight for Recall

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2. (AP)—A petition for a writ of mandamus requiring the City Clerk of Culver City to certify as sufficient a petition demanding that an election be held for the recall of Culver City's five Councilmen was filed here today with the State Supreme Court. The petition was filed by F. J. Lavan, representing Thomas H. Whitfield of Culver City.

The petition charges that the City Council arbitrarily held the petition for re-election insufficient.

The recall petition accuses the Councilmen with incompetency and with flagrant waste of public money. The members are Reve E. Houck, Earl E. Bohler, Dave E. Clark, Dan F. Combs, and Harvey W. Kinkead.

Is she underweight… lacking in vitality?

Bottled Sunshine, then!

YOUR child's weight and height are, of course, an index to his health. Usually underweight means a lack of vitality and endurance.

For under par children physicians are advising a health-builder long known for its power to renew vitality and to increase general resistance to certain infections.

Authorities find that Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—helps to bring the underweight child up to normal weight. It gives him new vitality; puts the ruddy color of health into his cheeks.

Bottled Sunshine does this because it is so rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" of which children get so little in these modern days of indoor living, and Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and nutrition and increases resistance to many infections.

When they prescribe cod-liver oil, thousands of physicians specify "Squibb's," because it is vitamin-tested and guaranteed as to its content of the health-protecting Vitamins A and D.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil to help your child grow and gain weight as he should. Squibb has a new Mint-flavored Cod-liver Oil which will appeal to the older children especially. You can get it, as well as Squibb's Plain Cod-Liver Oil, at all good drug stores.

GUNMEN SHOOT CRIME FIGHTER

Head of Detroit Bomb Squad Seriously Wounded

Schoolgirl Struck by Stray Bullets May Die

Inspector's Car Riddled on Way to Work

DETROIT, Jan. 2. (AP)—Three men in a black sedan today shot and seriously wounded Inspector Henry J. Garvin, head of the crime and bomb squad, and probably fatally wounded an 11-year-old schoolgirl who was in the path of their bullets.

Inspector Garvin, for two years identified as the moving spirit in the city's battle against racketeers, extortioners and liquor interests, was caught by a veritable broadside of revolver bullets and shotgun slugs as he was driving to work.

The occupants of the black sedan, believed to have waited outside Inspector Garvin's house most of the night, drove up behind the officer's car, forced him to the curb and when they came alongside opened fire.

The schoolgirl, Lois Bartlett, daughter of Murray Bartlett, an automobile factory worker, was found lying in the yard of a house across the sidewalk. She had been struck in the head and arm by three bullets. The girl had been walking along the sidewalk to school, a short distance away.

Inspector Garvin is known to have been marked to "go on the spot," for at least two months, police said today.

BYRD PRAISES TRAIL HITTERS

Antarctic Geological Work Brings Commendation

Gould's Report of Finds Stirs More Enthusiasm

Dog Team Trip of 1200 Miles to End This Month

BY REAR-ADMIRAL R. E. BYRD

[Copyright, 1930, by Los Angeles Times, New York Times Company and St. Louis Post Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.]

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Jan. 1. (By wireless)—We have a report from the geological party so interesting that I am going to send it northward just as it came from Dr. Gould, (Lawrence M. Gould, leader of the party.)

They have just completed a trip of 110 miles to the eastward of their present base so that when they reach here the latter part of this month they will have traveled by dog team about 1200 miles since leaving Little America.

Not one of the party ever before explored with teams, but now every member of this party and the supporting party we consider veteran trail hitters. The gruelling training came last summer when the dog team men, most of whom never before had driven a team, carried hundreds of tons of material over eight miles of the treacherous bay ice. Even now it does not seem possible, but here is Little America to prove it.

BEAT THEIR PROMISE

Now the trail hitters have done more than they set out to do. The reason is easy to find. It is the spirit they put into their task. Some of them began to prepare for the job more than two years ago when three young men of Boston, three college friends, went on their own initiative to the Walden farm in New Hampshire to learn about dogs to qualify themselves to help me. For months they lived in a little shack and cooked their own meals. Now these three musketeers, Norman Vaughan, Eddie Goodale and Fred Crockett, are out there in the mountains doing their stuff with Larry Gould, Mike Thorne and Jack O'Brien.

For eight months these fellows and the supporting party practiced skiing and planned and labored in preparation for the trip.

Now they have acquitted themselves brilliantly on the trail and have done even more than I asked or hoped.

And so in this part of our work as in the case with the many other branches of the expedition, my job has been made easy by the spirit of my men.

DR. GOULD'S MESSAGE

This spirit is seen in the radio I have received from the leader of the geological party, likeable, brilliant, able Larry Gould, and I leave it to him to tell of the very important geological discovery he has made:

"Made trip to Mt. Betty yesterday and left cache of discarded equipment in good repair near Amundsen's cache. Weather permitting we start northward for Little America tonight and shall be traveling at night from now on.

"We are a disreputable looking outfit now for no one has washed or shaved since we left Little America. Norman looks like an Italian bandit, Eddie like a Yankee farmer from far back in the woods, Mike a recent escape from Sing Sing; Obie, a thug from any place; Freddie, a Boy Scout trying to grow a beard, and I am said to resemble the dog, Rags. Don't think you would be proud to own us as members of the expedition but we are bringing back records which I hope you will be proud of.

"Obie, Mike and I have roughly charted 150 miles of Queen Maud range. We have demonstrated that there is no Carmen Land, but that the range extends eastward beyond 140th meridian and therefore that the possibility of Ross and Weddell seas being connected demands attention again.

HIS ANTARCTIC THRILL

"I have been able to make many glaciological studies, and my geological studies will demonstrate that the great mountain ranges which take their rise far away on western side of Ross Sea are continued as a major feature of landscape in fairly unbroken fashion certainly as far as 140th meridian.

"Capping Mt. Nansen I did find sandstone with a layer of highly carbonaceous material. This I am sure is beacon sandstone. Had to climb up 6000 feet, in part over steep, badly crevassed glacier to reach those cap rocks on Nansen.

"No symphonies I have ever heard, no work of art before which I have stood in awe, ever gave me quite the thrill that I had when I reached out, after this strenuous climb and picked up rock to find it sandstone. Here was what I had come all the way to Antarctic to find.

"Eddie, Mike and Freddie who were with me will tell you that I even forgot to cuss.

"Everyone is happy, for we are heading back to you with the feeling that we have done all we set out to do and perhaps a little more. In a splendor and beauty beyond realm of science the mountains and glaciers have exceeded our highest hopes and we are all loath to leave them and the spell they have cast over us."

Morgan Gives Private Yacht to Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—J. Pierpont Morgan has presented his palatial private yacht, the Corsair, to the government for the use of the Coast and Geodetic Survey in making studies of the continental shelf extending beyond the Atlantic and Gulf Coast lines.

The name of the craft will be changed to the Oceanographer.

Mr. Morgan tendered the vessel to the government during the war, when it was used as a naval auxiliary, and it reverted to his possession at the close of hostilities. The only stipulation attached to the present gift is that it shall never be disposed of by the government except by scrapping.

1930 WILL REWARD CAREFUL SAVERS

. . . here is what LOS ANGELES thinks of Pacific States Savings

The preference of Los Angeles savers for Pacific States Savings is strikingly demonstrated by these facts compiled from the latest available figures (the Building and Loan Commissioner's Call Statement of Sept. 30, 1929).

During the first nine months of 1929, Pacific States Savings gained far more savings in Los Angeles than any other building and loan association in this city.

Its gain in savings in Los Angeles alone was $3,824,869 or approximately as much as the combined gain of the second and third building and loan association.

Its gain in savings in Los Angeles was over 63% of the combined gain of 8 other of this city's largest and most representative building and loan associations.

Its gain in savings in Southern California was over 96% of the combined gain of 10 other of the largest and most representative Southern California associations.

Its gain in savings in the State as a whole was over 75.9% of the combined gain of 22 other of the largest and most representative California associations.

And in the last three months, despite conditions in the stock market, which might well have slowed up its growth, Pacific States Savings has continued to make marked increases in savings totals and in the number of savers it serves.

These gains are attributable to the ever increasing acceptance of Pacific States Savings by conservative minded savers—and are entirely apart from any gain in savings secured through the acquisition of other building and loan associations.

This acceptance has been earned by Pacific States Savings' flawless record of service extending over 41 years—and still more by the outstanding strength, liquidity and conservatism of its financial structure.

We do not suggest that you place your funds in Pacific States Savings because of its popularity. We do suggest that you analyze the simple facts that have caused its popularity with so many thousands of prudent people. They are contained in the booklet, "Our 42nd Year"—and in our Statement of Condition as of December 31.

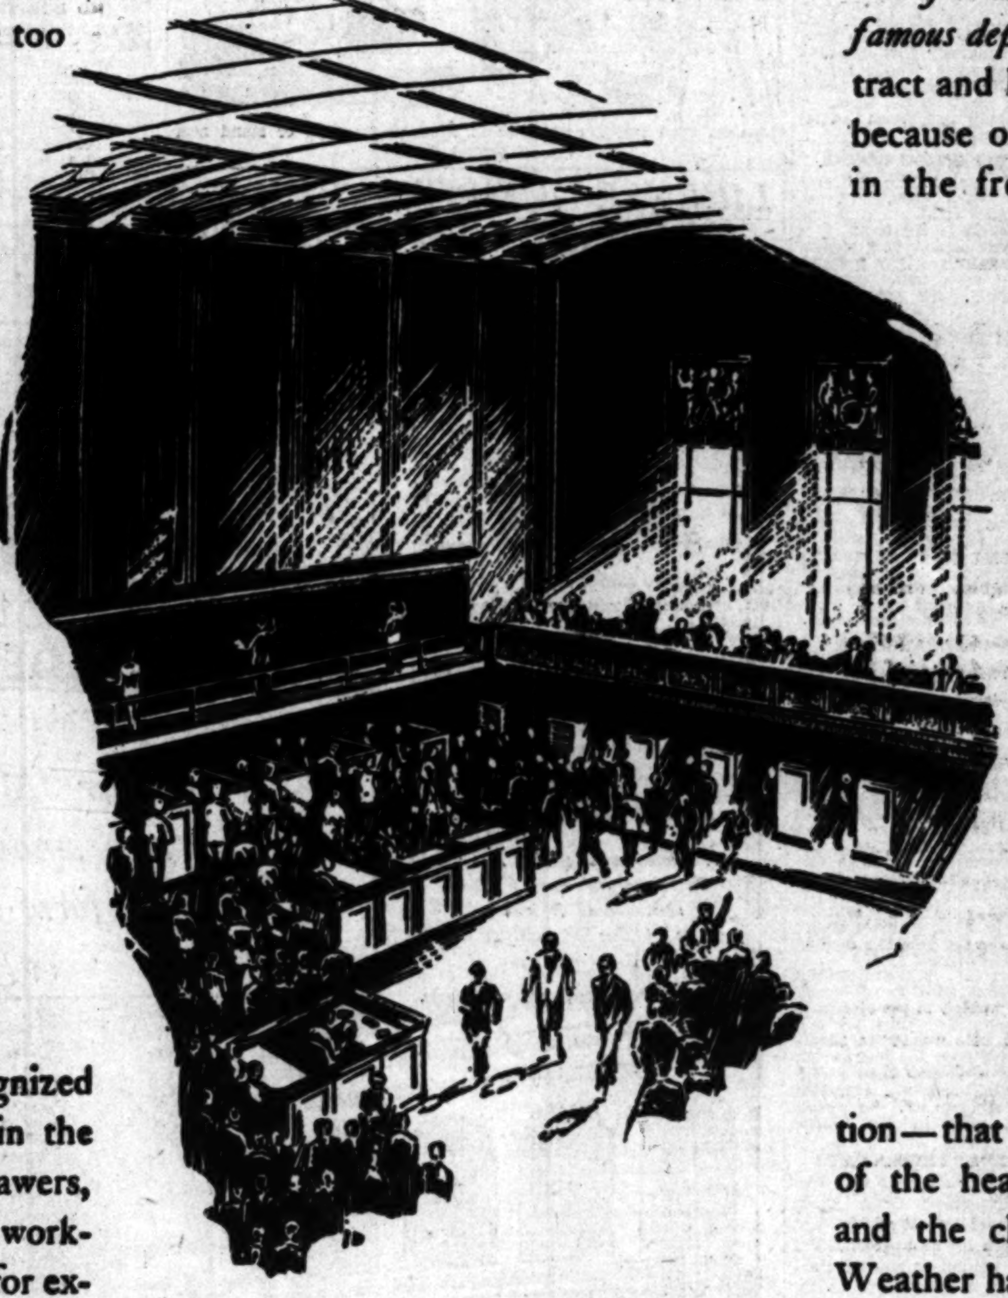
San Francisco's New Stock Exchange Now Manufactures its own Weather

How long will it be before all other great buildings are forced to do this same thing?



HEAT, fog, humidity-laden air outdoors . . . but it will never be too hot on the trading floor, or in any part of the building of the new Stock Exchange. The air will always be clean and pure, freed from that excess humidity which is the main cause of summer suffering. In winter it will be warm in this great building, and the proper amount of humidity will be added to the cleansed air—for too-dry air indoors in winter causes the majority of colds and bronchial troubles.

People everywhere will soon refuse to submit to the discomfort of open windows that admit noise and dust when Manufactured Weather can give them far better weather indoors than exists outdoors.

More and more it is being recognized that buildings with window-poles in the corners, dust-cloths in the desk drawers, nerve-racking noises in the ears of workers, drafty spots near the windows for executives and stuffy inner spaces for clerks are out-of-date. Those buildings which do not use Manufactured Weather—which are not cooled in summer and heated in winter with properly conditioned air—are rapidly becoming obsolete.

Congress has it—Senators and Representatives at Washington meet in the Capitol Halls, where, winter and summer, the air is warmed or cooled, humidified or dehumidified as the season demands, and is always fresh and literally washed clean.

Macy's in New York and a dozen other famous department stores have it—they attract and hold shoppers by the thousands because of their relief and contentment in the fresh, pleasant Manufactured Weather of the store—independent of outdoor heat or cold or noises or dust.

Hundreds of factories have it—they use windows only for light. Sheer manufacturing economy has dictated that indoor air conditions must be constant and controllable.

Office buildings, banks, hotels and hundreds of movie theatres have it.

Visit a theatre, a store, a factory or a building where it is already in operation.

Until you have done this, any estimate—any conception—that you may have will fall short of the healthful comfort, the serenity, and the cleanliness that Manufactured Weather has to offer.

There is only one Manufactured Weather—the Carrier name for scientific Air Conditioning—developed by Willis H. Carrier and his associates—and it makes

"Every day a good day" indoors.

SOVIET PLEDGE QUICKLY BROKEN

Red Propagandists Ignore Promise to Behave

Message Sent British Paper Insulting Government

Conservatives to Ask Action by Foreign Office

LONDON, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—The British Foreign Office already is confronted with an apparent breach of the pledge which the soviet government gave only two weeks ago to refrain from propaganda and to restrain all persons and organizations under their direct or indirect control "from any act, overt or covert, liable in any way whatsoever to endanger the tranquillity or prosperity of any part of the British Empire."

The offender is the Third Internationale, which, according to British views, certainly is under the control of the soviet government, and the offense is the sending of a message through a Communist daily paper which began publication here yesterday.

HIGH-FLOWN LANGUAGE

The message was couched in the usual high-flown jargon affected by that organization and described the publication as a new and powerful weapon "against" the labor government for its support of antisoviet intrigues, its colonial brutalities and its preparations for another "imperial war." The paper must, the message continues, "expose the reactionary schemes of the trade union bureaucracy and the deception of the Laborites and the pseudo-lefts."

While these impolite references to a government which has just renewed relations with Russia might well be considered as contrary to the antipropaganda protocol, they hardly can be supposed to endanger the British empire and it may be that Foreign Secretary Henderson will choose to ignore them. In any case, he and Prime Minister MacDonald are on a holiday at present and no official steps will be taken in their absence. It is understood, however, that both ministers have been informed of the situation.

TIMES STATES VIEWS

Already there are indications that the Conservatives will bombard the government in regard to the question as soon as the House of Commons reassembles, contending that their refusal to take seriously soviet pledges has been amply justified and demanding that Moscow immediately be brought to account.

Thus the London Times, which represents the views of the Conservative front bench, stated editorially today: "Henderson has asserted as a fact that the soviet government had undertaken by its pledge to restrain the cominterns (Third Internationale) from propaganda. It is now his turn to act and with a directness that will prevent all possibility of a misunderstanding in Moscow."

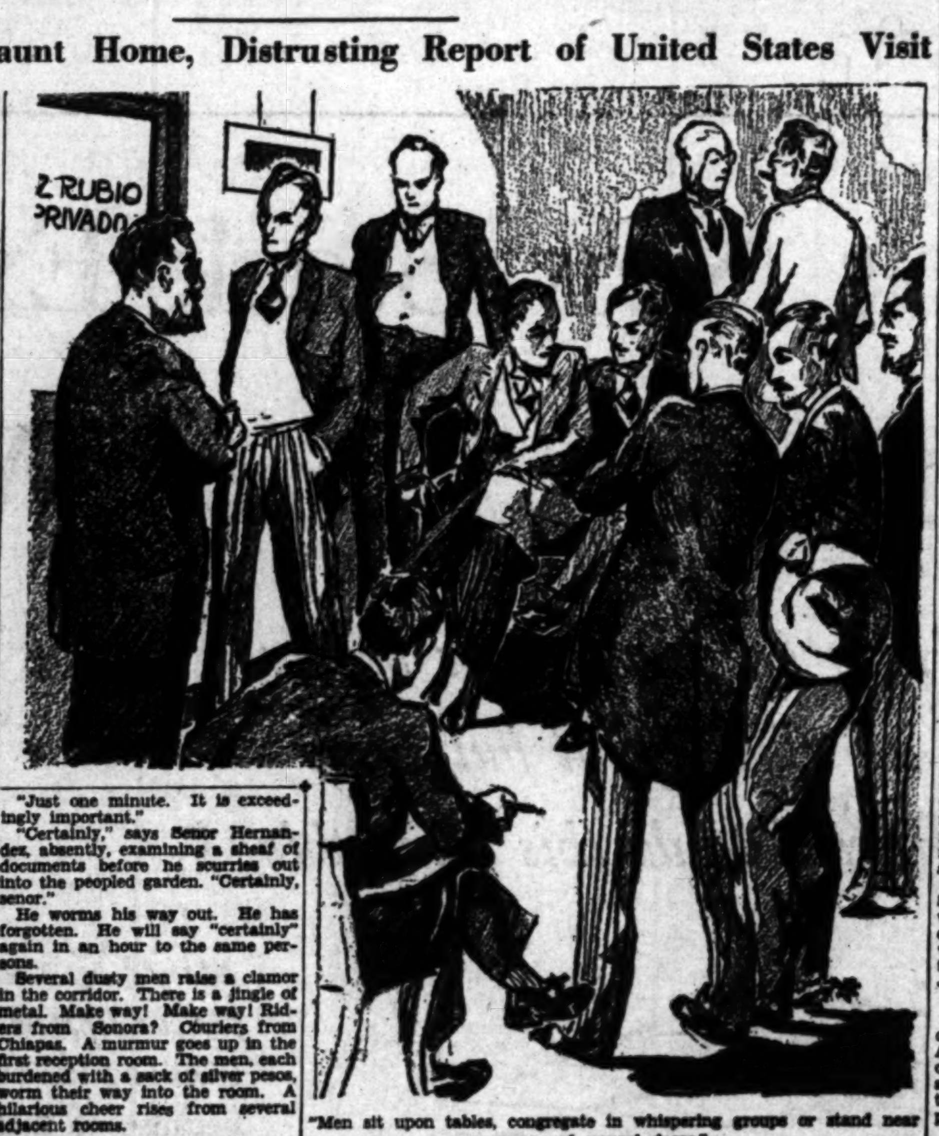
"CAMPAIGN FLOWERS" ADORN ORTIZ RUBIO'S GARDEN

Office Seekers Haunt Home, Distrusting Report of United States Visit

This is the second of a series of articles picturing Mexico as it is today and describing the changes going on in that country. Other articles will be published from time to time.

BY HUBERT W. KELLEY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2. (NANA) Only the flowers of his campaign have adorned the garden of President-elect Ortis Rubio these last few weeks. They are not so pleasing to the eye, all of them but they are fragrant—fragrant with hair oil and perfume.



"Men sit upon tables, congregate in whispering groups or stand near one of several doors."

Senor Ortiz Rubio's unannounced departure for the United States did not entirely uproot those flowers either. How did they know he had gone? They did not see him go and one distrusts rumor in Mexico. Hence, one distrusts everything.

Office seekers, concession seekers personal friends and political friends; suave and portly men with dark and baffling eyes; slim ranchmen in tight velvet suits, with high-heeled boots and sombreros with bright tassels; Indians with serapes and copper faces as pitted with small pox as many plaster facades are pitted with bullet marks; women with long hair, black mantillas and arms full of lilies—such are the flowers that grow in the garden of Senor Ortiz Rubio.

HIP POCKETS BULGE

An iron picket fence separates the garden from the street, and one gate with a sentry box to guard it gives access. One must have good credentials or a charming countenance to pass that gate.

And yet, if an undesirable passed it while the President-elect was in, his chances of surviving a false move would be very slight, indeed

Bulging hip pockets suggest the uproarious possibilities of a hostile interview with Senor Ortiz Rubio Every hip pocket bulges, not with the passport of many petty American politicians, but with forty-fives

The ground floor of the Ortis Rubio home, a three-story gray stucco house of little pretension, is the reception room, or, to be exact the first reception room. Men sit upon tables, congregate in whispering groups or stand near one of several doors, ready to spring upon the first second assistant secretary unwise enough to show himself.

The room is dim and cloudy with tobacco smoke. Opals shine dimly on hands and neckties. A portly deputy with tanned skin and glittering black eyes fills the air with perfume as he passes. Everybody shakes hands with everybody else at every passing. One deputy shakes hands five times with the same man in five minutes, and returns as an afterthought to shake hands again. It is a comforting sort of ceremony.

PAY BAGS ARRIVE

Senor "Slim" Hernandez, Senor Ortis Rubio's confidential man, dares to emerge from the second reception room. He wears a long overcoat and an English muffler. He works in both; the air is very chill indoors. Immediately he is surrounded by the multitude.

"Just one minute. It is exceedingly important."

"Certainly," says Senor Hernandez, absently, examining a sheaf of documents before he scurries out into the peopled garden. "Certainly, senor."

He worms his way out. He has forgotten. He will say "certainly" again in an hour to the same persons.

Several dusty men raise a clamor in the corridor. There is a jingle of metal. Make way! Make way! Riders from Sonora? Couriers from Chiapas. A murmur goes up in the first reception room. The men, each burdened with a sack of silver pesos, worm their way into the room. A hilarious cheer rises from several adjacent rooms.

MANY RECEPTION ROOMS

Pay day! Bravo! The stenographers come out to greet the pesos. The secretaries come out and slap the peso bearers on the back. It is all very exciting and very significant. A regular pay day prevents revolution. Senor Calles paid his army regularly. His army served him well.

A man about town strolls in with gloves and cane. The crowd makes way. He is a powerful man. Always he is "in" with the government. A few courageous ones stretch out their hands.

"How are you, my beloved friend? Do you think it is possible to see Senor Ortiz Rubio one minute? I have waited three days."

The man-about-town is sympathetic. He whispers to the guard at the door of the second reception room, which already is crowded.

"Pass," says the guard, and the seeker after something joyously enters. He will emerge perspiring and discouraged in several hours. There are other reception rooms beyond.

DEPUTIES ARGUE

Across the street from the stucco house—one can see them between two taxis—is a group of Deputies, vigorously conferring. They are a faction in the chamber, accused of having used rather violent campaign methods against the Vasconcelistas in the recent election. Undoubtedly the accusation is false, for one may be sure that anything one hears on the streets of the City of Mexico will bear thorough inspection. But they are conferring on some very vital subject, and anxious glances are cast at them from the men in the garden. Deputies, it is said, are privileged to settle disputes among themselves by the primitive method, but nothing happens.

It is every day. It is endless. The President-elect tried to see everybody. He wanted to see everybody. But he could not see the whole million voters. No wonder he slipped out the back door and boarded his private car elsewhere than at the Colonial Station, where everybody waited to see him off. No wonder he sought refuge in the United States.

HOUSE NOT PRETENTIOUS

The unkind ones have said that the house of Senor Ortiz Rubio, leased by him several months ago, is a mansion for an aristocrat. But that, it is possible to announce authoritatively, is untrue. It is the sort of house the average well-to-do business man in the United States would occupy. It is simple in design and built of brick, plaster and stucco, cheap enough materials in Mexico. A water tank is reared aloft to serve the house when the waterworks are shut down, a nightly occurrence. In the rear is a small poultry pen. The garden in front is small.

Calles, Portes Gil and Ortiz Rubio all have sought to live simply. It is part of the proletarian gesture. None has occupied the grim gray mass of Chapultepec, except for state receptions. President Portes Gil lives in a little house on the slope below the castle. Calles, whose enemies accuse him of squandering the commonwealth's money, what little there is of it, occupies a light brown stucco house on small grounds near the home of Ortiz Rubio. The house in the United States would cost about $75,000, no more.

HOUSEHOLD GERMANIC

A small military garrison was maintained at the driveway to protect the property and occupants in Calles's absence in Europe, whence he has recently returned. He has the reputation of fearlessness, however, and on his recent campaign as army chief went walking in hostile cities without an escort.

Senor Ortiz Rubio, or, to be utterly Mexican, President-elect Engineer Ortiz Rubio, maintains a rather German household. His attaches say his cuisine is German, his only alcoholic beverage beer, his hobby chess. He seldom drinks beer, and certainly, when at home, he drinks nothing stronger.

"More German than Mexican," his confidential man says. "He has traveled much abroad, but no people, except the German, colored his personality."

PACIFIC ISLES' STATUS FIXED

Stimson and Howard Confirm Philippine Boundary

Negotiations First Started by Secretary Hay

Convention Signed Clears Up All Questions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Disposing of the last question of sovereignty in the Pacific, Secretary Stimson and Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, signed a convention today establishing definitely the line between the Philippine Archipelago and British North Borneo.

Under the convention and accompanying exchange of notes between the United States and Great Britain, the American title to the Turtle and Mangse Islands is recognized. It is agreed that these small land units continue under administration of the British North Borneo Company.

STARTED BY HAY

Although title to the islands was assigned originally by a protocol among Great Britain, Spain and Germany in 1887, the treaty under which the United States took sovereignty of the Philippines from Spain did not mention them and the treaty of 1900, which gave to the United States title to all Philippine and Sulu Archipelago Islands not mentioned in the prior agreement, still left the boundary unsettled.

As early as 1904 Secretary of State Hay initiated conversations with Great Britain to establish a definite line. The negotiations which resulted in the signing of today's agreement were begun last July.

NO FORTIFICATION

The Turtle Islands lie off the east coast of North Borneo, six on the American side of the boundary and one in British waters. They have a total population of about 220, and turtle eggs and copra provide their principal industries.

The convention signed today also extended to the islands the operation of that part of the Washington arms treaty which presents their fortification.

HAMMERSTEIN (Germany) Jan. 2. (AP)—A strange disease that has broken out among German Mennonite refugees from Russia encamped here has caused the death of forty children.

Fifty other children are ill from the disease, which has baffled doctors. Despite strict sanitary measures, the epidemic spread because many mothers hid their sick children and prayed over them, in accordance with the Mennonite belief, instead of letting them have medical attention.

The disease resembled measles but caused death within a few hours after infection.

The authorities have quarantined the refugee camp and ordered examination of all the children.

NEW FORD OWNERS

. . . this hint may save you trouble:

Your "Model A" will stand up better, run smoother, if you avoid oils that form quantities of hard carbon

It is almost unbelievable what these new Model A Fords will stand. They'll even stand abuse! But you probably didn't buy yours to abuse. You wanted its speed, its economy of upkeep, long life, smooth running.

And it is to help you to get these things that we urge you to watch your lubrication.

Particularly, your motor oil: Many otherwise good oils form layers of hard, gritty carbon inside your motor. This sort of carbon chips off and chafes up and down the cylinder walls. Bits of it get under valves and hold them open to waste power and to burn the valve stems. Hard carbon starts a regular chain of troubles that shorten the life of any car.

To escape hard carbon you simply choose an oil that leaves none. Shell Motor Oil, when it burns, forms only a little soft soot—fluffy and light—a kind of carbon that can blow harmlessly away with the exhaust gases.

Insist that Shell Motor Oil be used to refill your Ford crankcase. You have a right to all the extra miles your car can give—and you'll get them with this fine lubricant that protects you from the hard carbon menace.

Controller Tells Views to Students' Congress

Says Practices Paint Wrong Picture for Public

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—So-called "college films," sloppily dressed students and irresponsible outbreaks of undergraduate opinion were scored by Controller A. E. Roth of Stanford University today for the impression they give to the general public of university life. He expressed his views in a talk on "The Academic Dollar" before 250 delegates to the fifth annual congress of the National Student Federation of America.

The Stanford tradition that an upperclassman wears a pair of corduroys from the beginning of his junior year until he gets his sheepskin is declared by the controller to have "caused unfavorable comment by business men who wish to hire college graduates as bond salesmen and expect them to look and act like gentlemen."

AS TO FILM CAMERAS

"The Stanford campus is closed," he told the delegates, "to motion-picture cameras so that the university will not become the background "for the type of college motion pictures now being produced." A similar censorship was proposed for radio broadcasting of university functions as an important element in the maintenance of good will between colleges and public.

WILBUR TO BE HEARD

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the university, who is on leave during his term as Secretary of the Interior, will be heard tomorrow afternoon from Washington over a national radio broadcast.

Among the subjects being considered by the congress, which represents the student government officials of American universities and colleges, are the honor system, proselytization and subsidization of athletes, fraternities and student publications.

RIO GRANDE OIL VOTES DIVIDEND

New Policy Will be to Pay 50 Cents Per Share Quarterly

Directors of the Rio Grande Oil Company at a special meeting yesterday afternoon declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the company's capital stock outstanding and announced it is the intention of the board to keep the stock on a quarterly basis of 50 cents a share for the year 1930.

The 50-cent dividend declared yesterday is payable the 25th inst. to stock of record the 5th inst.

The company paid $1 cash per share on July 25, last, and in addition paid two stock dividends of 1½ per cent each, the first of these on April 25, last, and the second on October 25, last.

Following the annual meeting of the company last March when the $1 cash disbursement and the stock payments were authorized, it was announced at that time that the policy of the board would be to declare in 1930 a second semiannual dividend of $1 cash to be paid the 25th inst. to stock of record the 5th inst. The 50-cent dividend voted yesterday thus makes the total cash payments $1.50 instead of $2 a share as previously indicated.

Pepp Selected to Head Fitkin Investment Unit

Effective the 1st inst., David A. Pepp of Los Angeles became president of A. E. Fitkin & Co., Ltd., the name under which the nationally known investment house of A. E. Fitkin & Co. will operate in the future. A. E. Fitkin at the same time assumed the position of chairman of the board.

Mr. Pepp, who will spend a considerable portion of his time at the New York office, said yesterday that the change in corporate name is in connection with the plans of the Fitkin company to expand into foreign fields. Underwriting and distribution activities will be carried on in the various important European markets.

Promotion of Vernon W. Janney, manager of the Los Angeles office, and D. Oliver, Jr., manager of the San Francisco office, to second vice-presidencies was also announced by Mr. Pepp. They will continue in charge of the two Coast offices.

A. E. Fitkin is well known in the public-utility business as the operator who built the National Public Service Corporation, Western United, Inland Power and Light and Pacific Public Service Companies. The first three were sold to the Standard Oil Company of California.

Loan Society in Rapid Growth

Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, which began 1929 as the ninth largest institution of its kind in the United States, completed the year by advancing to third place in point of resources, it was revealed yesterday with the publication of the company's statement of condition as of December 31, last.

Resources gained $26,629,750.69 during the past year to reach a total of $53,037,628.37. The increase in savings for the year was $25,479,306.19, of which only $8,005,684 was due to acquisitions of other building and loan associations. The company set up loans during 1929 which showed an increase of $22,955 161.17 over the total at the close of 1928. Robert S. Odell, president, pointed out that the statement showed cash on hand of more than $5,000 000 despite the fact that the institution cared for one of its heaviest loan volumes during December.

NEON DEVELOPMENTS DUE

J. B. Miller, One of Original Claude Sponsors, Tells of New Discoveries; Edison Holders Increase

BY EARLE E. CROWE

To more than 120,000 stockholders in the Southern California Edison Company John B. Miller is familiarly known as the chairman of the board, the man who directs the financial policies and presides over the operating management of this large public utility. Not so much is known of his activities in a related industry, the newly developed neon light, in which he is also an influential figure.

Mr. Miller returned a few days ago from conferences in New York with officers and directors of Claude Neon Lights, Inc. He is a director of this company, which controls the American rights to the Claude patents for the development and exploitation of Neon light. As one of the original group to sponsor the introduction of the Neon light to the United States, Mr. Miller organized and serves as chairman of Claude Neon Electrical Products, Inc., Ltd., the company controlling the western rights to the Claude patents.

ANNOUNCEMENT PENDS

Discussing the possibilities yesterday for the Claude Neon companies, Mr. Miller remarked that a visit to the experimental laboratories in New York will convince anybody of the brilliant future ahead of the neon light industry. In cooperation with the European research laboratory, the New York company has perfected new developments that Mr. Miller predicts will revolutionize the electrical-sign business.

As soon as details connected with the commercial introduction of the improvements are completed, the New York laboratory will make the formal announcement covering the discoveries, Mr. Miller said.

He expects the new white light, recently announced, to develop into a profitable source of income for the Claude Neon companies. The experiments in using the white light in the making of motion pictures lead the Claude Neon officers to believe the picture industry will soon discard the Kleig light for the neon light.

EXPANSION DUE

Mr. Miller is confident that the litigation with a rival group in the East will soon be cleared up satisfactorily. After this has been accomplished, he expects the various Claude Neon companies operating under franchises from Claude Neon Lights, Inc., to work out a unified program of expansion and development on a nation-wide scale.

On his return from the East, in his capacity as chairman of the Edison Company, Mr. Miller made the formal announcement of subscription rights for new common stock to holders of the common and the original preferred shares. From the increases lately in the number of common stockholders, he anticipates a healthy demand for the rights.

His figures on number of stockholders since the break in the stock market reflect the high regard in which Edison shares are held among investors. Since the end of October and up until December 23, approximately 1200 more holders of common stock are listed on the company's books. This increase brings the total number of stockholders to about 123,000.

Old Year Held Fairly Good in Southland Area

Southern California has closed a fairly good year compared with the rest of the country, according to the weekly Bradstreet Company report on business in this territory, issued yesterday.

Employment has held up better than in former years and while building did not reach the total of previous periods, there was a good healthy increase in office buildings and home buildings, the report state. Numerous factories were opened during the year adding materially to an ever-growing pay roll. Harbor records were broken both for imports and exports. Long Beach has had a rapid industrial growth and assurances of several nationally known western branch factories for the current year.

Business suffered somewhat since October due to various causes, including the stock market decline, the Bradstreet report stated. Ranchers received good prices for their crops, although the size of the crops was below normal years.

OUTLOOK OF STEEL UNIT PROMISING

Net for Ten Months of Consolidated Company Given as $776,858

Consolidated Steel Corporation for the ten months ended October 31, last, showed net earnings of $776,858.62, after all expenses, depreciation and taxes other than Federal income tax, according to a statement released yesterday by Lee A. Phillips, chairman of the board of directors. This is equal to nearly two and three-fourths times the ten months' dividend requirements on the outstanding preferred stock and leaves more than $2 a share available for the common stock, according to the statement.

Current assets as of October 31, last, totaled $5,071,093.22, as against current liabilities of $2,255,575.17, or a ratio of 2.25 to 1.

"The economies of operation as a result of the merger wherein this company was formed last January have exceeded those anticipated," Mr. Phillips said. "This has resulted in both increased sales and profits. Earnings after all charges, taxes and setting up reserves have been extremely gratifying.

"The recent purchase by the United States Steel Corporation and the Bethlehem Steel Corporation of local rolling mills will be to the distinct advantage of our corporation in the future. This insures quicker deliveries to us and permits obtaining locally products not now available in the Southwest. Both these companies have assured us of cooperation and have expressed the feeling that their business and ours are complementary and not competitive."

AUTO OUTPUT DROP SIGHTED

Record for 1929 of About 5,600,000 Units Expected to Shade Down to Around 4,600,000

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The year 1929 was the record one in automobile production, but none of the large automobile manufacturers so far has ventured to predict that 1930 will exceed the production of 1929.

The year 1928 brought a production of 4,600,000 cars and trucks. This was the record up to that time in the United States. The first nine months of 1929 saw production climb up to 4,870,000 units. By the end of November the eleven months' total exceeded 5,480,000. So the figures for the entire year 1929 should reach a total of 5,600,000 units, a new all-time record.

Such a record could not have been reached without the tremendous production which the Ford Motor Company experienced last year.

"Practically all of the gain in output over the year is traceable to this company, which has regained most of the ground lost in the market prior to its 1927 decline in operations, pending development of a new model," says the Union Trust Company of Cleveland in its own Trade Winds.

For the first nine months of 1929, the registrations of new passenger cars in the United States totaled 3,269,117, as against 2,482,028 in the corresponding period of 1928. This was a gain of 31.7 per cent. The increase for the Ford Motor Company was 430 per cent, while the industry as a whole lost 0.8 per cent, exclusive of Ford.

Today, two companies, the Ford Motor Company and General Motors, are producing approximately seven out of every ten automobiles manufactured. The other three are divided among all the other automobile companies.

The one disappointing element in the automobile trade for last year was the drop in the expected results of the export trade. It was thought that the 1929 export of cars and trucks would exceed 1928 figures by at least $100,000,000. The final figures will probably show an increase of about half this amount.

Why is this? The high money rates in the United States of the last year caused a sharp decline in loans to Europe. This showed up in the automobile trade. The other factor is a growing tendency on the part of American producers to build plants abroad to manufacture for foreign consumption.

For the first nine months of the year exports of passenger cars declined 2 per cent as compared with the year previously, while the shipments of automobile parts to foreign countries for assembly there expanded 96.5 per cent.

The record for 1930 has yet to be made. But that the total production will equal that of 1929 is improbable, by about 1,000,000 units.

What parts of the United States are considered to be the best prospect, so far as business goes, over the next six months? Brookmire's sales and credit map, issued a few days before the close of 1929, makes the central part of South Carolina, the middle section of Georgia and Alabama, all of Mississippi, the eastern half of Tennessee, the southern half of Arkansas and the eastern half of Louisiana the bright spots of the South. The southeastern section of Idaho, comprising about one-third of that State, looks like the best bet in the whole West, with the rest of the West in the "fair prospects" territory.

So is nearly all the rest of the country; more of it is in the "fair prospects" territory than in the "poor prospects."

This forecast estimates that the United States income for the next six months will be about 4 per cent less than it was one year ago and 2 per cent less than three years ago.

This is not a decrease to be particularly alarmed over.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE BROKER HOUSE FORMED

Formation of the partnership of Belden & Co., member of the New York Stock Exchange, was announced yesterday by Leo V. Belden and William H. Combs, partners and well-known in California. The brokerage house opens for business today at 44 Wall street. Mr. Belden and Mr. Combs left California for New York in 1926 to develop the Giannini interests in the East. Both have been actively associated with the Bank of Italy interests on the Pacific Coast for a number of years.

Shifting Sentiment on Mart Brings Irregularity

General Price Level Slightly Off at Closing Hour

Trading Light and Largely of Professional Sort

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. (AP)—The stock market stumbled into the new year with considerable confusion today. Share prices were bid upward rapidly in the first hour, sharply depressed during the afternoon, and rallied moderately in the final half-hour. Closing quotations were irregularly lower, scores of leading issues showing net losses of 2 to 8 points. The market remained dominantly professional, the day's transfers falling short of 3,000,000 shares.

The flood of year-end forecasts and analyses by important bankers, economists and industrial leaders, while reiterating confidence in the stability of fundamental conditions and faith in a comparatively early recovery in business and trade, were rather guarded, and inclined to conservatism. Commission-house advices generally predicted higher prices before the close of the new year, but were largely noncommittal as to the immediate market outlook. On the whole, New Year's brought little cheer to the bull crowd.

Particularly unsettling developments came late in the day. Just before the close of the market, the Fox Film Class "A" stockholders' protective committee issued a statement asserting, "indications are that a receivership must be resorted to at once." After the close of the market the weekly Federal Reserve brokers' loan compilation disclosed a gain of $96,000,000, the largest since late September.

NEWS ON DAY MIXED

Other business and corporate news was decidedly mixed. Sears, Roebuck reported an increase in December sales of 27.8 per cent over the previous December and Montgomery Ward, a gain of 12.04 per cent, the latter falling considerably short of the average gain for previous months of the year. "I now receive $162.50 every 6 months since I followed your advice"

"ABOUT a year ago I came to you for advice. I had $5,000 to invest and wanted to put it in certain stocks. You pointed out the fact that these stocks were selling too high in relation to earnings and offered a meager dividend return."

"At the same time you advised the purchase of an unusually good 6½% first mortgage bond. The issue represented less than a 37% first mortgage on property appraised at $1,600,000, and payment of interest was guaranteed by a group of substantial Los Angeles stockholders. My $5000 invested therein now nets me $162.50 every six months, while the stocks I almost purchased have declined 75% in value."

We have acquired a small block of these bonds which we are offering at par to yield 6½%. Full particulars on request below.

All Authorities Agree That "BOND PRICES ARE MOVING UP"

FOR the first time in years, leading financiers, business men and writers unite in saying that the bond market is on a definite upward trend and that it provides excellent opportunities for yield and profit. A sharp increase of 2½ points in average prices of 40 high-grade bonds since November 1st, substantiates their opinions.

In the words of Roger Babson, "Bonds are bought primarily for income or yield. Not since 1921 has there been such an opportunity to make sound investments at a high income return. While bonds are not ordinarily purchased for appreciation, they do offer prospects of substantial appreciation."

Many sound bonds may now be purchased to yield 6%, 7% and even 8%. A list of the most attractive issues available today will be mailed on request below.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Irregular Fluctuations Characterize First Trading Session of the Current Year

Opening the new year in a bullish fashion security prices on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday turned after the first hour and began to slip back to the levels of last Saturday, the lowest for 1929. However, a renewal of support was manifested toward the close with the result that price changes were held down to narrow fractions. Several issues showed a small improvement on the session.

Most of the petroleum stocks eased slightly lower, Union Oil dropping 1-4 to 45, Union Associates, 5-8 to 44 1-4; Standard of California, 7-8 to 60; Rio Grande, 3-4 to 18 3-8, and Richfield, 1-2 to 24 3-4. Rio Grande was the feature of the session, leading all other issues with a turnover of 6500 shares. Barnsdall crossed the board at 23 1-2, up 1 7-8 points from the last sale here. Pacific Western was unchanged at 13.

Transamerica continued to trade briskly and after ranging between 43 1-2 and 42 1-2 closed up 3-4 net to 43. The rights added a cent to end at 8 cents. Security-First National Bank gained a point to 111. Pacific Finance fell off 1-2 to 40 on light sales and Pacific National Company regained 1-2 to 7 1-2. Southern California Edison, after hitting 57 dropped back to a close at 56 1-2, off 1-8 net.

Aviation Corporation of California an inactive issue, registered a slump of 17 points from the last sale of the stock here when 100 shares crossed the board at 5 7-8. Aero Corporation dropped back under pressure to establish a new low at 1.50, recovering later to close at 1.75, down 25 cents net. Byron Jackson added another 1-2 point to close at 18.

Sales totaled 23,008 shares valued at $517,876; previous day, 21,585 shares valued at $568,663.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Very little attention was paid to stock trading as the Los Angeles Curb Exchange opened its first 1930 session yesterday. The volume of the day's sales amounted to 28,215 shares, having a market valuation of but $49,880, which is one of the smallest days since the market was organized.

On the light sales, however, there were one or two sharp gains registered. Pacific Indemnity swung up 10 points to 210, and Fokker featured with a jump of 2 1-4 points to 15 3-4. Gladding McBean rallied 1 1-4 points to 54 3-4 and fractional gains were made by Cities Service and Claude Neon Electrical Products of Delaware. Diamond Electric dropped back 1 1-4 points to 35 and Continental Credit held firm to 12½.

Magnovox featured the group of penny stocks with a jump of 75 cents to 2.70. First Security units fell off 10 cents to 1.80 and Bolsa Chica, 10 cents to 1.15.

THE THREE BEST "BUYS" FOR 1930

1. CORPORATE TRUST SHARES A strong fixed investment trust based on the common stocks of 28 of America's leading corporations whose combined assets exceed $21,000,000,000. Dividends paid on this trust for 1929 amounted to more than 20% on present market price.
2. BANK STOCK TRUST SHARES A participating ownership in a selected group of strong New York bank stocks. Approximately 65% of the nation's bank clearings originate in New York City, the country's financial center. As a result of the market decline, this trust is now priced on a decidedly attractive buying basis.
3. TRUSTEE STANDARD OIL SHARES A fixed trust representing ownership in all 31 of the great Standard Oil Companies. During 1922, 16 of these companies paid stock dividends of 33⅓% to 900%, totalling $1,760,000,000 in market value. The combined surplus today is greater than the previous high in 1921, indicating likelihood of liberal stock dividends in the future.

EXECUTIVE

A closed corporation needs an executive (gentile.) of administrative ability and unimpeachable integrity. He must be capable of being bonded for unlimited amounts. His investment of $50,000 will be used to increase reserve funds of the corporation and will be carried in listed securities of the highest class, under his supervision. The nominal risk and tremendous possibilities in this organization will present an outstanding appeal to the right man. This type of opportunity is seldom offered in newspaper advertisements, and requires the type of man who seldom answers them.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—Futures on the local rubber exchange today seemed to be influenced by some underlying bearish news, which, in the opinion of many observers of the market, was an increase in Malayan rubber shipments for December, which are due at this time. This disturbing factor, which was accompanied by lower cables from the foreign markets and the withdrawals of supporting interests, who had been in the market last week to give it a firm tone for the end of the year, was responsible for declines at the close of business yesterday of from 50 to 60 points.

Of the favorable news during the day was a decrease of 4409 tons in crude rubber shipped to the United States during the week ending December 28.

The major portion of the day's offerings came from dealers and commission houses, while the only support in evidence was some scaledown short covering by a large downtown commission house.

The final tone was easy. London spot closed ⅛d lower at 7⅞d. Singapore declined ⅛d to 7 9-16d. Outside spot easy and off ½c to 15⅝c.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2. (AP)—The new year found various factors working to contrary ends to produce irregularity in price movements on the San Francisco Stock Exchange. The net result was an almost imperceptible recession of prices. Trading was slow and cautious, the total share turnover being 30,504, bringing $944,565. Bonds sold brought $12,000.

Transamerica, after a quiet Tuesday while the rest of the list was celebrating the prospect of a new year with rising optimism, took the lead early today, rising 1⅛, later losing the point to net ⅛ on the day, while other banking stocks were inactive. The early upturn was the first market response to the Bank of Italy's annual statement, in which the Transamerica subsidiary showed resources of $1,000,000,000 and depositors numbering 1,000,000.

Investment funds sought out strong income-bearing issues outside the field of common stocks. Pacific Telephone preferred gained 2 points and Great Western 7s 1. Pacific Gas preferred gained a fraction as the common lost nearly a point, coincident with reports of a reduction in gas prices. The latter, however, has been forecast by the company by offering voluntarily a reduced schedule of rates.

The oil common stocks lost fractionally, there being some uncertainty as to the disturbance in the industry that might follow the new price arrangement established by Standard Oil of New Jersey, in fixing quotations for distributors on a basis of refining costs, by a new method, plus freight charges. Richfield preferred held steady, while the common lost ⅜. Standard of California ⅛, and Union Associates ⅛.

California Copper responded to an increased earnings statement of its subsidiary, Engels Copper Mine, by a fractional advance. Marchant also gained a fraction, as did Magnavox, continuing its upturn.

Other industrials were weak. Caterpillar losing about half of Tuesday's advance, going down 2¼. Golden State Milk lost 1⅛, both these stocks weakening presumably on profit taking. Byron Jackson, Emporium Capwell, Foster & Kleiser, Food Machinery and Natomas lost fractions.

Finance companies were strong. Fireman's Fund gaining 2½, and Investors Association moving up slightly.

STOCKS TRAVEL UNEVEN COURSE

loadings for the third week of December dropped 80,757 cars from the preceding week, despite higher shipments of coal resulting from cold weather. American Cigar and Continental Motors passed their common dividends, and a receiver was appointed for Submarine Boat. A favorable curtailment of crude oil production was reported for last week.

Monetary conditions largely reflected year-end conditions. Indication of an abrupt relaxation such as is normally experienced in January appeared in a reduction of 1-8 of 1 per cent in the rates of the shorter maturities of bankers' acceptances. Call money held at 6 per cent. The increase in brokers' loans reflected in part the rally in stock prices in the last week of the year, but was also due to normal year-end money requirements. The Federal Reserve condition statement showed further liberation of credit through open market operations, although rediscounting was curtailed and reserve position strengthened.

RANGE ERRATIC

Erratic fluctuations in General Electric, which showed a net gain of 6 points in the morning, a loss of 5⅛ in the afternoon, and a net loss of 1 1-4 at the close, were typical of the action of leading shares. Fox Film "A" was a feature of the afternoon, dropping 5 points to a new low at 17 in heavy liquidation.

United States Steel sold up 2 3-4 points to 173 3-4, dropped to 166, and closed at 167 1-4, off 3 3-4. Stocks closing about 4 to 8 points lower included Allied Chemical, American Power and Light, American Tobacco B, Byers, Kraft Phenix, McCrory Stores, Pacific Lighting, Republic Steel, Macy, Sears Roebuck, and Standard Gas.

A few stocks closed substantially higher, including Air Reduction, General American Tank, Hershey Chocolate, Chesapeake and Ohio, and United Aircraft, up about 3 to 5 points.

Commodities were irregular. Wheat futures lost 2 cents and more on bearish government weather reports and reports of offerings from France and Russia. Corn sagged ½ cent and more, reflecting large receipts and favorable weather. Cotton futures rallied 35 to 95 cents a bale on covering and light offerings.

Foreign exchanges slumped, sterling cables dropping 5-16 to $4.87 13-16, but these changes were not regarded as particularly significant, owing to the small volume of business. The first quarter is normally a period of strength in leading exchange rates.

Wheat Futures Point Down on Bearish Mart

CHICAGO, Jan. 2. (AP)—Russia came to the front today as a bugaboo unsteadying the nerves of wheat owners. Notwithstanding that people in Moscow are subsisting on a ration-card basis, wheat values here were forced down by persistent selling pressure which resulted largely from assertions that Russia is exporting at least some wheat, and has forwarded samples to Liverpool to be valued. Simultaneously, the volume of wheat export business today from North America was small compared with the amount looked for in most quarters, the estimated total being only 600,000 to 700,000 bushels.

Chicago closing prices for wheat were shaky, 1⅞c to 2¼c a bushel lower than Tuesday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c to ⅝c down, oats unchanged to ⅛c off, and provision showing 5 to 7c to 10c advance.

Downturns in wheat prices came after the Chicago market had scored a material advance. Buyers grew laggard, virtually ignoring in the late dealings the factors which earlier had led to price bulges—namely, reports that rains were hampering the wheat harvest in Argentina, that wheat shipments from Argentina were decreasing, and that demand from European consumers was being augmented. Incidentally, Washington reports showing that domestic winter wheat is in good to excellent condition were of some effect as an incentive to sellers.

By far the chief influence, however, as a motive for letting go of future delivery holdings of wheat and for speculative selling, was at least temporary fading away of general hopes of liberal export business in wheat from the United States and Canada. It was not until trading here was ended for the day that explicit advices were at hand saying no offers of Russian wheat exports had been made, and that none appeared to be likely.

Helped by reports that the Federal Farm Board does not want to see corn prices go beneath the present level, and that the Farmers National Grain Corporation is keeping a watchful eye on developments, the corn market showed a firm undertone despite wheat weakness. Corn receipts today here and elsewhere were much larger than either a week or a year ago. Oats were steadied by the relative firmness of corn.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in the value of hogs and to reports of fewer fall pigs compared with a year back.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. (AP)—A bullish New Year's celebration, staged by operators for the advance at the opening of today's curb market, proved to be of short duration, as a flood of selling swept over the market in the afternoon, leaving final quotations irregularly lower. The reaction was inspired by a series of bearish developments including the passing of the American Cigar dividend, the realization of larger losses taken by investment trusts in the November break and the threat by the Class A stockholders' committee of the Fox Film Corporation to bring about a receivership for the William Fox theatrical enterprises.

Several stocks, particularly in the aviation group, which had been subjected to heavy tax selling, rallied briskly when this pressure was removed, and retained a good part of their gains. Recently organized pools, which started operations in the hope of attracting a large public following, stepped aside when it became apparent the January reinvestment demand was not coming up to expectations.

In the investment trust group, Lehman Corporation advanced more than $5 a share to $80.12½ on the publication of its report showing asset value in excess of $91 a share, but it lost all but a fraction of its gain. Goldman Sachs closed fractionally lower after having registered a gain of more than 3 points. The new Tri-continental issues were admitted to trading, but failed to maintain their early gains.

In the public utilities most of the active issues such as Electric Bond and Share, American and Foreign Power warrants, American Superpower and Electric Power Associates lost ground, while a few ordinarily inactive shares, such as American Light and Traction and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, closed with gains.

American Cigar broke 8 points to a new low at 68, as contrasted with the 1929 high of 153¾, on the passing of the quarterly dividend of $2. Fox Theaters, which sold as high as 37⅞ last year, dropped from 5⅝ to 2½, and then rallied to 3¼, for a net loss of 2½ points on the talk of receivership. Glen Alden Coal dropped 4½ points. Trading in oils was light but most of them displayed a firm undertone.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

LOOKING AHEAD THROUGH 1930

WHAT MOODY'S WILL SAY

What the investor wants today is somebody who will not merely tell him that the November crash 'wiped him out' or eliminated his paper profits. He knows this better than any oracle can tell him. A rehash of 1929 is not a forecast of 1930.

He wants somebody to diagnose for him the probabilities for 1930 in business, in finance, in the stock and bond markets.

Moody's will do exactly this in their ANNUAL REVIEW AND FORECAST to be issued January 6th, 1930.

Moody's has been issuing Annual Forecasts since 1914, forecasting the security market trend with unerring accuracy. We believe that our 1930 Forecast will prove equally accurate.

Every investor, banker and broker will want this forthcoming Review and Forecast. The edition will be a large one, but the demand will be country-wide. We urge that everybody interested apply for copies without delay and get this advance picture of the financial year of 1930.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The General Petroleum Corporation leads all oil operators in seeking oil production in the ocean by drilling tideland permits along the coast in Santa Barbara county. It is preparing to spud in two projects today in addition to drilling ahead in four others, one of which is in Ventura county.

General recently spudded in Sands No. 1, Parker No. 1 and Bank No. 1, all near More ranch and along the coast at Goleta. In the same vicinity Crandall No. 1 and James No. 1 are rigging rotary and will spud in at once.

Along the coast at Seacliff, General's Ferguson No. 2, a tideland permit well, is drilling below 1995 feet. A 1400-foot pier was constructed there and if production is found a row of derricks will be constructed along the pier.

Tideland drilling has reached large proportions in Santa Barbara county, partially because of the success achieved along the coast at Elwood. The number of tideland projects is increasing steadily. Numerous operators and individuals have been granted permits to drill for oil along the shoreline.

Near Carpinteria the Continental Oil Company is preparing to spud in Tideland Permit No. 124-1. Near this project George F. Getty is drilling ahead in wells on the Caspers and McDonald leases. Strung out along the coast farther south of Carpinteria are quite a number of permits which will be validated just as soon as drilling outfits can be assembled.

Turned Into Tanks

The oil from the Standard Oil Company's new No. 8 well on Sec 1 on the north dome at Kettleman Hills has been turned into tanks and the gas output, estimated at from 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 cubic feet daily, is being treated for casing-head gasoline in the company's absorption plant. The oil flow is 3000 barrels.

Standard's Monday completion, the third well on the north dome and the second for that company, was brought in from a depth of 7108 feet, being slightly shallower than the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well which it offsets. The project was allowed to run into the open air for a few hours before being beaned down. The flow is going through a six-inch pipe into tanks.

The original absorption plant, equipped to handle about 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, was constructed before the company's No 81 was brought in. During the period when no new production was expected, Standard built an addition to the first plant and it is now capable of handling at least 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day

Slightly Lower

Santa Fe Springs production yesterday did not increase to the figure anticipated, so the daily production is rated at 171,268 barrels, although one new completion was brought in by the Commodore Oil Company. Its Landi No. 3 was completed in the lower Clarke sand for 1350 barrels of oil per day.

The Cypress Petroleum Corporation's Wadman No. 1, which had an initial output of 9000 barrels of oil per day, has been beaned down and is flowing 3000 barrels daily. A recent completion brought in by the Universal Consolidated Oil Company is being beaned down while the Shell Oil Company's G. H. N No. 14, which recorded a test flow of about 1200 barrels of oil per day, is swabbing again for steady production from the O'Connell sand

Issues Statement

Umpire Paul Grimm's semimonthly report for the period between the 1st and the 15th inst., inclusive plainly shows the efforts being made by the larger companies to lessen the burden of the smaller companies at Santa Fe Springs and their willingness to co-operate with all operators.

The umpire's statement for this period says: "As new wells have been brought in or made ready for production it has become increasingly evident that operators with small properties or production, who are not completing new wells, were at a serious disadvantage. Their production, under a rigid application of the percentage of curtailment, was threatened with decrease to a point of inequity. When this was called to the attention of the larger producers and those bringing in most of the new wells, they recognized the condition above outlined and consented to assume the greater portion of the curtailment."

New Activity

Last week permits for new wells listed twenty-one new projects, compared with twelve for the preceding week. Of the new groups, four are at Signal Hill, nine in Santa Barbara county, three in the Sunset field, and one each at Huntington Beach, San Bernardino county, and in Piru district.

The General Petroleum Corporation was granted a permit to drill in Santa Barbara county the Sands No. 1, Crandall No. 1, James No 1 and Parker No. 1, all tideland projects near Goleta. Other tideland permits to drill were granted to the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company, R. C. Foerster & C. C. Kreis; J. F. Shuman & W. T. Fitzgerald, the Continental Oil Company, the Elwood Exploration Company in Santa Barbara county and the Standard Oil Company.

Signl Hill: Dabney-Johnston Oil Corporation's No. 51 and No. 52; Carter Petroleum Company's No. 1 and E. J. Preston's No. 31.

Other permits included J. W. Sherman's No. 1 in San Bernardino county; E. A. Fennell Company's No. 1-P in the Piru district; George F. Getty's Tideland Permit No. 16 at Summerland; North American Oil Consolidated's Kerckhoff No. 4 and No. 6 and Sunset No. 8 in Sunset field; Richfield Oil Company's Dieter-Golay No. 2 at Huntington Beach.

Considerable Shut In

The Union Oil Company has 52,400 barrels of shut-in production in the State, 35,000 barrels of this being at Santa Fe Springs. If allowed to put out freely, the company's daily production would easily exceed 52,900 barrels. The company's daily production at Santa Fe Springs now is estimated at 20,500 barrels, but with completion of two new projects yesterday, the daily flow was increased by approximately 15,600 barrels.

No Showings

The Standard Oil Company's Mascot No. 1 near Taft now is one of the deepest wildcats searching for deep production. Yesterday it was drilling below 8440 feet in brown shale and will be drilled considerably deeper. No oil sand has been encountered.

Standard's Saticoy-Citrus No. 5 near Saticoy, yesterday was drilling in brown shale below 8450 feet and has but a few feet more to go to pass the record established by the California Well Drilling Company's Del Amo No. 1 searching for an extension between the Signal Hill and Dominguez fields. This project is testing for production with bottom at 8500 feet.

Mrs. Mead Slain by Criminal Ring Detective Says

SANTA CRUZ, Jan. 2. (Exclusive) The year-old ghost of the Cora Mead case has reared its head again. Andred J. Meagher, private detective, who slipped quietly into town a month ago, announced today he has uncovered definite proof that Mrs. Mead was killed by a powerful ring because she "knew too much."

What it was Mrs. Mead knew, or who employed him to delve into the tragedy that a year ago was "written off" by State and county officials as suicide, Meagher declined to say.

Mrs. Mead was found shot to the night of September 25, 1928. The wife of a wealthy Chicago manufacturer, she had deserted home of luxury to elope with a Canadian Northwest mounted policeman.

ORTIZ RUBIO BELITTLES RED INSULTS

Detroit Mayor Apologizes for Demonstration of Communists

DETROIT, Jan. 2. (AP)—Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, today accepted the apologies of Mayor Lodge, for the Communist demonstration which marred his welcome to Detroit last night and passed the incident off as of no consequence.

"One finds that sort of people everywhere," he remarked. At the time of the demonstration, he had smilingly declared of the milling Communists, "they have a right to their opinion."

Fifteen years ago Ortiz Rubio visited Detroit as an obscure colonel of engineers on the staff of President Carranza of Mexico, and spent a month studying methods in the automobile factories that production principles might be applied to Mexican industry.

He emphasized that he is here now, not as President-elect but as an engineer student, eager to learn more about mass production methods. Much of his time today was spent in automobile factories.

The party will leave tomorrow for Chicago. Possibility of extending the tour to the west coast is being considered.

Borah Discloses Senate Plan for Bounty on Sugar

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho disclosed today that Senate Republican independents are considering seriously supporting a sugar bounty to apply to American producers of sugar alone as an amendment to the pending bill.

The Idaho Senator is preparing the bounty amendment but is not ready to say what figure will be proposed. He said its purpose will be to extend benefit to American producers and for that reason Philippine sugar growers will be excluded

Legge Predicts Better Cotton Under New Plan

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Jan. 2. (AP) An important result to be achieved by formation of the $30,000,000 cotton marketing corporation will be an improved quality of the product, Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, said here today.

Chairman Legge and Carl Williams of Oklahoma, cotton member of the board, were here to confer with officials of the Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, State agricultural officials and growers relative to Arkansas's participation in formation of the corporation.

"A poor marketing system is the cause of the failing quality of American cotton," Legge said. "The grower has not been rewarded for the production of superior grades and staple sufficiently to induce him to grow the best lint. Often paid a flat price, he has grown just cotton, the short staple variety. This is a serious threat to our holding foreign markets, but through the organization of the growers it can be removed. We are able potentially to compete with cotton growers anywhere in the world."

Los Angeles Agents File to Buy School Acreage in Owens Valley Area

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2. (AP)—Seeking to make application for 12,000 acres of school lands in the Inyo and Mono county watershed for the city of Los Angeles, Ford Hendricks and Jordan P. The two men had stood in line since Monday, alternating in day and night shifts.

The occasion was the first opening of applications under the new 1929 law governing sale of school lands. Kingsbury received 157 applications, covering 20,000 of the 80,000 acres of vacant school land owned by the State.

Se Dice que Primo de Rivera Ha Presentado su Renuncia

MADRID (España), Enero 2.—De fuente fidedigna se ha sabido que está en manos del rey la renuncia de Primo de Rivera. Dícese que la resolución del dictador ha sido ocasionada por las dificultades hacendarias del país y la baja constante de la peseta. Es enteramente improbable que el rey acepte la retirada de de Rivera y sus ministros, y afronte el peligro de ver a España naufragar en el viejo maelstrom parlamentario.

El paso que, según se dice, ha dado Primo de Rivera, vino a raíz de la dimisión de su ministro de hacienda, quien abandonó su cartera al ver que la peseta se había venido en estas últimas semanas al nivel más bajo que ha alcanzado de muchos años a esta parte, y al escuchar las quejas de los negociantes españoles, que podían remedio a la situación. Se asegura que poderosas fuerzas políticas y financieras han estado trabajando por desacreditar la administración de de Rivera.

JESSUP NAMED CITY ENGINEER

Works Board Ousts Shaw in Surprise Move

Replacement Action Given Unanimous Vote

New Appointee Specialist in Sewage Handling

With a swiftness which left City Hall employees gasping with astonishment the Porter administration as yesterday lopped off the official head of City Engineer Shaw. Maj. Shaw, who has been in charge of the engineering department for the past four years, during which time most of the major improvements and structures of the city have been built, will be replaced the 16th inst. by John J. Jessup, a friend of long standing of Public Works Commissioner Hyde.

Commissioner Hyde, Mayor Porter's first appointee to the board, moved that Maj. Shaw be notified that he is on vacation until the 16th inst., at which time his office be declared vacant. Commissioner Hyde then moved that Jessup be appointed. Both motions were seconded by Commissioner Wirsching and were unanimously carried. The City Engineer serves at the pleasure of the board. The position pays [illegible] a year.

Mayor Porter and President McGuire of the board left to Commissioner Hyde the explaining of this move.

REASON ASSIGNED

Commissioner Hyde started out by stating that Shaw is a structural engineer and Jessup is an expert in handling sewage and garbage, and that as great plans are being laid for this character of work during the coming year, while most of city's bridges already have been built, he decided that Jessup should replace Shaw.

It was pointed out to Hyde that the outfall sewer, the sewage disposal plant and the main trunk sewers have been built and operating for years, as is the city's vast incinerator and garbage-treating plant. He replied that something should be done toward reclaiming sewage for industrial and agricultural water purposes, but evaded questions designed to determine if the city actually is contemplating such a plant. The Standard Oil Company of California recently applied for a permit to experiment in this work. Hyde intimated that the city might experiment also.

WORK CURTAILMENT

Hyde then said that work in the engineering department is to be cut down and that Jessup is the man to reduce the "red tape." It was then pointed out to him that Mayor Porter recently telegraphed President Hoover promising vast expansion in public improvements here. Hyde then said that Commissioner Wirsching could tell whether or not the work is to be cut down.

From Commissioner Hyde's conversation is appears that Shaw had not followed all of the commissioner's suggestions with the speed he deemed necessary. At last he agreed to be quoted for publication that the bureau will be "more efficient" under Jessup.

Shaw is the second high city official with a good record to be ousted in a week. The other is former Chief of Police Davis.

Hyde denied that Jessup's appointment is a "political debt." He denied the report that Jessup, who has been working for street bonding companies, helped gather up $10,000 for the asserted deficit in the Porter campaign. Mayor Porter also denied this, saying:

"Don't you remember that my campaign cost less than $2000?"

KNOWN TO MAYOR

Hyde said Mayor Porter knows Jessup and approves the appointment. Mayor Porter said he might have met Jessup once, but had not conferred on the matter, and approved the Jessup appointment just as he approves everything the board does. Hyde said Jessup came to him last summer and offered to "help" the Porter administration. Hyde said that at the time he promised Jessup to "keep him in mind" for the job of City Engineer. Hyde says he recommended Jessup's appointment to the Mayor.

Last week there was a flurry in the Board of Public Works and Hyde handed his resignation to the Mayor, effective Wednesday, stating that the press of private business forced him to leave the city's services. Whatever the occasion, it was smoothed over, and Commissioner Hyde says now he will stay until the Mayor can find a successor. He says he cannot estimate the term.

Hyde denied yesterday that the resignation excitement had anything to do with the Shaw dismissal.

Mayor Porter said yesterday that

Deaths From County Traffic Increase 212

An increase of 212 traffic deaths during 1929 over the number of fatalities occurring in 1928 from the same cause was reported by County Coroner Nance yesterday in a statement compiled for the year just ended. Accidents involving steam and electric railways caused the deaths of sixty-seven persons in the city and county of Los Angeles, the Coroner said, while 792 persons died as the result of automobile mishaps. During 1928 there were 580 fatalities in the city and county due to traffic accidents.

In the city alone, 494 of those noted in the figures above were recorded, county traffic conditions accounting for the remainder of 298.

December, Coroner Nance said, was the record month of the year. Fatalities for that month numbered ninety-nine.

HOSPITAL MAY BECOME JAIL

Use of Smallpox Unit Asked by Police Commission

Action Taken as Result of Disease at Central

Prisoners Also May be Kept in Division Quarters

Action toward removing from the Central Jail all prisoners other than those accused of felonies was taken by the Police Commission yesterday when it passed a resolution asking the Health Commission for the use of the smallpox hospital in Chavez Ravine, east of Elysian Park, now vacant. There was no discussion of a change in police headquarters.

The Central Jail was condemned by the Health Commission several months ago and the Police Commission had been requested to make other provision for a jail and police headquarters. A plea for more time to make other arrangements had been granted by the Health Commission but of late the subject had been dropped by the Police Commission.

Impetus was given to the action of the Police Commission yesterday as the result of the death from spinal meningitis of Benjamin H. Smith, one of sixty prisoners held in one of the jail bullpens, and the report of the 1929 county grand jury that the jail conditions are deplorable and should be remedied immediately.

OTHER JAILS AVAILABLE

Chief Jailer Shand informed the commission at yesterday's meeting that if the prisoners need to be segregated immediately in case of the spreading of disease the jails of the various division stations can be used if sufficient transportation is provided for handling the prisoners when required in courts.

Dr. Parrish, who investigated the jail case and urged quick action by the commission, informed the latter that a case of meningitis also has been reported among the prisoners in the County Jail. He suggested the use of the smallpox hospital for temporary use. It would care for 125 prisoners, he said, and as there is a fence around the place it could be properly guarded. He is of the opinion that the upper part of the Central Jail can be retained for prisoners accused of felonies.

The commission went over the recommendations made by the 1929 grand jury.

The request that physicians be detailed for duty so that one may be available at all times in city jails was disposed of by a resolution requesting the receiving hospital division to assign one or more of its fifty-one internes to such work when not on other duty.

SOAP FUND ASKED

The recommendations that more soap, clean towels and a change of prison clothing be provided for prisoners resulted in a resolution asking the City Council to appropriate $9000 for the purchase of such supplies, as the cutting out from the budget of an appropriation of $19,000 has hampered the jails in this respect.

As a sanitary measure it also was decided to clip the hair of prisoners who find it difficult to keep clean.

Provision for the segregation of juveniles and those accused of minor offenses from those accused of felonies was approved. Chief Jailer Shand said those afflicted with tuberculosis now are being given outside work at the Lincoln Heights Jail and separated from other prisoners as much as possible.

The grand jury's recommendation for hot and cold showers and improved plumbing facilities in the jail quarters was considered but no action taken until new and permanent jail quarters are provided.

JAIL PLANS CALLED FOR

Construction Superintendent Brittain, as the result of a communication from the City Council on the subject of the cost of a permanent unit at Lincoln Heights, was requested by the commission to furnish plans and estimates of a permanent jail at that point. The requirements call for a T-shaped four-story concrete structure which could be added to when necessary.

Discussion of better food for the prisoners raised the query as to why it costs 79 cents a day to feed city prisoners as against 60 cents for county prisoners. The explanation

DORAN TAKES COURT REINS

New Presiding Judge Faces Congested Calendar; Craig Goes to Appellate Bench

Superior Judge Doran yesterday began his assignment as presiding judge of the Superior Court, succeeding Superior Judge Craig, who went to the bench of the local division of the Appellate Court.

SUPERIOR JUDGE DORAN

Calendars in civil courts are about six months behind, because of a shortage of judges. Judge Craig instituted a system of giving preferred cases the right of way and consolidating the work of master courts.

When the policy of assigning Municipal Court judges to the Superior Court bench was discontinued — because of a shortage of justices of the peace to sit in Municipal Court—work on the Superior Court bench fell behind.

Now, with 3500 civil cases on the reserve list, Judge Doran faces a serious situation. It is estimated that fifty-five courts will be required for the next three months to catch up with the calendar.

Judge Doran said yesterday he is trying to figure out some way to speed up justice. In the criminal division, where he has presided for the past year, similar conditions existed, but by the use of a master calendar, by cutting down the time of recesses and making court sessions longer, the congestion was somewhat alleviated.

New Vice Squad Organized by Chief Steckel

Organization of an emergency vice squad to aid in the work of the regular police - vice divisions throughout the city was announced yesterday by Chief of Police Steckel. The new body, in charge of Acting Detective Lieutenant Sears, has five members and replaces a similar organization that existed during the last six months of the Davis administration.

Nine officers who made up the personnel of the emergency vice squad under former Chief Davis yesterday were assigned to duty in the various police divisions.

Herculean Labors Begun

Seated—Clark Clement, Lemoore; Leonard B. Slosson, Thomas C. Ridgway, Guy R. Crump, Los Angeles; Gov. Young. Standing—Prof. A. M. Kidd, Berkeley; Perry Evans, San Francisco; Edgar H. Hagar, Oakland; F. B. Wood, secretary ex-officio, San Francisco. Inset, Thomas C. Ridgway, chairman.

MEETING with Gov. Young in the latter's Los Angeles offices yesterday, the new California Code Commission, as a preliminary to its task of revising the Civil, Political and Penal codes of the State, elected Thomas C. Ridgway, Los Angeles attorney, as chairman.

Another Los Angeles attorney, Guy R. Crump, was named vice-chairman, as was Maurice E. Harrison of San Francisco.

Before the meeting was called to order Gov. Young announced that a new appointment will have to be made on the commission, due to the inability of Howard Surr, San Bernardino attorney, to serve. The new appointee will be chosen from one of the Southland's inland counties, the Governor said.

Special work connected with the task of revising all California laws will be assigned to the various members of the commission by Chairman Ridgway, it was said yesterday. Frequent meetings of the body will be held here and in the north.

Members of the commission, as named on Christmas Eve by Gov. Young, are: Thomas C. Ridgway, former president of the State Bar; Leonard B. Slosson and Guy R. Crump, Los Angeles; Maurice E. Harrison, president of the San Francisco Bar Association; A. M. Kidd, professor of law at University of California, Berkeley; Perry Evans, Berkeley; Gerald H. VICE-CONSUL OF ITALIANS QUITS COAST

Count Gradenigo Goes to Consulship at Cleveland After Five Years Here

Count Cesare Pier Alberto Gradenigo, Italian Vice-Consul in Los Angeles since November, 1925, has been advanced by the Italian government to a consulship and within the next few days will leave to take a new post in Cleveland, where he will be the only Italian of that rank in the State. While here he has been under the Consul at San Francisco. He leaves an Italian colony of about 20,000 for one of about 60,000. Alberto Mellini of San Francisco will arrive shortly to be Vice-Consul here.

Count Gradenigo

Local Italians and many Americans among whom he has made friends and business connections express regret at Count Gradenigo's leaving and point out that although here as an official of a Fascist regime among a colony of Italians who busy themselves more with American than Italian politics he has maintained a good relationship without factionalism.

The Count made his home at the Ambassador and had many social connections in the city. By his personal preference, he was known mostly as Capt. Gradenigo, upon his military achievements, rather than as a member of one of the noted families of Venice.

He was an instructor in flying in the Italian army, after having served during the entire war as a captain. Before that he was in diplomatic service in Rio de Janeiro, South America, and in London, from which post he came here. He was for a time secretary to the Director-General of the Foreign Office in Rome.

"One look at the skies here today and I am in deepest regret at leaving Southern California," the Count said, "and too, because I have so many friends here. But I am in my government's service and must go."

Mary and Doug to Arrive Today From Long Trip

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks will return to Pickfair, their home in Beverly Hills, today, following a four-month tour of Europe and the Orient on a vacation trip. The famous film couple arrive on the Lark over the Southern Pacific at Glendale at 9 a.m. today.

They landed in San Francisco from the Orient and boarded the Lark last night. They visited the principal cities and countries of Europe and then returned to California via the Orient.

At the United Artists' studios it was said yesterday they will begin preparation for their new pictures within a short time.

WURLITZER BUILDING IN NEW HANDS

Andrews Company Buys Property on Broadway as Realty Investment

The Wurlitzer Building and property at 814-18 South Broadway was sold yesterday for a consideration of $1,250,000 to the New York Finance Corporation, a concern engaged in the real-estate investment business. The sale was negotiated by the Charles G. Andrews Company represented by H. R. Monroe of the business property department.

The property has a frontage of fifty feet on Broadway and is 153 feet deep. It is improved with a Class A twelve-story building with basement and mezzanine floor. Rudolph H. Wurlitzer was the seller. The acceptance of the northeast corner of Santa Monica avenue and Ocean avenue, Santa Monica, valued at $200,000 and the balance in cash and mortgage was reported.

The Wurlitzer Company of California has taken a five-year lease on the portion of the building it now occupies, the basement and approximately four floors. The remainder of the structure is devoted to a number of concerns engaged in the garment industry.

Sale of the property is declared to have been due to the purchaser foreseeing a continuous increase in values in this district as evidenced by the recent completion near-by of the Platt Music Company limit-height building, the May Company limit-height addition, the Clune lim limit-height addition, the Clune limit-height building and the commencement of construction work on the Eastern Outfitting Building at Ninth and Broadway.

AVILA ADOBE RESCUING BRINGS INJUNCTION ROW

Declaring that the formation of a $1,000,000 corporation to exploit the "Spanish atmosphere" of Olvera street in the vicinity of the old Avila adobe house harms the value of her property, in the vicinity, Mrs. Constance D. Simpson yesterday filed a plea for an injunction against the recent city ordinance closing Olvera street between Macy and Marchessault street to traffic and asks a further injunction against planting trees in the street and paving it with tile unsuited to sustain vehicular traffic.

Mrs. Simpson names as defendants besides the city and its officials, the Plaza de Los Angeles Corporation, which, according to an exhibit in the case, is capitalized at $1,000,000; Mrs. Christine Sterling, 910 North Serrano street, named as promoter of the enterprise, and Earl Peterson, a contractor, now said to be engaged in planting palm trees in a street suitable only for light industrial uses and the purposes of Mexican retail trade.

A letter written by Mrs. Sterling to the City Council, proposing that Olvera street be closed to traffic, is appended as an exhibit to the complaint, which was prepared by Attorney J. Wiseman Macdonald. This letter says Mexicans in costume will sell wares to tourists and that coffee will be served on tables on the sidewalks. It stated that funds are available to complete the project as a money-making proposition and that the promoters are ready to lease the store of an property owner on the street. The street is not necessary for loading and unloading, it was stated, because all stores have entrances on other thoroughfares.

Mrs. Simpson's complaint states that on September 3 the City Council passed the ordinance closing Olvera street to traffic, despite a pe-

LEVIES GET COUNCIL'S APPROVAL

Assessments Confirmed for Three Improvements; Appeal Hearings Delayed

The City Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Hamel Road from Alden Drive to Third street, the improvement of Vermont avenue from Beverly Boulevard to Fourth street, and the improvement of Avenue 67 from Church to Hough streets.

Hearing of appeals against the assessments for the improvement of Burton Way between La Cienega and Robertson boulevards was continued until next Tuesday, and appeals against the assessments for the improvement of the Soto street and Lugo-street district were continued until Wednesday.

The hearing of protests against the opening and widening of Flower street from Washington to Thirty-eighth streets was continued until April 1, next, as litigation concerning the improvement will come up in March.

The ordinance abandoning the proceedings for the widening of Fifty-fourth street from Normandie to Western avenues was continued for consideration until March 3.

Postoffice Here Shows December Business Gain

Postoffice receipts for Los Angeles increased 10.20 per cent during December of 1929 as compared with the same month in 1928, it was stated yesterday by Postmaster O'Brien.

The postmaster stated that the receipts for December, 1929, were $1,411,357.72, compared with $1,280,718.31 for the same month in 1928.

PROCEEDINGS DELAYED

Because the ordinance failed to gain a unanimous vote under suspension of the rules, the proceedings for vacating a sliver of land at the intersection of Western avenue and Fourth street was continued yesterday until next Thursday by the City Council.

NEVADANS SEE DAM SOLUTION

Gov. Balzar Predicts Pact at Phoenix Session

He Says His State Has No Quarrel Over Water

Secretary Greathouse Wants Boulder Work Speeded

A solution to interstate argument over the question of the allocation of water and power of the proposed Boulder Dam was predicted here yesterday by two of Nevada's leading citizens, Gov. Balzar and Secretary of State Greathouse.

Gov. Balzar was in Los Angeles after participating in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena. He and Mrs. Balzar left last night for Carson City. Secretary Greathouse is visiting at the home of his daughter here, Mrs. H. W. Spiers, wife of Dr. Spiers, 857 South Windsor Boulevard.

"I think that all differences of opinion will be settled when the meeting of the Lower Basin States —California, Arizona and Nevada— is held in Phoenix on the 20th inst.," Gov. Balzar declared before he left.

POWER SHARE SOUGHT

"Nevada has no quarrel with anyone over the Federal government's proposed allocation of water from the Colorado River, but my State will maintain its claim for one-third of the power developed."

Gov. Balzar marched nine miles in the Tournament of Roses parade as a part of the contingent that represented Caliente, Nev.

"I was immensely pleased with both the parade and the football game," he said. "But today I am tenderly nursing a pair of tired feet."

WANTS FEDERAL ACTION

If the various States fail to agree on a concert of action, the Federal government should take over the construction of Boulder Canyon Dam and impartially allocate the power and water that will be developed by the dam, Secretary Greathouse said.

"The great advantages to accrue from the Boulder Canyon Dam seem about to be lost or at least delayed for considerable time by relatively petty disagreements among the various States involved," said Secretary Greathouse. "I think that eventually an agreement will be worked out. However, if it is not forthcoming within a reasonable time I hope the Federal government will take a hand in the matter, build the dam and then allocate its resources. After all, the completion of the dam, the largest development project before the American people, is greater than the desires of any one State.

DELAYS PROSPERITY

"Arizona seems to feel that she is not getting her fair share. I am not prepared to pass upon that question. But I do know that the longer the building of the dam is delayed, just so much longer is that great prosperity that is due the great Southwest delayed. The way we folk in Nevada feel about it is that everything that is to the advantage of Southern California also reacts to the advantage of Nevada. A certain percentage of tourists coming to California pass through our State. The more who come the larger that percentage will be. I say let's get Boulder Dam as quick as we can. We can argue about it after it is built just as easily as before, but the main thing is to get it done."

Secretary Greathouse predicts a prosperous year for his home State. Business conditions there, he said, are good, particularly in the cattle industry. Development of underground water resources, he believes, means increased wealth and population for the State. Boulder Dam means power to develop Nevada's natural resources, especially mineral deposits, which will encourage various manufacturing plants. Las Vegas, the Secretary thinks, will become an outstanding city in the West.

GOOD BOOSTERS HERE

"As a booster organization, however, I hand the medals to your Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce," declared Greathouse. "It has the valuable faculty of uniting all Southern California in favor of the things it goes after—and it gets

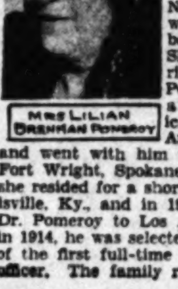
MRS. POMEROY'S RITES SET

Funeral Services for County Health Officer's Wife to be Conducted Tomorrow at Monrovia

Funeral services for Mrs. Lilian Brennan Pomeroy, wife of Dr. John L. Pomeroy, Los Angeles county health officer, will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p.m. at the Episcopal Church at Monrovia. Interment will be at the Monrovia Mausoleum. The body will lie in state all day today in the chapel of the Taylor & Renaker funeral parlors, Monrovia.



MRS LILIAN BRENNAN POMEROY

Mrs. Pomeroy died early Wednesday morning at the Monrovia Hospital after a week's illness. Her husband and son, Stanley Pomeroy, were at the bedside when she died. She was the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. George Marsden Brennan of New York City, where she was born in 1888. She was married to Dr. Pomeroy, then a young medical officer in the Army, in 1907, and went with him to his post at Fort Wright, Spokane, Wash. Later she resided for a short time in Louisville, Ky., and in 1910 came with Dr. Pomeroy to Los Angeles where in 1914, he was selected for the post of the first full-time county health officer. The family residence is at 260 South Mariposa avenue. In addition to her husband and son, Mrs. Pomeroy leaves two sisters, Mrs. Ada Deane Tanner of Monrovia and Mrs. Hugh Hallenbeck of New York City.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

FATHER RICARD seems to have reneged on our January rain. He told me—a week or two ago at Santa Clara—that we would have rains in January and that our rainfall will be almost normal before the winter is over. Evidently the sun spots have been performing since then.

HAIL AND FAREWELL

I dare say—in accordance with the usual custom—the new Chief of Police will be given a gold badge. I suggest that it be engraved with these appropriate words:

"Walk—not run—to the nearest exit."

Whether he does well or badly, his fate will be the same as the fate of all other Los Angeles chiefs of police.

THE AMERICAN GAME

Movie scenario writers have become hopelessly out of date. The next time an American football hero wins the heart of a foreign princess, in a film story, his name ought to be some good old American name that we will all recognize as going with the game—like Walinchus or DiMeolo or Uansa.

LOST HIGHBROWS

The next time a party of young university highbrows goes into the mountains it would be well to tie bells around their necks. Their genius for getting lost is so great that they even lose the rescue parties who find them.

It is simply pitiful to see how modern citified people have lost all natural instincts. Fancy an Indian boy getting lost in a canyon within walking distance of one of the most heavily traveled trails in the world.

The Apaches tell me that a part of the education of every boy, at the age of 10, is to recognize landmarks. Approaching a landmark, he stops at a distance of two miles to examine every detail of its appearance. Then he walks a quarter of a mile nearer and makes another examination—and so on until he comes to it. Having passed it, he turns at every quarter-mile until it vanishes from sight. Apache scouts say that white people get lost so easily because they only look at landmarks from one vantage point. Unless they see it again from exactly the same spot, it means nothing as a guide.

LAND OF PROMISE

The steadying down of Mexico ought to mean much to Los Angeles. With a President who has no anti-gringo manias and with new, sane land laws, Mexico ought to leap forward commercially.

It is a land of almost incredible and magical richness of resources. Especially the west coast (our near neighbor) is a veritable treasure trove. Unless we are asleep at the switch our prosperity will be joined to theirs.

Had the joyous traveling San Francisco Supervisors gone to see something in Mexico other than the roulette tables of Agua Caliente, their expense accounts would have been a good investment for the city at the Golden Gate.

HOW OLD IS DINIE?

The age of the playful dinosaur seems to be as dubious as the age of the proverbial old maid. A complete skeleton found in Morocco is estimated as of the vintage of 300,000 years ago. Dinosaur tracks found between two

EARLE ASSERTS PEACH DROPPED

Artist Denies Proposal to Dolores Salazar

Deposition Filed to Answer Suit for $180,000

He Disclaims Avowal of "Free Love" Creed

Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the expatriate American artist, who long ago won for himself the sobriquet of "Affinity" Earle, added another colorful metaphor to the somewhat florid story of his marital career when he filed in Superior Judge Keetch's court a deposition to the effect that Dolores Salazar, film actress who sued him for $180,000, "dropped into his lap like a ripe peach."

Earle, who is now living with his fourth wife, went on to say that the only woman to whom he ever proposed marriage, was his fourth wife. He explained that "there is such a thing as spontaneous agreement without proposal."

In the course of his questioning, Earle took occasion to deny that he ever used the word "affinity" as applied to a woman except to his wife. He denied also that he was an apostle of "free love as it is commonly understood."

PROPOSAL DENIED

Miss Salazar, whose willingness to love him, Earle compared to the descent of a ripe peach, asserted that Earle promised to marry her in Paris. This the defendant denied, saying that at the time he first met her, he was not divorced.

"Miss Salazar was so lovely, and seemed so refined, and helpless and abused, that I was rather inclined than otherwise, to smile at her," said Earle.

"FALLING" FEIGNED

"So the first time you smiled at Miss Salazar, she fell for you?" asked the next question in the deposition, which was taken in Paris by agents of Attorney Roger Marchetti, for Miss Salazar, and Sam Steelman, for Earle.

"I don't think she fell, but she feigned to," was the reply.

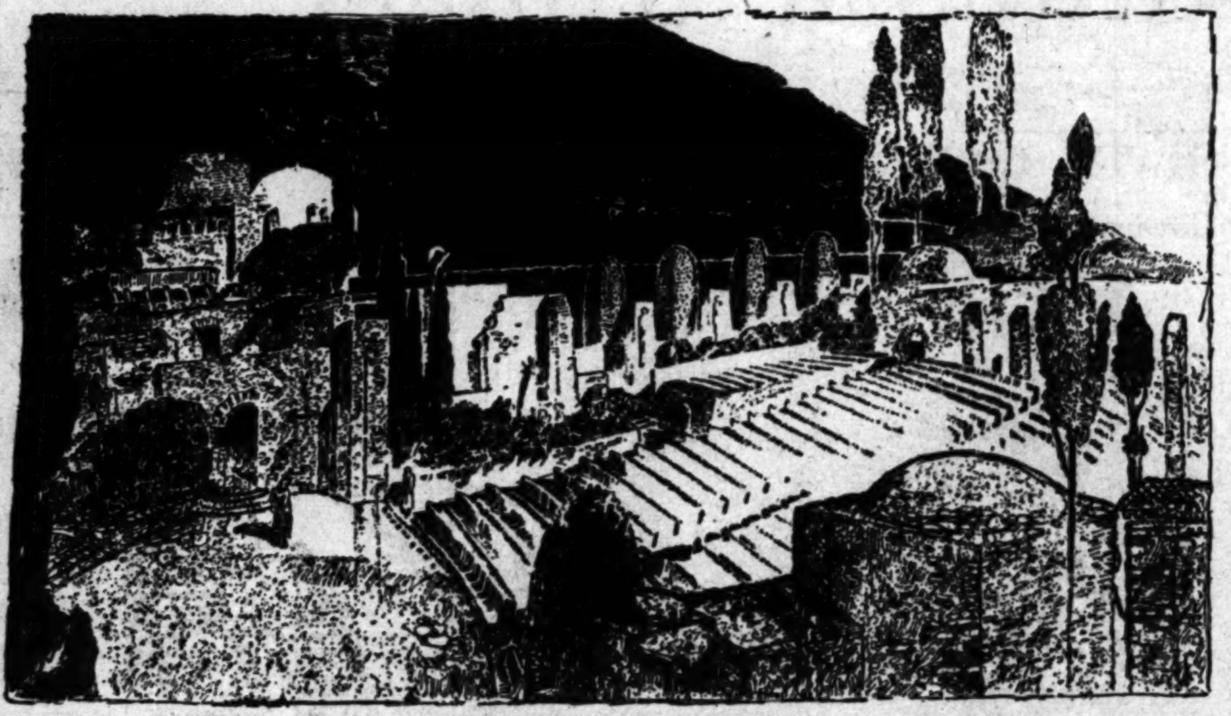
Earle said he lived with Miss Salazar in 1927, and later took her to Paris.

CHEF WYMAN TO GIVE INTERESTING RECIPES

Although the menu at the Los Angeles Times' Cooking School at 130 South Broadway today is comprised chiefly of recipes which have been requested by members of the class, it will be of interest to nearly everyone interested in cooking for the request recipes are avocado cocktail, date frosting, boiled salad dressing and sugar cookies. In addition, Chef Wyman will prepare a fish stuffed with oysters and demonstrate an unusual salad, a jellied apple salad made with jellied mayonnaise.

The Times invites everyone to be its guest at this class, which is at 2 o'clock.

Splendid Structure for Sacred Drama to Rise on Ruins



Sketch Shows Beauty of Proposed Edifice

Architect William Lee Woollett's drawing from his lately completed plans for the new Pilgrimage Play amphitheater in the hills of Hollywood gives an idea of the building that will replace the theater destroyed by a brush fire several months ago.

RECREATION HEAD PLANS RESIGNATION

Supt. Hjelte Probably Will Accept Position in New York State

Offered an important position by Wetchester county, New York, with an increase in salary over the $7500 a year he now receives as superintendent of the Playground and Recreation Department of Los Angeles, George Hjelte yesterday stated that he probably will accept.

Hjelte, who has been four years with the city, formerly was superintendent of recreation for Berkeley and before that was assistant superintendent of physical culture for the State Board of Education. Since he came to the Los Angeles position there has been an increase from nine to thirty-seven playgrounds, during which he has gained a reputation as one of the leading playground experts in America.

He stated that Westchester county has an area of 440 square miles, including Yonkers, White Plains, Bronxville and Mt. Vernon, in which one of the finest systems of parks and boulevards in the world are declared to have been established. He said that he probably will hand in his resignation to the Playground and Recreation Commission next week. His present position is not under civil service and the appointment is in the hands of the commission.

BUILDING PLANS COMPLETE

Pilgrimage Play Amphitheater Construction Details Prepared by Architect Woollett

Architect's plans for the new Pilgrimage Play amphitheater were completed yesterday by William Lee Woollett. The plans call for a structure to cost $200,000 and to seat 1800 persons. Building will start soon on the ruins of the old structure, which was destroyed during a brush fire that swept that section of Hollywood Hills October 24, last.

The new building is to be of concrete, fireproof and of quality which will endure as long as the hills upon which it is to be built, according to plans of the Pilgrimage Play Association, of which George L. Eastman is president.

High walls and the planting of trees and dense shrubbery will eliminate objectionable features of the old theater. Heretofore at times street noises and music from Hollywood Bowl would interfere with the production.

Architect Woollett's plans call for a structure Palestinian in design, Biblical and historical features combined with the charm of Hollywood hills, together with all the art of the modern theater. A heating system will keep the temperature from seven to ten degrees warmer than outside the walls. Elevators are to carry spectators from street to theater floor level.

If the necessary funds are obtained in the next few days construction is to get under way by February 1, next. A campaign for funds now is in progress and subscriptions may be sent to Pilgrimage Play headquarters, 839 South Flower street.

The Biblical drama was founded ten years ago by the late Christine Wetherill Stevenson and has been given without interruption every summer since that time. It's eleventh consecutive season is to begin in July, providing the new amphitheater is complete by that date.

Hyde has withdrawn the resignation. Had he not done so, it was pointed out, he would have been out of office yesterday, whether the resignation was accepted or not, and his motion for the displacement of Shaw would have been illegal.

HIS QUALIFICATIONS

The new appointee is 65 years of age. The account of his qualifications, as set forth by Commissioner Hyde, starts with his graduation from Penn College, Iowa. He was also a graduate student at Berkeley, with the terminal railway at San Pedro, five years professor of mathematics at Pacific College, Newberg, Or.; four years president of Whittier College, three years instructor of engineering at Berkeley, two years City Engineer of Whittier, fifteen years in the engineering department of the city of Berkeley, ten years as City Engineer.

He was in France for a year during the war, engaged in hut construction and salvage for the Y. M. C. A.

He was one year in the State Engineer's office, working on the water resources problem and was two years consulting engineer for Imperial county highways. For the past seven years he has maintained engineering offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Commissioner Hyde's account states Jessup has specialized in sewage and garbage handling, as well as other municipal functions.

Lately he has been working for street bonding companies. He is a director and past president of the City and County Engineers' Association of this county. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

SHAW IN STATEMENT

Maj. Shaw last night issued a statement in connection with his removal in which he charged that Commissioner Hyde last Saturday asked for his resignation with the alternative of being removed.

In the statement Shaw detailed the conference between himself and Hyde on December 28, in which his removal was forecast. It also was pointed out that Hyde admitted that he was aware of the vast amount of constructive work that had been accomplished in the four and one-half years of administration, and offered Shaw a good recommendation if he would resign voluntarily.

"I stated to Mr. Hyde," the Shaw statement says, "that this was a great shock to me and entirely unexpected as I had had no intimation that my services to the city of Los Angeles were anything else than satisfactory."

At the conclusion of the conference, the statement says, Shaw asked if any complaints had been received or criticism made of his services. "Mr. Hyde stated that no one of any responsibility had ever spoken of me in any other than the very highest terms," Shaw says, "and I stated that I would like to have sufficient time to properly consider the matter, to which he acquiesced."

SUDDEN ACTION

In telling of the suddeness of the decision to remove him, Shaw pointed out that on last Tuesday evening, Hyde called him to his office and repeated again that the resignation must be given, and unless in hand by Thursday morning, the office would be declared vacant and a successor named.

"Naturally, I gave the matter very careful consideration," the statement says. "I had to decide whether or not I should follow the line of least resistance and submit my resignation to the board or be loyal to the city of Los Angeles. I reached the conclusion that in deference to my profession as an engineer, to the confidence of the property owners of this city and the staff in my office I should not take the easy course and resign. This was my duty as I saw it."

The statement gives figures on the work Shaw has handled during his incumbency, and suggests some of the changes he had in mind for the coming year. One of these is the creation of a sanitary division to include the collection and disposal of garbage and refuse and street cleaning.

In closing Shaw says: "I trust that the Board of Public Works and my successor will put through these and other needed changes which are in the interests of the taxpayers of this city."

DRIVER DIES WHEN TRUCK OVERTURNS

Woman Victim of Hit-Run Motorist and Boy Hurt in Crash Go to Hospitals

Crashing through a parapet of the East Florence-avenue bridge last night, S. A. Harper, a truck driver, was crushed to death under his overturned truck. He was 30 years of age, lived at 1161½ South Ditman street, and was employed as a driver for the Simmons Brick Company. He tried to pass another automobile while approaching the bridge over the Los Angeles River, struck the parapet, and went through it, the truck capsizing on him as it struck the river bank. The body was sent to the morgue.

Two persons yesterday were suffering from serious injuries as the result of automobile accidents late New Year's Day, according to Sheriff's office reports.

Asserted to have been the victim of a hit-and-run motorist, Mrs. J. Gould, 555 Oakford Drive, Belvedere, is in the General Hospital suffering with possible concussion of the brain and compound fractures of both legs after being struck at the intersection of Atlantic Boulevard and Hubbard street, according to the report.

Erving Hubbard, 13 years of age, of 1248 North Fairfax avenue, is in the California Lutheran Hospital with serious head injuries as the result of a collision between a car driven by his father, George S. Hubbard, and one driven by Fred Woodall, Jr., 119 East Fifty-ninth Place, according to the report. The accident took place at South Broadway and the Riverside-Redondo Boulevard.

NEW ROW OPENS OVER OLD HOUSE

tition of 75 per cent of the property owners of the affected street objecting to such a move.

OTHER ASSERTIONS

It also is asserted that the defendant through her agents, intends to permit the "resurrection" of the old Avila adobe by the use of the most modern building methods and that such "resurrection" will spoil the property for its present uses in Mexican trade and light industry. It further is stated that the Avila adobe is said to have been the headquarters of Gen. Fremont and Commodore Stockton.

Olvera street, it is asserted, was dedicated for public use as a street May 3, 1877. It is 525 feet long, between Macy and Marchessault.

MRS. STERLING'S VIEWS

"Mrs. Simpson's property has been improved by the vacation and paving of Olvera street," Mrs. Christine Sterling said last night. "During the ten months I have been at the Avila adobe she had five vacancies out of the nine stores she owns there. Two of those vacant stores have been rented because we are cleaning up the street and making it attractive and as soon as the paving is completed the tenants will move in. This improvement will enable Mrs. Simpson to double her rents."

That a pile of tin cans stood where the trees have been planted, Mrs. Sterling said could be verified by inquiry in the neighborhood. Drainage water ran through the street and when the application was made to vacate the street four of the seven owners joined in the petition, Mrs. Sterling asserts.

"We had more than 50 per cent of the property owners with us from the start and now every one except Mrs. Simpson is in sympathy with the project," Mrs. Sterling explained. "As for our claim that Kearney and Stockton stopped in the Avila adobe, it is a matter of history that they marched down Olvera street, the only one in the pueblo, and turned in at the adobe. Later, when Gen. Fremont came, he, too, stopped there."

HOSPITAL MAY BECOME JAIL

appeared to be that the County Jail provides facilities for better food by those able and willing to pay for it, which reduces the cost for those fed by the county.

The commission decided that it would be a good policy to make similar arrangements in the proposed new jail for the city.

Dr. Parrish suggested a charge of $5 a day for "room and board" for wealthy prisoners. Commissioner Coe objected to any being allowed pianos. Others stated that it might be a good idea to charge a prisoner for his keep according to the amount of his wealth.

Mayor Porter, Deputy City Attorney Kitzmiller, Health Commissioner Kleinberger, former Chief of Police John Butler, and Chief of Police Steckel attended the conference with the Police Commission.

Eastern Couple Will Wed Today

Herbert Mueller, retired Milwaukee business man, and Miss Elly Meyer, also of the East, will be married at 11 a.m. today at the home of the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Cecil Ketchum, 323 North Mansfield avenue. Rev. John Elger of the Second German Methodist Episcopal Church will officiate.

A wedding breakfast at Elks' Temple will follow. Mueller was a member of the Philip Gross Hardware Company of Milwaukee. The Muellers will make their home in Los Angeles where they have many acquaintances.

LARGER GUARD FORCE ORDERED FOR SCHOOLS

Additional watchmen and guards were ordered for all school houses yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Education. While each structure already is protected by a watchman, additional men are to be employed at once.

"We feel that the alarming reports of depredations in Oakland justify us in taking every precaution to protect school property," J. L. Van Norman, president of the board, said in discussing the order. "There is too much money invested in schools here to leave the buildings unguarded."

Watchmen are required to register in different parts of the buildings at stated intervals, Secretary Sheldon explained. Business Manager Record was instructed to require his men to be on the alert in watching for prowlers.

TRIAL IN DEATH OF WIFE BEGINS

Bolton Goes Before Court on Murder Charge

All of Opening Day Devoted to Selection of Jury

Prosecution Indicates Plea for Supreme Penalty

John Dewey Bolton, Jr., former dance hall operator, yesterday went on trial in Superior Judge Wilson's court on a charge of first-degree murder preferred against him in connection with the shooting November 9, 1929, of his wife, Lucille Grace Bolton.

The entire day was spent in efforts to select a jury, and when court adjourned seven men and five women temporarily were seated in the jury box. Dep. Dist.-Attys. Crail and Curran, prosecuting, indicated in their questioning of prospective jurors that they will ask for a verdict carrying with it the death penalty.

Bolton is asserted to have shot his wife in their automobile on the Roosevelt Highway north of Santa Monica. At the time he told deputy sheriffs Mrs. Bolton had been slain by a bandit who held them up. It is understood the defense will advance this theory at the trial of the case.

The trial will be resumed today.

GOV. YOUNG SAYS KILLER MUST HANG

Executive Clemency to be Refused in Case of Louis Lazarus

There will be no executive clemency for Louis Lazarus, Oakland bank robber and murderer, sentenced to hang at San Quentin this morning.

That was made clear yesterday by Gov. Young in Los Angeles when he was apprised that the mother and sister of George Costello, already hanged for the same crime, intended to make an appeal to the Governor for commutation of the death sentence. Willie O'Brien, a third member of the gang which held up an Oakland bank and killed the cashier, is also under sentence of death.

"I have not received any plea from Costello's mother and sister as yet," the Governor said yesterday, "but I shall reply to it in the same manner that I replied to an Oakland school-teacher who interceded in Lazarus's behalf two weeks ago. At that time I announced that I had read the transcript of the trial of these men for murder, that I was convinced that they were ably represented by counsel, and that the crime, on its face, was an unprovoked and ruthless murder.

"I shall take no action whatever in the matter," Gov. Young declared.

BANDIT PAIR GET $4000; GAG VICTIMS

Robbers Place Rubber Ball in Cafe Manager's Mouth to Silence Him

Two bandits yesterday bound, gagged and robbed the manager and a clerk in Willard's Cafe at 4500 Los Feliz Boulevard while breakfasters were eating in an adjoining room. The robbers escaped with $4000. Their gagging methods, detectives said, resemble those used in the hold-up of the Bureau of Water and Power two years ago.

The robber pair, posing as patrons, approached C. G. Willard and asked for a private word with the manager. Willard led them into his office, where they pressed pistols against him, warning him not to make any outcry, and forced him to open the safe, from which they took the $4000 holiday receipts. Then they bound and gagged him, forcing a rubber ball into his mount and fastening it with adhesive tape.

While they were tying Willard his clerk, James E. Malin, walked into the office. The bandits menaced him with pistols and then left him similarly bound and gagged on the floor beside Willard.

Landreth Starts His New Duties With Gov. Young

HAROLD B. LANDRETH

Harold B. Landreth, Pasadena banker, yesterday assumed his new duties as private secretary to Gov. Young. Mr. Landreth succeeds Keith B. Carlin, who resigned from that post with the expiration of 1929 to become attorney for the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, under Director Collins.

Secretary Landreth entered on his new duties in Los Angeles, where Gov. Young will remain on matters affecting the State until Saturday. Both will leave for Sacramento Saturday night.

SEWER ORDINANCE PASSED

The City Council yesterday adopted the final ordinance for the sewering of the Thirteenth-street and Leland-street district.

RITES FOR FITTS'S AIDE CONDUCTED

Many from Offices of District Attorney Attend F. E. Elliott Funeral

Funeral services for Frank E. Elliott, investigator for the District Attorney's office and father of Howard Elliott, former University of Southern California football star, were conducted yesterday morning from the undertaking parlors of Delmer A. Smith, 731 West Washington street. The chapel services were followed by military rites at the site of the grave at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home Cemetery.

Mr. Elliott, 50 years of age, died last Monday at the Soldiers' Home Hospital following an illness of two weeks.

The services were attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances from the office of the District Attorney, including Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart. The pallbearers were Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and Menzies, Chief and Assistant Chief Investigators O'Brien and Matthews and Investigators Armstrong and Winn.

Pioneer Donates San Pedro Park Grounds to City

Gift of twenty acres for a park site in western San Pedro to the city of Los Angeles by George H. Peck, pioneer realtor, was announced yesterday by Leslie C. Mott, president of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Mott said he was advised the deed was signed December 30, last, transferring the tract to the Park Department. It lies west of Patton avenue, north of O'Farrell street and extends to the projected right of way of the Western avenue extension.

Plans are said to include an outdoor amphitheater, swimming pool, picnic grounds, tennis, basketball and baseball courts and other athletic features.

Taxation of Broadcasting Station Demanded

Declaring that, in his opinion, the public is entitled to know how the 1929 grand jury stood in regard to the radio activities of Rev. R. P. Shuler, Elwood De Garmo, foreman of that body, yesterday issued the following statement:

"I have been asked by newspaper representatives to explain what action, if any, was taken by the 1929 grand jury in connection with the contradictory statements by Rev. R. P. Shuler concerning the ownership of Radio KGEF. The matter was informally discussed by some of the members, but did not come before the jury formally.

SHOULD BE TAXED

"It would be a good thing, in my opinion, if the matter should be entirely cleared up, both for the reason that this radio should be taxed justly and strictly in accordance with any other property, and also, because the rightful ownership should be established beyond question for the purpose of definitely fixing legal and moral responsibility for the frequently false and inflammatory matter sent out over the radio by Shuler.

"There is no advantage in rehashing the incident in which the grand jury officially took action to expose the irresponsible and dangerous gossiping in which Shuler engages. Shuler tried very hard to make it appear that it was a personal attack on him by myself, but the grand jury's rebuke was issued by the jury as a body and was meant not only to inform the public, but to impress Shuler himself with the dangerous methods he has been pursuing.

UNFAIR METHODS USED

"I will say this for the broadcasting minister, he is one of the most unfair public characters I have ever known, and in his fighting tactics he uses methods which the realm of clean sport has long since repudiated and condemned. Los Angeles surely does not need Shuler's type of meddler and spreader of backstairs gossip. I am of the opinion that Shuler will not have long to wait before learning what the people really think of him—and maybe when the unflattering truth seeps in he may be more careful of the damage and the annoyance he gives those whose principal crime, in his eyes, is failure to agree with him.

"As a real force against the activities of the criminal and the underworld character, Shuler is a joke. No one knows this better than those officially charged with law-enforcement responsibilities."

BARBECUE BURGLAR GETS $178 IN SAFE

The discovery that his safe had been robbed was made yesterday morning by the proprietor of the [illegible] Barbecue at 3572 Beverly Boulevard when he opened the place for business. During the night some marauder broke into the place and opened the steel box with a butcher knife and a cleaver, robbing it of $178.

MISUSE OF STATIONERY ADMITTED

Imitation of Politician's Letterhead Carried Pleas to Free Prisoners

Admission that he used imitations of Representative Albert E. Carter's official stationery for parole pleas sent to the State Parole Board was made yesterday by Willis E. Carter, police asserted. Carter is under arrest on charges of burglary, assault with a deadly weapon and suspicion of grand theft. Detectives call him "the brains of the radio gang."

Carter was arrested Tuesday at a Westlake-avenue address, at which time Detective Lieutenant Vail and Luke reported that he tried to shoot his way to freedom, but was overpowered before pulling the trigger of his revolver. A week earlier detectives had arrested John C. Hurst, Philip Valentine and Mrs. Edna Carter as accomplices of the elusive Carter. In his room at 1741 West Sixty-third street, the detectives say, they found a dozen radio sets and a quantity of letterheads bearing the name of Representative Albert E. Carter, Sixth California Congressional District, with an Oakland post-box return card.

Detective Lieutenants Savage, Jameson and Gorman of the Seventy-seventh-street division reported yesterday that Carter admitted to them that he used these letterheads for letters to the Parole Board pleading for release of convict friends in Folsom and San Quentin. He also asserted that he sent genuine letters written by business men to support the parole pleas.

Hurst and Valentine were arraigned yesterday for hearing before Superior Judge Galbreth. Their hearing was postponed until next Thursday, at which time Willis Carter will be arraigned with them on two warrants charging five counts of burglary.

Federal Hands Tied in Case of Gambling Ship

Action by the government to stop the activities of the gambling ship Monfalcone now reported to be anchored a few miles off Huntington Beach in Orange county territory can not be taken, it was stated yesterday by Asst. U.S. Atty. Balter. It was stated that the Coast Guard declines to act as the ship is not anchored in the lines of ocean travel and is not a menace to navigation.

On New Year's eve the Coast Guard boarded the vessel and finding no liquor took no action.

Escaped Convict Arrested Here

Police fingerprint experts yesterday identified Charles Lutman, 23 years of age, arrested December 27, last, as a fugitive wanted for escape from the prison at Canon City, Colo., and wanted in Salt Lake City for grand theft. Lutman, alias W. H. Conway, is being held here for the theft of an automobile which he admitted stealing in Salt Lake City several months ago, police said. He will be held for Colorado authorities on the escape charge.

DOCTOR-EDITOR RAPS QUACKERY

Fishbein Also Directs His Fire at Cultism

Belief in Miracle Cures in Southland Cited

Medical Journal Chief Here on Lecture Tour

Los Angeles is known throughout the medical world as one of the richest stamping grounds in the country for medical quackery and "cultism," according to Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of American Medicine, who is in the city on a lecture tour of the country.

At the same time, Dr. Fishbein pointed out, the general type of scientific medical practice here is good, and among the doctors practicing here are some who are leaders in their fields.

The reason that cultism and quackery have thrived in Los Angeles, he believes, is that in the past the medical laws were not as strict as they now are, and the district has been a sort of haven for old people who have come from the East suffering from all manner of chronic diseases.

"And a person with a chronic disease is willing to try almost anything in an effort to effect a cure," he remarked. "They try any and all things from strange healers to faith cures."

HYSTERICAL CASES

As to cures of all types, he commented upon a recent local case of asserted curing of paralysis and total blindness by hypnotism. "Nothing new in cures effected through hypnotism," he said. "Such cases are common. It is to be noted, however, that where there is a physical defect, that is to say, for instance, paralysis due to disease of some sort, there can be no cure by hypnotism. The person in question merely thought she was blind and paralyzed. She was suffering from what is known as hysterical paralysis. The power of suggestion was used on her."

"You have heard of curing deafness by falling in an airplane. That is a form of hysterical deafness cured by suggestion. But if there is a physical defect in the ear the patient could fall in an airplane from now on and not be cured by the fall."

INFLUENZA GERM

As to the reported isolation of the influenza germ by Dr. I. Falk of the University of Chicago, Dr. Fishbein reiterated his earlier comment that the announcement was premature, that the doctor had not gone any further than others had before him, nor did he claim to have. He isolated the same germ that was isolated in 1918. As a matter of fact, said Dr. Fishbein, the medical profession does not at this time hold out much hope for finding a vaccine for influenza.

One of the subjects which Dr. Fishbein is discussing in his lectures, one of which he gave before the Los Angeles County Medical Association last night, is that of adequate medical care for the middle classes at reasonable cost.

"This is one of the greatest problems confronting the medical profession today," he said. "It is a subject which the profession is taking up and has been the subject of study and report by the committee on the cost of medical care and other bodies.

PLANS PROPOSED

"The problem is being attacked from several angles, some of the outstanding being the establishment of hospitals for middle-class people with fixed maximum fees, such a one as Harvard University has established with the help of the Rosenwald Foundation; insurance schemes in which the individual pays a constant sum for medical care; the practice of industrial organization furnishing medical service for which the employee pays a small fee; teaching hospitals, such as that at the University of Iowa, and so on.

"By the way, I was out to see your new General Hospital. It gives every promise of being a fine place for scientific medical study. It is well laid out, and, on the whole, I don't think there is anything better in the country than this hospital promises to be."

Dr. Fishbein, who is accompanied by Mrs. Fishbein, is staying at the Biltmore and will be in the city until Monday night. Tonight he will lecture before the Oneonta Club in South Pasadena Junior High School, and in Pasadena Monday with two lectures, and before the Jewish Institute Forum Monday night.

NEW DISEASES

The outstanding achievement of American medical science in 1929, Dr. Fishbein believes, is the use of tissues and extracts from tissues in the treatment and cure of human ailments. An extract derived from the tissues of liver is now being indicated in the treatment of pernicious anemia.

A new and different type of spinal meningitis has made its presence known in America. It is of oriental origin, according to medical scientists.

MEDICAL WRITER HITS AT FALLACIES

Dr. Morris Fishbein

Another disease comparatively new to American practitioners is undulant fever, and science is now working out methods of treatment for it. It is not unlike typhoid fever but is more virulent, Dr. Fishbein said, and seems to have a likeness to the Malta fever which laid so many British soldiers low during the Crimean War.

Cancer continues to be one of the unsolved problems confronting medical science. No single cause of the disease has as yet been definitely established. Early diagnosis and surgical removal still are being indicated by doctors, who have established the fact that radium treatment affects cancer unfavorably and is getting a lot of attention from practitioners.

Mortality statistics of the United States are bound to be affected by the stock market debacle of 1929, Dr. Fishbein asserted.

PROFESSION'S GREAT PROBLEM SET FORTH

There is no more important problem before the medical profession today than the high cost of medical care, and that it is far above what the middle class can pay there is no doubt, Dr. Morris Fishbein told a large audience at Patriotic Hall last night. It was an audience almost entirely made up of physicians and surgeons.

Dr. Fishbein outlined the various causes of increased costs in caring for the sick and declared that $2,800,000,000 is spent each year by persons seeking health. Of this vast sum $375,000,000 is spent on patent medicines and quack treatments, characterized by the speaker as absolute waste.

"The education of the people in sound methods of living, and in an understanding that savings accounts should be maintained to provide for medical care when the need for it comes, is the first step in solving this problem," Dr. Fishbein said.

"The public should be made to understand that sickness is inevitable, and that provision should be made for it. The day of the individual practitioner is past. The doctor can give much better service and see many more patients in the hospital than he can when calling at individual homes.

"While the charges in hospitals are well beyond what the average patient can pay and are shown to have increased 66 per cent in the past fifteen years, it also is true that the increase in cost of maintenance to the hospital has been 135 per cent in the same period of time.

"These costs are represented by the X-ray equipment, the costly scientific instruments and the maintenance of modern laboratories, the increased cost of labor and furnishings and the highly improved methods of caring for the sick.

"Nursing alone has become one of the costly items in sickness. Twenty years ago there were 320 nurses graduated in a year. In 1925 there were 18,000 graduate nurses and in 1950 that number will have been increased to 65,000 graduates annually. The cost of a day and night nurse is $15.50 daily. That service is out of the reach of the middle-class man," Dr. Fishbein pointed out.

It is not the doctor, who has paid from $15,000 to $20,000 for his medical training, who reaps the largest return from the cost of being sick, the speaker said. These men have given years to education and added other years to specialization in their particular fields, and of the billions spent in search of health only a comparatively small portion goes to the physician.

JUDGE CRAIG SITS ON APPEALS BENCH

Judge Craig, who, with the closing of the year 1929 retired as presiding judge of the Los Angeles Superior Court, yesterday assumed his duties as justice pro tem. in Division One of the Second District Court of Appeals here.

Justice Craig's term on the Appellate Court bench will run until March 31, next, and he will be associated with Presiding Justice Conrey and Justices York and Houser.

SIX CHARGED WITH FRAUD

Widow Asserts They Mulcted Her of $14,000 Since Last September in Fake Land Deals

Declaring that she has been defrauded of approximately $14,000 since last September in land deals, Mrs. A. J. Fleckstein, a widow, of 907 South Orange Drive, yesterday swore out a grand theft complaint against six persons.

Later Gerard Remington, attorney, his wife, Mrs. Grace Remington, and Dr. Maurice Zimmerman, dentist, three of the persons accused by Mrs. Fleckstein, were arraigned on charges before Municipal Judge Ambrose and their preliminary hearing set for the 7th inst.

Mrs. Remington was released on her own recognizance and bail was set at $20,000 for Dr. Zimmerman and $5000 for Remington. George W. Densley, and Bruno DuBain, real estate dealers, and the latter's wife, Mrs. Elaine DuBain, of 451 Crescent Heights Boulevard, also named by Mrs. Fleckstein, have not yet been arrested.

According to Mrs. Fleckstein, she met the DuBains in September, last, through mutual interest in oriental rug collecting. Some time later, she told Dep. Dist.-Atty. Cooper, they told her they, with Densley, were forming a syndicate to purchase 51,000 acres of land near Phoenix, Ariz. On four different occasions, she said, she purchased deeds for parcels of the land from them, which later proved worthless. She also purchased from Dr. Zimmerman an option on a business building on West Sixth street here, she said, which is also valueless. Remington's only connection with the affair, according to Cooper, was that he attended to the legal details of the deals.

PARK BODY EYES OWN OIL CHANCE

Discovery at Venice Beach Awakens Interest

Playground Acres May be Scene of Drilling

Hjelte to Ascertain City's Rights in Matter

The Playground and Recreation Commission yesterday, at the suggestion of Commissioner McCulloch, directed Supt. Hjelte to find out what rights the playground department may have in oil discovered at the Venice Beach, in case the district back of the beach is reclassified and thrown open for drilling.

Hjelte informed the board that petitions are being circulated by property owners for the reclassification of the district as the result of the 5500-barrel well brought in recently near the beach by the Ohio Oil Company, and that the City Planning Commission is to conduct a hearing on the 10th inst.

Should the area back of the beach be thrown open to oil production, Hjelte stated, it will destroy the value of the beach for recreation purposes.

In such a case, Commissioner McCulloch said, it might be to the advantage of the playground department to obtain revenue from wells on that portion of the beach which could no longer be used for recreation.

The commission directed Hjelte to be present at the hearing before the City Planning Commission and asked him to ascertain from City Attorney Werner what the city's rights would be on the question, what reversionary rights to the oil would be to former owners of the land now held by the city and whether the revenue to be derived would warrant granting leases.

Salesman Found Dead From Shot Believed Suicide

J. Porter Rambaud, jewelry salesman of Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday was found dead in his automobile on Wright Road, Lynwood, the victim of a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head, according to a Sheriff's office report. In one hand the dead man clutched a note expressing the wish that Mrs. Loris Rambaud, believed to be his widow, or Milton Turpin, his brother-in-law, both of 1644 North Kingsley Drive, Los Angeles, be notified. Deputy sheriffs stated Rambaud probably had been dead since New Year's Day. The body is at the Victor H. Limber mortuary, Lynwood.

Today's Bible Text

I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. God is not the God of the dead, but of the living. St. Matthew, xxii:32

AN INFORMAL TRIANGLE

When a lady preacher officiates at the wedding of her divorced husband to another divorcee it shows that harmony prevails. It may be an odd tangle, but it is not an affair of pistols or fireworks.

DYE TO LIVE

An agricultural experiment station reports definite progress in gilding the lily—at least dyes have been used to change the colors of flowers as they grow and the pink bluebell is just as plausible as the green carnation. If the shades of our blooms may be automatically altered my lady's garden will carry the tints of the season's fashions.

STEALING THE STYLES

Designers of gowns in Paris claim that piratical methods are used in filching their ideas. Some of their mannikins have been chloroformed and captured while their gowns and wraps are copied. Styles are successfully stolen before they have actually been made up. There is robbery right and left. It leaves the designers in feverish temper and they are wondering what they can do about it. An outsider can hardly understand why they can be so fussy about it. There is no patent on the arrangement of materials for a dress. Also most of this Paris stuff looks a bit punk to a bozo who is accustomed to running about in Hollywood. It looks like a lot of fury over a dish of tea.

STEALING SNOW

During recent inclemencies in the East the snow had to be removed from the pavements in the cities and carted off to the waterfront in large trucks covered with tarpaulins. In Chicago the driver of one of these loads stopped for a few minutes to make a call at a packing-house. When he came out the truck and its load were gone. Some thief had driven it off in the belief that he was getting a year's supply of meat. Later the truck with its snowy load was found standing by the roadside several miles away. The robber must have had a fine kick out of it when he found that he had been scooting off with a couple of tons of fresh snow. Whittier's poem would not have made any sort of a hit under those circumstances.

THE TRAFFIC PROBLEM

The terrible toll of twenty-two deaths from traffic accidents in four days, bringing the December total for Los Angeles county to 99, creates a problem demanding most earnest attention. Records at the Coroner's office indicate that excessive speed, reckless driving and driving while intoxicated are major causes of these mortalities. It is, therefore, a human and not a mechanical problem. In other words, while motor cars have been perfected, drivers have not improved, either in judgment or in capability.

While expert drivers can and do use speed in safety, there are entirely too many nonexperts and the conclusion seems inescapable that speed must be curbed to a rate that is reasonably safe for the nonexpert, which means pretty radically. This is unjust to good drivers, but the only alternative that suggests itself is some means of clearing poor drivers off the streets by a wholesale campaign of license suspension and cancellation, a very difficult matter under the present law.

The indiscriminate jailing of speeders which has been tried here intermittently unquestionably reduces accidents and makes drivers more careful for the time being, though the other evils it brings in its train are such that it is usually given up after a few weeks. But discriminate jail sentences for speeders and jail without discrimination for reckless drivers and drunk drivers, might do better.

A considerably enlarged force of traffic officers will be needed to carry out such a campaign at one end, and at the other the wise selection of trial magistrates who will give both the law and the offender a square deal. The one problem is in the hands of the Police Commission and City Council, the other in those of the presiding judge of Municipal Court. No judge who does not himself drive a car should be picked for such duty.

MOCKING CIVIL SERVICE

A few years ago when the voters of Los Angeles placed the office of Chief of Police in the classified civil service, they thought they had divorced the post from politics. Later, when they had beaten decisively at the polls a proposal to permit civil service employees to be reduced in rank, they thought they had buttressed the merit system. They now discover, to their chagrin, that politicians are able to evade both these provisions with ease and dispatch. The voters have been outguessed, outwitted and outmaneuvered; the protection the city charter gives to good officials is grossly insufficient.

To be sure, it gives more protection than the old system did. Then the politicians could not only get out the man they wanted out, but could replace him with a man of their choice. In the demotion of Chief of Police Davis they have merely put out the man who stood in their way. His successor is not the man they want, from all appearances, but they have set an example which will make this incumbent wary of exhibiting any independence.

Indeed, the proof which has been afforded of the insecurity in their places of men who do their duty and who decline to play politics, is likely to have serious effects in all the city departments. If the Chief of Police can be summarily displaced no city employee is safe, from the highest to the humblest, and every city employee must get into politics up to his neck to protect himself. This is the situation which the so-called merit system was invented to prevent, and which it does prevent when it is fairly administered.

In view of the legal talent which advised the various moves by which Chief Davis was ousted, it is unlikely that the letter of the law was infringed. Its spirit was torn to shreds and trampled under foot. Had Davis insisted upon a hearing and trial, it would have been accorded him; but he was told plainly in advance that three of his judges were pledged to vote against him no matter what evidence was produced. Under such circumstances, his trial, while observing the form, would have been a farce, and he can hardly be blamed for yielding to the inevitable.

Had the chief been a grafter, he would either have had plenty of money to put up a legal fight or would have known where he could get it. But Chief Davis, being honest, had nothing to fall back upon but the modest reserve of his savings from a small salary and there was no one whom he could force to come to his aid.

An amendment to the city charter which will assure any and every civil service employee a fair trial, an honest hearing and protection against political attacks is a very urgent need. How it should be phrased requires careful consideration; it could be made too drastic. In New York City, for example, the ousting of a civil-service employee is next to impossible. To get rid of Chief of Police Devery, the last man to wear that title, it was necessary to obtain legislation abolishing his office, though he was a proved grafter, and many a grafting policeman has been reinstated through the courts with full pay for the time he was temporarily off the force. But Los Angeles, at the present time, seems too near to the opposite extreme.

Chief Davis was ousted by a process akin to lynching. The charges against him were pure pretense, as the men who insisted upon them admitted by permitting his retention in the department. The man who brought the first lot of them should not even have been listened to by any fair-minded commission; he was, and is, a propertyless, jobless, irresponsible, nontaxpaying, nonresident alien, without any conceivable right to be interested in Los Angeles affairs. The whole affair was as sorry a piece of rotten politics as has ever come to public notice in this city—rotten, clumsy and brutal.

It should not be repeated and adequate safeguards to prevent its repetition are required if the whole force of city employees is not to become demoralized. These safeguards should be provided as promptly as possible; they cannot become effective within a year or two at best, but it is not too early to begin thinking about the best form in which to cast them.

Los Angeles needs a good chief of police, and its needs him sufficiently assured of a permanent position so that he will not be afraid to function efficiently. San Francisco years ago placed her chief beyond the reach at least of petty politics, and gets excellent police service as a result. This city will have to follow suit or suffer the consequences—consequences which may prove very serious.

KNOW YOUR MOUNTAINS

After a search of more than sixty hours the college girl and her two companions, lost in the wilderness of our near-by mountains, were discovered some four miles from the Mt. Wilson Hotel, and what for a while had all the aspects of tragic adventure has ended happily for the young hikers and their anxious families and friends. While there is general rejoicing over the return of the wanderers and general congratulations for their rescuers, it were well for all who enjoy the freedom of our mountains to remember that they are as dangerous to the inexperienced city-bred pedestrian as are the streets of the city to one who has spent his life in the backwoods far from automobiles and traffic signals.

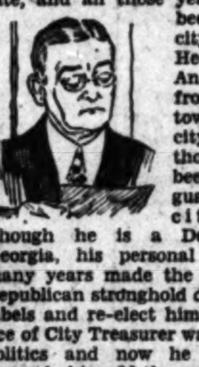
No one unconversant with mountain technic should wander from the beaten trails as many city dwellers do, attracted by the ever-varying beauty of the vistas revealed by glimpses of wooded canyons or the vantage ground of some far-off knoll or peak. Such as these after a few twists and turns may find themselves hopelessly confused and lose all sense of direction, especially if they have neglected to provide themselves with a compass and are not adept at getting their bearings by sun measurements. Nature has her signs for the mountaineer and the backwoodsman, but he has to learn them by long practice just as an expert motorist has to learn the rules for threading city traffic.

A stranger to the locality may easily be lost within a few miles of a mountain hotel or a traveled State highway, once he passes from civilization and takes chances with the unsign-posted expanse of hillside, brush and maze of slopes and defiles. For his own sake he should take no such chances, no less than for the sake of those who may be put to large expense and trouble to save him from his own foolhardiness. In the case of the trio lost on Mt. Wilson, airplanes, forest rangers, Boy Scouts and Federal, State and county forces had to be summoned for rescue work and the suspense was widespread. But if other mountain hikers take warning from the incident, the lesson will be worth while.

LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

WHEN City Treasurer Ned T. Powell wished Mayor Porter a happy New Year it marked the thirty-first consecutive year he had stepped into the Mayor's office to perform that rite, and all those years Powell has been part of the city government. He has seen Los Angeles grow from a straggly town to a great city, and most of those years has been the chief guardian of the city's finances.



Though he is a Democrat from Georgia, his personal standing for many years made the voters of this Republican stronghold disregard party labels and re-elect him, until the office of City Treasurer was taken out of politics and now he automatically succeeds himself through administration after administration. It would take a battery of adding machines to figure up how much money he has made for the city during his tenure of office through interest on public funds. When he entered the office as a deputy the city's funds could be kept in a small safe, but now the city's deposits often amount to more than $50,000,000. And the banks, of course, pay the city interest on daily balances.

Smutty Greeting Cards

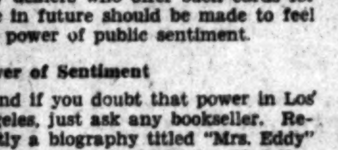
There was one new idea noticeable in the recent holiday season which disgusted even us, and that was the appearance of smutty greeting cards. Any dealers who offer such cards for sale in future should be made to feel the power of public sentiment.

Power of Sentiment

And if you doubt that power in Los Angeles, just ask any bookseller. Recently a biography titled "Mrs. Eddy" was put out, of which the Christian Scientists disapproved. They didn't do anything about it, but their disapproval was apparent. Now there is said to be only one bookstore in town which displays the book.

Red Badge of Courage

You see this streak upon my breast,
So livid and incarnadine?
I carry it with grief suppressed—
Yes, friend, an old affair of mine.



When she delivered it I swooned,
The blow almost caused my demise,
This thing which looks so like a wound
Is one of this year's Yuletide ties.

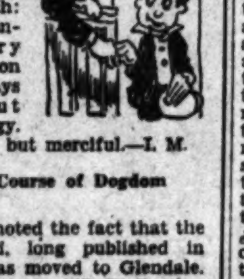
Favors Justice Tempered by Mercy

Leeside: A squeakie just released shows a man acquitted by a jury for murdering an ambitious saxophone player. This is wrong. I would give a saxofiend the same kind consideration we so often show ax and gun-wielding murderers—or, at least, nearly as much: Life imprisonment, solitary confinement on national holidays and without benefit of clergy.



Let us be just, but merciful.—I. M.

Westward the Course of Dogdom Takes Its Way

Recently we noted the fact that the Medical Herald, long published in Kansas City, has moved to Glendale. Now comes a letter from D. W. Buttles, editor of the Kennel Review, for thirty-two years published in the same printing house which formerly published the Medical Herald, informing us that that journal also has moved to California, and also is to be published in Glendale.

The general magazines may be a little slow in realizing the advantages of Los Angeles as a publishing center, but the moving of these two nationally circulated specialized magazines shows that the idea is growing.

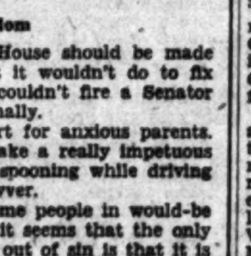
Firing at Random

The White House should be made fireproof. But it wouldn't do to fix things so we couldn't fire a Senator or two occasionally.

Some comfort for anxious parents. It's going to take a really impetuous lover to start spooning while driving an airplane flivver.

Observing some people in would-be smart society, it seems that the only thrill they get out of sin is that it is so expensive.

Wouldn't wonder if it was some wise old horse that first figured it out that a filly's neigh means yes.



Many a married couple have lived together for forty years without a single cross word—puzzle.

Gen. Bouquet has been executed in Mexico. No flowers, we assume.

Don't be bluffed by size. Many a cat which can whip two dogs allows itself to be treed by one.

PUSH IT ALONG

Early construction of the new State Building in the Civic Center area is now made possible by the decision of Judge Yankwich, refusing to enjoin the Supervisors from completing the purchase of the site which they have selected at First and Spring streets. This is desirable for a number of reasons. The State needs the building as soon as it can be finished; men need the employment the construction of such a building will furnish—these are two of them.

The decision also permits the Supervisors to go ahead with their plans for a new county courthouse, for which the area between First and Temple streets, Broadway and Hill street, is the logical place. Supervisor Graves not long ago pointed out that the need for this building is becoming pressing. The county is paying rent in the City Hall, the Law Building and other places and some of the courts are wretchedly housed, especially the Municipal courts. The old Courthouse is a badly arranged and dangerous firetrap, not unpleasing in exterior view, but with an eyesore alongside it.

The new courthouse will provide space for the civil departments of Superior Court, for twenty-five Municipal courts, for the law library and various other activities now scattered in unsuitable buildings and can have a garage below the ground level for county cars. It will cost from $13,000,000 to $15,000,000, but will be worth it. It is expected plans will be far enough advanced by fall so that a bond issue for the structure can be placed on the November ballot.

In the meantime there is little to delay the State Building. Let it be pushed along.

WELL DONE, SAN FRANCISCO!

From the Angel City to the Queen of the Golden Gate congratulations on her well-earned victory in carrying off the first prize for the most beautiful float entered in the civic bodies division of the world's classic pageant, the Pasadena Tournament of Roses! She came down from the north in the glow of the sunrise on her steed of many flowers, bringing her popular Mayor as master of the ceremonies, and fairly carried the Southland off its feet. It was a graceful exchange of courtesies between California's two leading cities, an individual triumph for San Francisco, home of artists and poets, a long-to-be-remembered contribution to the Crown City's New Year festival and another bond of friendship between the north and the south of the most glorious State in the Union, whole, one and indivisible.

May many such friendly competitions mark the onward progress of all sections of the commonwealth that "stretches down the middle of the world" and on some future occasion may a city of the south duplicate the feat of San Francisco somewhere north of the Tehachepi. We are all one in heart and spirit when beauty competes with beauty. The keenest rivalry that can exist within the borders of California only expresses the heart desire of all our loyal sons and daughters to keep the old Bear Flag first among the State flags of the Union.

San Francisco fairly won the honors of Pasadena's Rose Day and our hats are off to the people of the Golden Gate and our honored visitor, Mayor Rolph.

PLENTY OF ROOM

The widened boulevards at least provide ample room for the passage of the water wagon. Also the riding is said to be good and the scenery fine.

RESOLUTIONS

By James J. Montague

I am perfectly certain that Browning
Was a gifted and erudite bard,
And often indeed his volumes to read
I have tried, and I've tried pretty hard.
But his poems are highways to culture
That my mind has to take in low gear,
So his works I've put by with a sorrowing sigh;
But I'm going to start over this year!

I'm a little bit dazed by the pictures
Of the painters Matteis and Cezanne,
They are fine without doubt, but I can't make them out
And I don't see how anyone can.
I admit that such fatuous statements
My mental shortcomings display;
If my brow were less low I'd enjoy them I know,
So I'll start on their study today.

When Bach or Tschaikowsky are featured
I switch off my radio set;
Their strains are sublime and will last for all time,
But I hardly am up to them yet.
Too often I sink into slumber
When classical music I hear,
But its glorious strains will not addle my brains
When I've studied it deeply this year.

Each New Year, since I can remember,
I've determined to broaden my mind
And to gladden my heart with the works of high art
When its deep hidden beauties I find.
Today I am fully decided
To better my cultural lot
And to gain my high goal, yet deep down in my soul
I am pretty darned sure I shall not.

Destroying Tree Life

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The article in today's Times by W. H. Cline finds a response in my heart. For days I have been thinking of these Christmas trees which seem to have lived and died in vain. And no one could have expressed the pathos of this in more exquisite language than did Mr. Cline.

Would it not be possible for the government to require that all trees to be used at Christmas should be ordered two months in advance and that only the red-tagged government-guaranteed trees should be sold? And might not more nurseries of Christmas trees be planted and encouragement given to the using of smaller table trees? I think there is already a tendency in that direction. Such provisions, together with the beautiful and growing custom of lighting the outdoor trees, might greatly help the great cause of conservation of the forests.

Scrupulous Fidelity

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] On behalf of the Christian Science church, I wish to thank Dr. Sheldon Shepard for the expression of his admiration of Christian Science, but there is, of course, no relation between Christian Science and the systems known as "Divine Science, psychology, psychoanalysis, physical culture." Furthermore, "mistakes and narrowness" cannot properly be imputed to Christian Science, for its teachings follow the instruction of Christ Jesus with scrupulous fidelity.

The Master's life, character and works were free from mistakes and narrowness. He loved mankind with universal broadness, but he neither excused evils nor trusted in material laws. In "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy says, "The supremacy of Spirit was the foundation on which Jesus built." He applied the truth unerringly to destroy physical and moral discord. His strictness in adhering to his spiritual standard was an important factor in the success of his mission. Mrs. Eddy discovered the ever-available laws of divine Love employed by Christ Jesus and named her discovery "Christian Science." The utilization of these spiritual laws through Christian Science corrects mistakes and destroys narrowness in mankind and implants compassion, honesty, accuracy, loving kindness, reliability, temperance and other Christlike qualities.

Fort Yuma Ruffians

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:]—If you wish to attract people to California, you had better do away with the armed bullies stationed at the eastern borders of California, trying to threaten and intimidate women. I am told at Fort Yuma, fights even go on among the State officers and tourists. And tourists are arrested there on trumped-up charges. I for one will never come through there again. When I leave California this spring I will spend my winters in Southern Texas on the Rio Grande, in a State where women are at least treated with respect and the winter climate is as good as that of California.

MRS. E. S. GARNETT.

Mud Slinging

LOS ANGELES, Dec 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Being almost a stranger in Los Angeles no doubt I am not familiar with all conditions.

However, it seems that the most prominent people are always the target of a bunch of mud-slingers.

Your editorial, "Police and Politicians," should be awarded a medal. It is a very good piece of work and I hope those mud-slingers will read it. I hope you will continue this good work.

A few weeks ago "they" tried to have Mayor Porter ousted and now they have demoted Chief Davis. Who is next?

Let Los Angeles people try to live up to what their Chamber of Commerce is trying to make the rest of the country think it is.

Iodised Oysters for All

Eating of iodised oysters will prevent or cure many intestinal complaints, according to Dr. Rene Loubatie and his laboratory assistant, a chemist named Salles of Bordeaux, France. In a recent announcement Dr. Loubatie said that six iodised oysters taken at the two principal meals of the day for a fortnight is the finest possible cure for stomach ills. He explained that the iodine was not administered directly to the oysters, but was placed in an oyster park. It rendered the bivalves valuable medical foods, he said.

France Rejects Auto Rule

After a trial of two years France has just rejected the "priority to vehicles on the right" rule in its highway regulations. It was found that the rule placed great national highways on the same plane as country lanes when two such roads intersected, and therefore tended to slow down main-road traffic. Another new important road regulation is to the effect that all motor vehicles must be fitted with appliances capable of lighting the road for at least 328 feet and dimming the glare without ceasing to give sufficient light when meeting other road users.

LOCAL CULTURE

BY LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN

England and Europe with their centuries of historic background sneer at the entire United States for its crudities. Boston accuses New York of having no culture and New York speaks scornfully of Philadelphia, Chicago and all points west. The farther west the more flagellatory the comment.

Chicago looks down on the mentality of St. Louis and St. Louis refers condescendingly to Denver and all presume to patronize Los Angeles. So starting out with the presumed mathematical retrogression and proceeding south by southwest it might seem that, intellectually speaking, Los Angeles would be the habitation of imbeciles.

And, strange to say, there are many, living in this great city of opulent opportunity who speak of it in scornful terms. They may be classified into several types. Those who bind the bandage of preconceived prejudice about their eyes, refusing to see the cultural progress about them. Those who are deafened by the clamor of their own egotistic pretensions, and those who dissipate what little perception they have in rounds of continuous frivolity. The latter type is numerous. He can tell you the name of every night club and owns a road map to every roadhouse. He can sing the songs of the latest musical comedy and repeat the coarse jest of the variety shows, and he is loudest in proclaiming that Los Angeles has no mental life.

But does he know that there is a seven-months course of philosophical lectures going on in town? And that the room in which they are given is crowded to capacity? Has he attended any of the remarkable Shakespearean productions given with all-star casts of world-famous names? Does he realize what it means that in and around Los Angeles there are more art galleries with really good, as well as famous, pictures, than in any like territory in the United States?

Has he stopped to consider that Los Angeles with its Hollywood Bowl, its Mission Play, its Pilgrimage Play, its various grand operas, including a Community Opera, its Philharmonic orchestras and its many noted resident musicians and actors, afford a musical and dramatic situation unique in America?

It is time that Los Angeles began talking a little less about climate and more about culture. At least to the extent of recognizing and realizing the vast and varied opportunities that are here. With two big universities, with professors from all over the world teaching in them, German scientists, French and Italian authorities on the drama, doctors of philosophy from Oxford, why should we not have a mental atmosphere? It is some of these professors who are giving the fifteen lectures in philosophy at the Public Library twice a month on Monday nights, free to the public.

Was it not the revival of interest in philosophy, was it not the expression of music, art and the drama which made Athens the acme of classic culture?

Let us not despise the "day of small things," but let us be glad because of the awakening of the spirit of culture in the community.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

"Santa Barbara probably lost $100,000 in trade during the Christmas holidays because of the lack of decorations on our streets," asserted S. H. Underwood yesterday.

"My family insisted on going to Los Angeles to see the decorations there and I know eleven other families that did the same thing. All of us spent about $100 per family. That's $1100 I know of that went out of Santa Barbara. If, in my circle of friends, this is true, surely there must have been dozens of other families who did the same thing. And all that money left Santa Barbara because the youngsters and women folks wanted to go where they would get, as they call it, 'the spirit of Christmas'."

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Interior Decorating?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A free course in interior decorating is offered by the Manual Arts Evening High School, Forty-second and Vermont, on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 237. Instruction is given in the form of lectures by John William Armstrong, head of the art department of the University High School, and those who cannot attend every lecture may come to just certain ones. Both old and young are welcome to come to this class and no charge of any kind is made.

The lectures will include the following topics: general principles of decoration, the application of color harmony to interior decoration, fabrics used in the decoration, floor coverings and rugs, woods and woodwork for furniture and interiors, selection and arrangement of furniture, period styles used in interior decoration and furniture, problems of lighting, pictures and picture hanging, ornaments and details.

A QUEST FOR PEACE

I called and called, but she Made no reply to me
From out her hidden nook.
"Ho, Peace, ho, Peace," I cried,
But still I was denied
Until I turned aside
And found her in a book.

RIPPLING RHYMES

UNUSUAL

Our cars collided in a country lane; some paint was scratched from my expensive wain; the other fellow saw his fender bent, and didn't seem to care a rusty cent. I left my seat prepared to raise a row, a heavy frown bedecked my martial brow; I was prepared to read the riot act, without a thought of courtesy or tact. It is the custom, in a case like this, to roar and rant, hot adjectives to hiss; we all forget, when accidents occur, it does no good to fill the air with fur. And so I turned upon the other gent, to charge him with that measly accident, to threaten law, reprisals and such things, to call on Heck and speak the name of Jings. To my surprise the other fellow smiled; "I guess," he said, "my driving's pretty wild. I am to blame for this catastrophe, for all the wreck and ruin that we see. I am not fit to drive a motor car; my thoughts fly off to things and scenes afar, queer dreams are mine, emotions strange I feel, and I forget I'm at the steering wheel. I am at fault, I only am to blame, here's my address, and my ancestral name." "Great Scott," I cried, "I also am to blame; the speed I hit was certainly a shame. I had no right to scorch along like that, like bullet fired from some blamed gangster's gat. I hope that I may count you as a friend; here's a cigar that I can recommend; I have an aunt whose beauty's not denied, and I am sure she'd like to be your bride." Soft answers thus dissolve our rising ire, and in our throats the angry words expire. There'd be few scraps to spoil this mundane game if we were prompt to take our share of blame.

SLAYER OF SHOE CLERK MUST HANG

Second Death Sentence Passed on Reilly, Local Store Bandit and Killer

Alphonse Reilly, 22 years of age, who was convicted of the murder a year ago of Abraham Sandelman, a shoe clerk, yesterday was sentenced by Superior Judge Fricke to die on the gallows at San Quentin March 14.

Reilly was sentenced to be hanged last March. He appealed from the judgment and the Supreme Court recently denied a new trial. Reilly was not in court yesterday when the sentence was repronounced. He is in the death cell at San Quentin, where he will remain until the day of execution unless Gov. Young grants executive clemency or a commutation of sentence.

Reilly is asserted to have killed Sandelman during a robbery in a shoe store near Fifth and Spring streets.

Tuberculosis Seals Clean-Up Drive Under Way

MISS SIDNEY MAGUIRE

Miss Sidney Maguire, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association, yesterday announced that the association will conduct a clean-up campaign in order to enable all residents who have received Christmas seals from the association to remit.

"It has been the experience of the association in past years," Miss Maguire stated, "that thousands of well-meaning people receive these seals but in the stress of the Christmas and New Year holiday shopping periods, do not have the opportunity to remit for them. It is in order to give these people an opportunity to remit that we are conducting our clean-up campaign. It is not too late to use these health seals on letters or packages which residents are daily sending to all parts of the country. The use of these health seals on all mail should be an all-year practice."

Newspaper Ads Will be Used to Boost Sales

Newspaper advertising is one of the most economical mediums through which to sell merchandise at minimum cost, W. H. Lowe, vice-president of the Paraffine Companies, Inc., stated yesterday in announcing the annual regional convention of salesmen, scheduled to be held today and tomorrow at the Biltmore.

"This year, as always," he said, "newspaper advertising will form the bulwark of our demand-creating campaign. We have every expectancy of obtaining increased sales volume from every territory during the year. Our nation is prosperous and the institutions that go after business aggressively and intelligently have every assurance of finding this their banner year."

The convention will be presided over by R. S. Shainwald, president of the company.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

STRIKE SUSPECT UNDER ARREST

Brawley News Dealer Held for Investigation

Activities in Threatened Lettuce Walkout Quizzed

Captive Admits Sending of Reports on Situation

BRAWLEY, Jan. 2.—Jesus G. Avalos, local news dealer and correspondent for Mexico City papers, was arrested here today by Sheriff Charles L. Gillett and brought to the County Jail for investigation of his activities in connection with a threatened strike of lettuce field workers in this district. Avalos is said to be one of the ringleaders in a strike movement that has been agitated among Filipino and Mexican workers for several days.

Last week a delegation asserting to represent an organization of workers, demanded an increase in the rate of pay for all ranch workers. The growers declared that the demand was exorbitant and ignored it. Workers were reported to have left a number of the fields when the increase was not granted. A majority of the growers, however, stated today that the places of the strikers had been filled and that the harvest of the lettuce crop is continuing without interruption.

At the offices of the Mexican Mutual Association, headquarters of the ranch workers, it was admitted that the laborers had asked for an increase in pay, but no information could be obtained as to the number of men who have left their jobs.

Avalos told the Sheriff that he had sent out news reports of the strike, but denied that he had been instrumental in causing any of the workers to leave the fields.

Burglars Make Narcotics Haul at Drug Store

ONTARIO, Jan. 2.—Burglars with a quantity of drugs and fountain pens were sought by local and county authorities today, following a bold robbery of the Gemmell Drug Store here shortly after 6 a.m. today.

A side door to the drug store was jimmied and the heavy safe's combination unlocked. The thief took $390 from the safe, and removed a large quantity of narcotics, mostly morphine.

The fountain pen case was rifled of the more expensive brands amounting to $250. Lower price pens were not molested. The pen trays were piled neatly before the case. Small change was taken from the cash register.

Finger prints on the door, safe and display cases had been smeared by the burglar, who left a rear door standing open after departure.

The theft is similar to one recently committed in Pomona in which cash and fountain pens were taken. It is believed both "jobs" were done by the same burglar.

OXNARD BUSINESS GROWS

Five New Establishments Open This Week in Thriving Ventura County Beach Community

OXNARD, Jan. 2.—Five new establishments are opening for business this week in Oxnard. H. S. Perry, merchant of Camarillo, will open a second radio shop in the Oxnard Theater Building. This will be the third of a chain of Rolly's shops, the other two being in Ventura and Santa Paula.

E. W. Squires will open for business in a new location on Oxnard Boulevard the 4th inst. Squires, who formerly was a partner in the firm of Folcke & Squires, Chevrolet dealers, recently severed his connection with Folcke and this week made the announcement that henceforth he will represent the Chevrolet Motor Company under the name of the Squires Chevrolet Company. The Squires garage has been entirely renovated and the showrooms redecorated. An attractive animated electric sign installed on the building front is the most elaborate to be displayed in this city. Max Folcke, following the change in business operations, has completed an arrangement with the Buick representatives. His garage building opposite the Plaza will be the headquarters for that make of car as well as for the purpose of service and general garage activity.

State Engineer Party Securing Data for Weir

REDLANDS, Jan. 2.—Harold Conkling, chief of division of water rights, acting under instructions from Edward Hyatt, State Engineer, has a party of engineers, under direct control of E. D. Stafford, at work on the survey at the mouth of the Santa Ana River, securing additional data preliminary to the construction of the weir, which it is planned to build for the diversion of water on the spreading works of the Water Conservation Association.

Stafford has four men and expects to put another crew on directly after the first of the year. He did preliminary work on the State Engineer's report on the Santa Ana River, and is fully acquainted with all of the problems to be solved. Conkling intends to make a personal visit to the site of this work shortly after the first of the year.

As soon as the State engineers complete their work, the Water Conservation Association will proceed with detailed plans for the construction of the weir, which it is intended shall be begun early in the spring of 1930.

FIRST HATS TOSSED IN RING

Orange County Supervisors Formally Announce Candidacies for Re-election

SANTA ANA, Jan. 2.—The first hats were flung into the 1930 political ring Tuesday when Supervisors George Jeffrey of Irvine and John C. Mitchell of Garden Grove, two of the three members of the board whose terms expire next year, made formal announcement of their candidacies for re-election. Chairman Willard Smith of Orange, the third Supervisor whose term expires in 1930, declined comment regarding his plans. Smith represents the Fourth District, Jeffrey the Fifth and Mitchell the Second.

The terms of Supervisors William Schumacher, Buena Park, in the Third District, and Charles H. Chapman, Santa Ana, of the First District, have two more years to run after those of their colleagues expire.

The announcements of Supervisors Jeffrey and Mitchell unofficially set in motion the Orange primary and general elections, as they are the first candidates for any office to come forward with definite declarations. They explained that their announcement at the present time was for the purpose of "settling speculation" regarding their plans.

Supervisor Jeffrey is completing his second term as representative of the Fifth District on the board, having been elected in 1922 to succeed Howard Wassum.

Supervisor Mitchell has been the Second District's representative since 1926 and is completing his first term on the board. He succeeded former Chairman T. B. Talbert.

PIPE-LINE QUIZ WILL BE STARTED

San Diego Mayor Says He Will Investigate Charge of Deliberate Damage

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 2.—Mayor Harry C. Clark announced today that he will investigate charges signed by city employees asserting that last June the Lower Otay pipe line was damaged to provide propaganda for the pipe-line bond fund then before the people. He said that under a provision of the city charter he has authority to make investigation to ascertain the truth of the charges. The mayor also said he would do so at once by first sending Hydraulic Engineer Savage, against whom the charges are directed, a copy of the sworn affidavit of the city employees, who sent it to the Mayor and also to the Council.

Under the charter, when the charges are thus before the accused, the Mayor can summon those directly interested in the charges and acquire evidence. Mayor Clark said this morning he had not conferred with Engineer Savage regarding the charges and that some time probably he would do so.

Savage still declines to discuss the charges. He said today he absolutely refused to say anything.

The charges filed with the City Council will not come before that body until the regular meeting next Monday, unless meantime a special session is called and then not unless some Councilman insists on an immediate investigation.

The affidavit filed late Tuesday avers that last June workmen were directed to remove iron bands and cause leakage in the present pipe line that would send streams of water high enough to be photographed. These workmen, who will make the allegations, signed the affidavit filed with the Mayor and Council. They are: W. C. Sandrock, A. G. Coulter, Allen Hanlon, Victor Tegdas and C. H. Ross.

Peat Bed Fire at Crime Scene Frightens Many

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 2. Mexicans living near the "chicken-farm murder" scene, were greatly frightened for the past few days at the sight of smoke issuing from the bowels of the earth, but after reporting the trouble to the local police department the problem was solved."

An investigation revealed that a peat bed was burning. Several hundred feet of the earth had burned and the fire was spreading, causing the smoke to be seen. It is thought that the drought caused the ground to become so dry, and the heat caused combustion.

A heinous crime was committed on this same spot last September and the Mexicans were too frightened to investigate. A hunter in passing by the buildings on the chicken farm last fall found the butchered body of a man lying in one of the chicken yards. The condition of the body was such that it was thought that the man had been murdered several days previously. The heart had been cut out, one hand severed and one eye removed. The body has never been identified and the murderer has not been discovered. Several clews were followed up without results.

There are other peat beds near this city and it is hoped that the fire will not spread. Unless a rain comes soon and extinguishes the fire it may burn for many years.

SCHMIDT FUNERAL PLANNED

Loss of $50,000 in Recent Stock Crash and Failing Health Said Cause of Youth's Suicide

ALTA CANADA, Jan. 2.—Funeral services for Edward Schmidt, Jr., son of the wealthy proprietor of a fashionable Los Angeles tailoring and costume business, who is reported to have shot himself through the head last night at the palatial family home, 4649 Hillard Drive, will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, it was announced today. The time of the service will be announced by Keester & Isaacs of Glendale.

Loss of $50,000 in the recent stock crash, combined with ill health and other worries prompted the 22-year-old clubman to take his life with a .45-caliber automatic pistol after locking himself in an upstairs bathroom of the residence, deputy sheriffs reported. The pistol was formerly carried by one of the victim's two brothers, who died while serving with the American forces in France.

Sixteen-year-old Robert Schmidt, the suicide's younger brother, stated that he saw Edward, Jr., walk into the bathroom with the pistol in his hand, and failed in a furious effort to wrest the weapon from him.

An unusual feature of the case is the fact that Robert reported hearing two and possibly three shots fired. Deputy sheriffs from the Altadena office reported that one bullet was found lodged in the bathroom wall. Members of the family believe that Edward fired one or more shots to test the weapon.

"Eddie had done well in my business and had all the money he needed, so ill health is the only explanation I can give for his act," said the broken-hearted father.

The victim was a Los Angeles High School graduate and a popular member of the Flintridge Golf Club.

Justice Court Business Grows in Township

MONTROSE, Jan. 2.—The annual report of Justice Charles R. Dyer of La Crescenta Township, just completed, shows that the amount of business transacted in this court has increased to such an extent in the two years of its existence that added facilities have become necessary. Plans are now being considered for taking over enlarged quarters, the erection of a Constable's office and a one-cell jail in which to house prisoners overnight.

During his term of office Judge Dyer has sat as special judge in Glendale, Burbank and Pasadena, and a total of 501 criminal cases, 115 civil cases and 234 small claims suits have been heard. Fines and fees collected amount to $1738.

Constable George Harris's report shows eighty-five arrests, seventy-four convictions and 261 investigations, exclusive of twenty arrests for officers in other parts of the State. Harris now has a staff of three deputies working under his direction, with Mrs. L. C. Jones acting as court clerk and notary.

SANTA BARBARA SETS RECORD OF SOBRIETY

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 2.—All former records in this city for New Year sobriety were shattered with the incoming of 1930 when only one arrest for drunkenness was made between the hours of midnight Tuesday and midnight last night. Heretofore the arrests on New Year's Day have ranged anywhere from a half-dozen to a score or more. Joe Minsky was the only individual who ran afoul of the law for celebrating the advent of 1930, not wisely, but too well.

Schools Begin Work Again for Redlands Youth

REDLANDS, Jan. 2.—After a vacation of two weeks the schools of Redlands opened again, both the public schools and the University of Redlands.

More than 600 students returned from their homes in various parts of California to the university today.

No further break in the routine of classes is anticipated until the end of the first semester, the 27th inst. The new university semester will begin February 3, next.

Although officially closed during the last two weeks, the university has been a scene of continuous work. The president's former home has been removed from its situation on the hill just east of the administration building and that site has been excavated for the erection of the new $175,000 hall of letters.

The public schools program calls for no further break in routine until the spring vacation. The semester ends the 24th inst., but there will be no pause, and the new semester begins on the 27th inst. There will probably be observance of Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays in February, but the programs will be given in the schools and no holiday is scheduled.

MURDER SUSPECTS HELD

Two Men and One Woman Jailed in San Diego Believed Implicated in Killing Just Below Border

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 2.—Three suspects in the 50-cent murder of Francisco Guzman south of Tia Juana last Saturday are held in the County Jail for Lower California authorities today. First to be arrested after the shooting of Guzman, Lower California rancher, who assertedly was shot down when he demanded 50 cents from two men and a woman who had made use of his picnic ground, was Pacifico Garcia, Filipino, and another man who first gave the name of "Arthur Halliday" and finally declared his name to be Ray Radcliff. Lorraine Burton, 21 years of age, a waitress, surrendered herself at the County Jail, completing the trio of suspects.

Undersheriff Oliver Sexton and Deputy Sheriff Blake Mason announced they obtained a confession from Garcia bearing out the other man suspect's charges that the Filipino fired the fatal shots. Radcliff admitted possession of a revolver and a blackjack, the latter constituting a felony under California law. Sheriff Cooper, who heard the confession in company with several others, stated a complaint would formally be sworn out against Radcliff.

The young woman was arrested when she appeared at the jail and asked to see her sweetheart, Garcia. Saturday evening, the day of the killing, the young woman was in custody of Chief of Police Charless Goss of Oceanside, who held her but a short time before releasing her. Goss had halted the two men and the woman at Oceanside on a petty theft of gasoline charge, but only held the men, who were later released to Sheriff Cooper.

EIGHT HURT IN CRASH AT BEACH CITY

Serious Injuries Result From Taking Corner at Too Rapid Pace

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 2.—Eight persons were seriously injured in an automobile accident here last evening. The accident occurred when John Perkins, 30 years of age, of 1002 Beach street, San Diego, driver of one of the cars, turned a corner at a high rate of speed, lost control of his machine and swerved headlong into a car driven by Miss Clara Cowell, 37, of 4125 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles.

Three other occupants were in the car driven by Perkins, Mrs. John Perkins, wife of the driver, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith of Chicago. All sustained body injuries, and Smith, who was to leave today for Chicago, fractured his right leg.

The occupants of the car driven by Miss Cowell were her sister, Miss Bess Cowell, Miss Alice Whitney of 2412 Durant avenue, Berkeley, and Miss Dorothy Adams of 1636 Twelfth avenue, Los Angeles. Reports from the Santa Ana Valley Hospital, where the injured parties were taken after being given emergency treatment at the Huntington Beach Hospital, indicated that one of the injured had received a fractured skull and a possible broken back. Others were treated for cuts and bruises.

State Traffic Officers Lloyd Groober and Ben Craig took charge of the accident.

Burglary Case May Not Again Come Into Court

SANTA ANA, Jan. 2.—Attempts to reopen the case of Frank Bolinger, 26 years of age, local chauffeur, who waived his constitutional rights, pleaded guilty to burglary and received a sentence of not less than five years at Folsom Monday after a whirlwind trip through the courts, following his arrest, may be abandoned by his father and the latter's attorneys, it was stated today by Attorney A. P. Nelson, of Nelson & Burns, counsel for the elder Bolinger.

Attorney Kennity H. Burns made a dramatic appearance in Superior Judge Homer Ames's court, just after sentence had been pronounced on Bolinger, who admitted robbing Max Wilson, local service-station attendant, of $52.67. The attorney sought to intervene and procure a change of plea, to which Judge Ames agreed, but after conferring with Bolinger the attorney deferred his decision pending further conference with the defendant's father.

Today it was said to be doubtful whether any further attempt to reopen the case would be made.

Bolinger was arrested by local police Sunday afternoon and is said to have confessed that night. On Monday he appeared before Justice K. E. Morrison and waived preliminary hearing. Arraigned before Superior Judge Ames he waived his right of counsel, said he was guilty and wanted to get the matter finished. Sentence was pronounced at once.

It developed in court that Bolinger had served a term at San Quentin, also a term in the Colorado Penitentiary, for stealing automobiles. Accordingly, as a previous offender, he was sent to Folsom.

Miss Myrtle Casner and [illegible] Branch were married last afternoon in the First Baptist Church. The ceremony was read by the pastor, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., assisted by T. E. Stevenson of Burbank. The church was decorated with flowers of pink and blue, bouquets marking the ends of the pews and an arch of flowers over the nuptial altar. Nuptial music was played by Miss Eloise Casner with Miss Betts playing her accompaniment and a group of organ numbers and the wedding marches.

Miss Casner, given in marriage by her father, Dr. Arthur John Casner of Long Beach, wore a princess gown of white velvet fashioned with long sleeves. Her wedding veil was of exquisite Italian lace and she carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds and lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Neyenesch of San Diego, maid of honor, wore a frock of pale green velvet and carried sweet peas in apricot shades. The bridesmaids, Misses Eloise and Hazel Casner, sisters of the bride, and Misses Betty and Clara Branch, sisters of the bridegroom, wore velvet frocks of coral and peach tones and carried arm bouquets in harmonizing tints. Ray Gordon Redding served as best man and the ushers included Harvey Branch, Arthur Casner, George Finley and Merle Waterman.

After a motor trip Mr. and Mrs. Branch plan to live in Burbank.

Chef Wyman's Answers

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

M. P., Los Angeles, Cal.: One tablespoonful of butter, three and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of paprika, a few grains of cayenne pepper, the yolks of two eggs, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, one-third of a cupful of lemon juice in all, one cupful of cherries, pineapple and bananas. One cupful of cream, place the butter in a double boiler, beat the egg yolks, add to them the flour, sugar, salt, paprika and cayenne, mix this with the butter and simmer slowly; do not allow to boil. Then add the milk and lemon juice, stir constantly until the mixture thickens. Drain into a bowl, and beat for two minutes, allow to cool, then add the cupful of mixed fruit that has been cut in small pieces, fold in the stiffly whipped cream, place in a mold that has been rinsed with cold water, and allow to stand for several hours. Cut in slices and serve on lettuce leaves.

NEW YEAR'S BUFFET

L. L. S., Los Angeles, Cal.: I am very sorry that your letter did not reach me in time so that I could assist you with your New Year's supper. I do not answer letters by mail, and letters must be answered in rotation and my column most of the time is well filled up. Hope that I may be of assistance to you at some future time.

RICH POUND CAKE

T. H., Los Angeles, Cal.: One pound of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, yolks of ten eggs, the whites of ten eggs, four cupfuls of flour, one-half a teaspoonful of mace and two tablespoonfuls of brandy or sherry flavoring. Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually and continue the beating, beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, and add a little at a time to the creamed butter and sugar and beat well, sift the flour with the mace, and add a little at a time alternately with the whites of the eggs, that have been beaten until stiff and dry, and beat for five minutes longer, add the brandy or sherry, place in a loaf cake tin that has been oiled and lined with two thicknesses of paper. Place in a slow oven and as soon as the cake has crusted on the top cover with a piece of paper that has been oiled, increase the heat a little and continue the baking.

INCH-HIGH ICING

A. J., Los Angeles, Cal.: One teaspoonful of gelatine, one-fourth of a cupful of hot water, one cupful of sugar, the whites of two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of cold water, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, soak the gelatine in the cold water, and then dissolve it over hot water, place the sugar and hot water in a saucepan and cook directly over the fire until it will spin a long thread, then remove from the fire, add the gelatine, which has been strained through a fine sieve, beat the egg whites until stiff and dry and add the syrup to them a little at a time, beating constantly, add the flavoring, place the mixture in the top of a double boiler and cook until it is so thick that it will leave the mark of a spoon when you draw it through, when it reaches that stage, place it on the cake. If the icing should loose its shine, leave a small amount of it in the double boiler and add to it two tablespoonfuls more of hot water and cook until thickened but not as thick as the first. Pour this on top of the dull icing to add a glossy finish.

PIE CRUST

L. M. T., Los Angeles, Cal.: Several things are necessary to be able to make nice flaky pie crust, flour must be sifted, before it is measured, and then measured in measuring cups, two cupfuls of sifted flour, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, three-quarters of a cupful of cold shortening, and enough ice water to hold the crumbs together, it is best if there are a few dry crumbs left in the bottom of the mixing bowl. Chop the shortening in with a pastry cutter, until it is about the size of a small pea, then add the ice water, place the mixture in a piece of paraffin paper and allow to stand in the ice box for several hours or overnight. If making a two-crust pie, divide the dough in half, and only roll out half of it at a time, be sure and do not stretch the dough, when putting it into the pan, if anything allow it to be a little bit loose. Place in a hot oven for the first ter minutes, and then reduce the heat and continue the baking until the filling has been cooked.

HONEY

There is a big difference in using honey as a substitute for sugar, we nearly always have to use soda with the honey; following is a recipe and if you would care to have any more write me again.

HONEY COOKIES

One cupful of honey, one-half a cupful of sugar, one-half a cupful of milk, three tablespoonfuls of shortening, one-half teaspoonful of vinegar, four and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one-half a teaspoonful of soda, the yolks of two eggs, put the first five ingredients in a saucepan and stir until hot, but do not allow to boil, then allow to become lukewarm, sift the flour, salt, cinnamon and soda and stir it into the syrup, add the well-beaten egg yolks and beat well. The dough should only be medium stiff, place the mixture in a bowl and place in the ice box for twenty-four hours, turn out on a board, sprinkled with a little flour and knead well, roll out a small amount at a time, keeping the rest chilled, cut and bake in a medium oven.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

A TOO GENEROUS OR BADLY BALANCED DIET SHOWS MARKED RESULTS

One becomes aware as the days grow colder that there are certain diet ailments that are linked with winter. One of them that crops up with frequency right now is the problem of ammoniacal urine. This is a condition met with in both infancy and childhood, and is hinged firmly to two common causes.

First of all, diapers are probably being washed and dried indoors. It may be that they are not being boiled, and no doubt seldom get a good sunning. The result is that these diapers carry a harmless vegetable growth, which, when united with urine, causes the disagreeable odor of ammonia, strong enough to burn one's own eyes, and to cause the baby distress and discomfort. Hess, in "Feeding and Nutritional Disorders of Infancy and Childhood," says, "The so-called ammoniacal diaper is often alleviated by rinsing it in 1-10,000 bichoride of mercury solution after boiling." Diapers should not be used the second time without boiling and washing, should be sunned on every possible occasion, no harsh soaps or washing powders used and the above precautions taken when this condition is present.

GET FRUITS AND STARCHES STRAIGHTENED OUT

The second cause arises from our common failing of feeding children too heavily in the winter time. There is great stress put upon so-called "heating" foods and not so much attention given to those vegetables and fruits upon which we keep harping so persistently. Fruits and vegetables are contributors to the alkalinity of the system, while cereals, crackers, toast, eggs, etc., contribute to the acidity. Read this carefully, because many parents believe just the opposite and think that because fruits are acid they cause acidity, and because all these starchy foods are bland, they are alkaline in effect.

When the children begin to show this ammoniacal diaper in the morning, increase the amount of fruits and vegetables in the diet. Stress vegetable soups and be certain that they have their orange juice daily. If the diapers are being cared for as suggested in the first of this article, and the diet is balanced nicely with enough fruits and vegetables, the ammoniacal urine should cease.

Some babies drink too little water, probably because they have such large milk and water formulas. However well fed, if the urine is scanty and high-colored and baby isn't ill, the probability is that all he needs is more fluid in his diet—more water with his orange juice, vegetable soup instead of just plain sieved vegetables, or more water in his formula which may be too concentrated. If this condition doesn't clear up promptly after increasing the amount of fluid, have the doctor advise the next step.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CRAB MEAT IN CASSEROLE

Take three tablespoonfuls of butter, and three tablespoonfuls of flour, place them in a double-boiler and stir until the butter melts, then add slowly one and one-half cupfuls of rich milk; season highly with salt, paprika and a few grains of cayenne pepper, allow to cook slowly for fifteen minutes, remove from the fire, and add the yolks of two eggs, that have been beaten with one teaspoonful of lemon juice, return to the fire, and cook for one minute longer, then fold in one cupful of flaked crab meat, butter individual casseroles, place the mixture in them, sprinkle the top with finely grated cheese that has been mixed with an equal amount of fine bread crumbs, place in the oven and bake until well browned, garnish with a piece of parsley.

FIG MOUSSE

Three cupfuls of milk, one-half a cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one pound of figs, two cupfuls of whipping cream, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, five eggs, beat the egg yolks with the sugar, scald the milk, and pour over them, return to the double-boiler, and cook until slightly thickened, add the salt, chop the figs fine, and pour the custard over the figs, add the vanilla, and allow to cool. Then fold in the cream that has been stiffly whipped, and add to it the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, place the mixture in a mold or in the refrigerator trays, and allow to freeze.

OYSTER PIE

One quart of oysters, four cupfuls of boiled potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley, one cupful of boiling water, two tablespoonfuls of flour, make a rich pie crust and line the bottom of the baking dish with it, also the sides, place a layer of the oysters in the bottom of the dish, season with salt and paprika, chopped parsley and a little celery salt, cover the oyster with a layer of the sliced boiled potatoes, dot the tops of the potatoes with small pieces cut in triangles of the pie crust, and continue this method until the dish is filled, mix the flour, and butter together and melt in a saucepan, add the oyster liquor, and the boiling water, allow to cook for five minutes, then pour over the oysters and potatoes, place a crust on top of the pie, make several incisions in the top and bake in a moderate oven one hour.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

CHATTERER IS FILLED WITH JOY

Greed is selfish and unfair;
What it gets it will not share.
—Old Mother Nature.

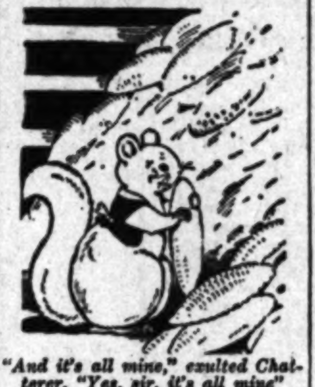
Chatterer the Red Squirrel was a happy squirrel. He was so. He was so happy that he wanted to tell everybody how happy he was. But he didn't. No, sir, he didn't. For once he kept his tongue still. And for Chatterer to keep his tongue still is quite remarkable. He kept his tongue still because he didn't want anybody to know where he was. He was on the roof of Farmer Brown's corn crib.

Now, Chatterer had long wanted to get into that corn crib and had had no chance. He couldn't climb up stone posts and that corn crib was set on stone posts. Furthermore, on the top of each post was an inverted big tin pan. So, even had he been able to climb one of the posts, he would have been stopped by the pan. But now he was on the roof and he intended to be inside in a very short time. He had reached the roof by means of a clothesline which had been fastened from a corner of the corn crib to a clothes-post.

Chatterer can move quickly, as you well know. The way he darted around on the roof of that corn crib would have told you without words that he was very much excited. Presently he leaned over the edge of the roof near one corner. Peering under the edge he discovered that the space between two boards on that side was almost wide enough for him to get through. A little gnawing would make it wide enough. You know corn cribs are built with spaces between the boards, so that air can circulate through to dry the corn.

Chatterer hung by his hind feet and swung himself in until he could get hold with his hands. Then he let go with his hind feet. His sharp teeth got to work at once. It didn't take him long to gnaw a place just big enough for him to slip through. How Chatterer's eyes sparkled once he was inside that corn crib! Here was food enough for all the squirrels in the world. Anyway, that's the way he felt.

"And it's all mine!" exulted Chatterer. "Yes, sir, it's all mine!" And he really felt it was all his. Perhaps you think that funny, but it wasn't. You see, the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows are quite used to feeling that anything they find belongs to them, if they can take possession of it. Chatterer felt that in getting into the corn crib he had taken possession of it and so the corn belonged to him. He knew, however, that he wouldn't have possession of it very long if Farmer Brown or Farmer Brown's boy should find him there. So he took great care not to show himself.



"And it's all mine," exulted Chatterer. "Yes, sir, it's all mine"

That morning he was satisfied to stuff himself after he had explored the inside of the corn crib. Then he went out the way he had come in, ran down the side and simply jumped to the ground and scurried back to the Old Orchard. Chatterer was full of joy and corn. His eyes snapped as he thought of the feasts he would have all winter. He meant to keep it a secret.

"I won't tell anybody," said Chatterer to himself. "No, sir, I won't tell anybody. Whenever I'm hungry I'll just go over and help myself to what I want and no one will be any the wiser. Some folks are not so smart as they think they are. Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's boy built that corn crib so that I couldn't get into it. Then they made a bridge for me." Chatterer chuckled as he thought this. Of course, by that bridge he meant the clothesline from the post to the corner of the corn crib.

Household Suggestions

A Piece for a Patch

If the young man catches his good little linen suit on a nail and you have nothing with which to patch it, take a piece from the back of the shield. This place does not show and the shield can then be lined with any other material.

Rustless Hangers

An empty spool attached to the kitchen or pantry door with a large nail driven through the opening will serve as a splendid hanger for towels or cloths. It will serve far better than nails, which are apt to rust or tear through the material.

Grasp the Opportunity

When you are not entertaining at dinner, have fruit of some sort for dessert. It is refreshing and splendid for the system and makes up for the many times you have pastries and rich desserts.

TRY IT OUT

I have found with my little boy that I can do almost anything in the line of cleansing a cut if I bandage the wound afterward. There is something about that bandage that makes him so proud he forgets his troubles.

For a Change

If you cannot afford to buy anything new for the house and you are just a little bit disinterested, try changing the position of the furniture and see if that difference will not take away that bored feeling.

Turpentine

A few drops in the suds on wash day will loosen the dirt and whiten the clothes.

A few drops in the water when watering plants will make the leaves green and fresh looking.

A few drops in the bottom of the trunks, chests and drawers used for storing will frighten away moths.

A little turpentine on a soft cloth rubbed over an enameled bed will remove all soil and give a good gloss to the metal.

Delicate colors in wash materials will not fade if they are soaked in lukewarm water, to which a few drops of turpentine have been added. When the water is cold, wash the materials in sudsy water.

COUPLE GIVEN PRISON TERMS

Man and Wife Convicted of Theater Robbery

Motions for New Trial and Probation Denied

"Expectant Mother" Plea Set Up by Woman

Mary Kavanaugh, 23 years of age, and reported to be an expectant mother, yesterday was sentenced by Superior Judge Wilson to serve from two to twenty-five years in San Quentin on charges of burglary and grand theft preferred against her in connection with the disappearance August 19, last, of $12,800 from the safe of the United Artists Theater.

Edward Kavanaugh, her husband and a co-defendant in the case, also was sentenced to serve a similar term in San Quentin. The sentences were imposed after Judge Wilson denied motions of Defense Attorney S. S. Hahn for a new trial and permission to file applications for probation.

Attorney Hahn then filed notice of appeal and told the court informally that he will seek to have Mrs. Kavanaugh released on bail pending decision by the District Court of Appeals.

Asking if the court will appoint a physician to examine Mrs. Kavanaugh, Hahn stated his client is expected to become a mother. Judge Wilson advised Hahn that it will be proper to take up the question of Mrs. Kavanaugh's condition at the time the motion to release on bail is filed. Up until the time court adjourned yesterday such a motion had not been filed with the court.

THEIR ALIBIS FAIL

Mrs. Kavanaugh and her husband were arrested on the burglary and grand-theft charges shortly after the safe of the theater was "jimmied" and robbed of $12,800. At the trial of the case the State charged Kavanaugh plundered the safe while his wife stood guard for him outside the theater lobby. The defense sought to establish an alibi for both Kavanaugh and his wife, but the jury returned verdicts of guilty on both counts after three hours of deliberation.

It was reported yesterday that on two occasions during her trial, Mrs. Kavanaugh had asked County Jail Physician Blank to examine her. Dr. Blank told Judge Wilson, according to the latter, that he was unable to determine the condition of Mrs. Kavanaugh definitely; that if she is to become a mother her condition has not yet developed sufficiently to be positively apparent to medical science.

AT LIBERTY FOUR MONTHS

Although arrested more than four months ago, Mrs. Kavanaugh and her husband were out on bail of $2500 until they went to trial three weeks ago, at which time Judge Wilson revoked their bonds as being insufficient in view of the severity of the offenses with which they were charged.

Judge Wilson, who some months ago precipitated widespread discussion by sentencing Thelma Holland, an expectant mother, to San Quentin after she had pleaded guilty to a still-possession charge yesterday expressed the opinion that sentiment because of a woman's expectancy of motherhood should not interfere with the execution of the law.

He pointed out that the two felonies of which Mrs. Kavanaugh was convicted occurred more than four months ago and that he had been advised by Dr. Blank that if the woman really is to become a mother her condition has developed within the past two months.

The granting of probation to a woman convicted of a felony solely because she is expectant, in the opinion of the judge, sets a dangerous precedent for women of the underworld and may ultimately afford them with an established avenue of escape from punishment for offenses against the law.

Fire Volunteers' Pay Rise Asked

Secretary McKeag of the Fire Commission yesterday was requested by that body to send a communication to the City Council asking that the rate of pay for volunteer firemen, fixed at 35 cents an hour, be raised to $1 an hour.

It was pointed out that one of the fifty-two men who volunteered to fight the Encino brush blaze damaged his clothing to the extent of $20, received 70 cents for his work and that he was compelled to wait a week for that amount. Many of the firemen suffer losses in this manner, it was stated. Four hundred men volunteered in fighting the Griffith Park fire, it was revealed.

Veteran Wins Divorce Action

Stanislas I. Savage, a veteran of the World War, appeared before Superior Judge Hollzer yesterday and was granted a divorce from Mrs. Monica Savage on the grounds of cruelty.

Savage testified that he became afflicted with tuberculosis and while in a United States veterans' hospital his wife squandered $4000 they had in a savings account.

The couple married May 13, 1918, and separated May 6, 1929.

Savage was represented by Attorney David Spaulding.

RILEY WILL OPEN DRIVE FOR OFFICE

State Controller Begins Tour in North Today and Comes South Next

Campaign machinery of State Controller Riley, only avowed Republican candidate for Governor, got under way with the coming of the new year, it was announced at the local Riley headquarters yesterday.

Riley and his secretary, Clem Whitaker, will leave Sacramento today on a State-wide tour, during which Riley will elaborate on his contentions that the present State government is heavily mortgaging the future of California.

During this month Riley will visit the northern counties, coming to Los Angeles in February to begin sixty days of campaigning here and throughout the Southland.

It is planned to form a Riley-for-Governor headquarters in every county. Temporary local headquarters situated in Room 406, Washington Building, have been enlarged and a permanent headquarters will be opened by the 15th inst.

Riley's support is reported as crystallizing both north and south as a result of his emphatic declaration that he will not withdraw from the gubernatorial race regardless of who comes in or who goes out.

In his tour Riley will, he says, substantiate his charges that the State has reached the financial crossroads. In doing this he will offer figures taken from official records, purporting to show that by July 1, 1931, a $31,388,754.69 surplus will have dwindled to $10,908,013.38 in the brief period of two years. The first figure is the general fund surplus inherited by the present administration upon assuming office.

Divorce Given Drinker's Wife

"The price of liquor evidently did not bother Iri Fleshman very much," was the comment of Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday when he granted a decree of divorce to Mrs. Grace Fleshman after she testified her husband was drunk almost every day during the last two years she lived with him.

Mrs. Fleshman testified she married Fleshman on June 5, 1920, and separated from him on March 14, 1928.

JOYCE, BANKER, WELL ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

FINN INQUIRY NEARS CLOSE

Only Two More Persons to be Heard by Fitts's Office in Investigating Millionaire's Will

With the questioning of John Dickey, investigation of the $1,000,000 will be of the late George Lafayette Finn, former United States Senator fro. Iowa, which now is in litigation, was continued yesterday by Chief Trial Deputy District Attorney Daniel Beecher. Dickey was employed by Finn as day nurse at the time of the latter's death in the Darby Hotel here in January, 1929.

The former has a claim against the estate for $100,000, represented by a note purportedly drawn and signed by the late Senator. He told Beecher, the latter stated, that Finn had given him the document with the request that he regard half of it as wages and use the other half to establish a trust fund for nation-wide educational purposes. The campaign of education was to have had something to do with expounding the theory of battleships.

Two more persons are slated to be quizzed by Beecher today. They are David Burr Luckey, grand-nephew, and Jane Corwin Finn, grand-niece and former secretary of the late Senator. Interrogation of these two, Beecher said, will conclude the District Attorney office's interest in the matter. To date, according to Beecher, no evidence has been adduced to indicate that Finn died an unnatural death, or to support intimations that the will is a forgery.

MAJ. BIRD'S PLEA TO BE HEARD SOON

Sportsman Charged With Slaying Friend to Appear Before Court Monday

Maj. Owen R. Bird, Los Angeles sportsman and broker, yesterday was arraigned before Judge Aggeler in Superior Court on a complaint charging manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of his bosom friend, Percival Watson. The date for his plea was set for next Monday, the 6th inst., at 2 p.m.

Maj. Bird shot Watson, according to his statements to police after the affray, with a revolver he believed contained only blank cartridges. Arriving at his home under the influence of liquor, he said, he found Watson being entertained by Mrs. Bird. Intending only to scare him, he asserted, he went into the bedroom and picked up the gun, which he often had used in starting amateur foot-races. Returning to the kitchen where Mrs. Bird was entertaining Watson, Bird said, he fired several shots at his friend. Watson lingered for four days before succumbing to the wounds.

Mexico Cruise Date Announced

Plans for a cruise of Angelenos to Mexican west coast ports were announced yesterday. The Los Angeles delegation will leave Wilmington aboard the steamship Dorothy Alexander on the night of February 3, next, returning on February 15. R. B. Schutten, assistant general passenger agent of the Admiral Line, will be cruise director.

The Dorothy Alexander is to make stops at San Diego, Ensenada and Mazatlan, reaching that port on February 8 and remaining until February 10, when the steamship will return by way of La Paz, putting in there on February 11 and remaining until the following morning. The party is scheduled to return to Wilmington on the evening of February 15.

HEARING OF FOUR IN THEFT CASES DELAYED

The preliminary hearing of John Hurst, Mrs. Edna Carter, Phillip Valentine and Brown Higman on burglary charges was continued yesterday by Municipal Judge Galbreth until next Thursday. At that time Dep. Dist.-Atty. Russell declared, the case will be consolidated with additional burglary charges, which have been filed.

From here the Vancouver goes to the West Indies for the annual tactical drill with the West Indies squadron of the British Navy.

PSYCHOLOGY TEST IN COURTROOM FAILS

MRS. LUCILLE THAYER

When the divorce case of Mrs. Lucille Thayer against her husband, Albert L. Thayer, was called in Superior Judge Schauer's court yesterday, the judge decided on an experiment in the psychology of proximity.

"I notice you were sitting rather close to your husband, madame," said the court. "Maybe, if you would step into my chambers and let him hold your hand for an hour, a reconciliation might be effected."

So Mr. and Mrs. Thayer went into the judge's office, and sat there a while, and then came out.

"I would like to take him back for the sake of our child, but I find that I can't," said Mrs. Thayer.

So Judge Schauer ordered Thayer to pay $8 a week for the support of the child.

NEW YEAR'S ROBBER SOUGHT

A robber who entered a Chapman ice-cream store at 8248 Santa Monica Boulevard New Year's evening and at the point of a gun robbed E. W. Theelig, manager, while the latter was waiting on customers, was being sought yesterday by deputy sheriffs. The man, according to a Sheriff's-office report, escaped in an automobile after taking between $25 and $30 and wishing Theelig a happy new year.

Four Robbery Charges Faced; Plea Date Set

Asserted to be an escaped prisoner from a Georgia penitentiary, Monte Wilson, 34 years of age, yesterday was arraigned on four counts of robbery before Superior Judge Aggeler and next Friday set as the date for his plea to the charges. On the recommendation of Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Connor, Wilson's bail was increased from $10,000 to $20,000.

In the complaint against him Wilson is charged with three prior felony convictions, including one of robbery in New York in 1919, another of robbery in Georgia in 1927 and one of grand larceny in Georgia in 1928.

Included among the robberies with which he is charged is that of the Pacific Steamship Company office in Los Angeles last November. The other charges involve the asserted robbery of a cigar store and of two individuals.

JONES TO GROOM PINCKERT FOR QUARTERBACK JOB

WALTER HAGEN DEFENDS TITLE

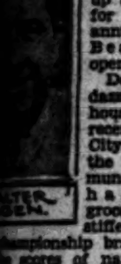
Field of 300 Enters Annual Championship Play

[illegible] Qualify Today and Tomorrow for Event

[illegible] Sixty-four and Ties to Battle on Sunday

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

A lot of brand new, shiny New Year resolutions are going to be tested, if not actually shattered today as half the field of 300 pros and amateurs take up their cudgels for the fifth annual Long Beach $3500 open.



WALTER HAGEN

Decorated by a dazzling clubhouse presented recently by the City Fathers, the Long Beach municipal course has been groomed and stiffened to bring [illegible] championship brand of golf [illegible] the scores of nationally famous players seeking to dethrone Walter Hagen, the defending titlist. The Long Beach tournament this year will be over fifty-four holes instead of seventy-two, as in past years, in order to successfully handle the field, which is the largest ever entered in the tournament. Accordingly, half the field will play the eighteen-hole qualifying round today, the balance of the field tomorrow, and the low sixty-four and ties will battle for the $3500 purse on Sunday.

HAGEN NEEDS GINGER

Hagen snapped out of his usual happy-go-lucky attitude only once last year while in Southern California, to score 71-65-70-69—276, for a win at Long Beach. This year he has displayed much the same tendency and so far has given the [illegible] little or nothing to remember him by. If he doesn't settle down to business at Long Beach he will be stripped of the only crown he has won in two years of local effort.

George (Jix) Von Elm, second-ranking amateur in the United States, who was second in the Pasadena open two weeks ago, looms as a good bet over the municipal course which is built for his game. George led the field for thirty-six holes last year, setting a new course record of 30-35—65 over the city course on the opening day. "Jix" went out with six birdies and three pars for a 30, a mark which has never been equaled.

According to a number of golfers whom we have talked to there is no use in holding the tournament at all, as Horton Smith, the 21-year-old Joplin (Mo.) pro, is a cinch for the $1000 first prize.

SMITH FAVORED

Smith plays tomorrow shortly after 9 o'clock with Fred Morrison of the Midwick Country Club, and [illegible] of Columbus, O., and this threesome will undoubtedly draw most of the gallery.

Just as a reminder, so far this season Horton has won the Oregon open, taken a second place in the [illegible] open, won the Berkeley open and the Pasadena open, final event of 1929.

Most of the famous pros and amateurs have been paired for [illegible], a number of noted play-

PANTHERS TAKE TO AIR TODAY

Pittsburgh Squad to View Los Angeles from Seat of Trimotored Ford

Pittsburgh's Panthers, somewhat tamed, are scheduled to see Los Angeles and vicinity from the air today. They are to be the guests of the Maddux Airlines, and will soar aloft in a couple of trimotored Fords for a short jaunt around Southern California.

JOCK SUTHERLAND

Yesterday the entire squad visited the Paramount studios in Hollywood, where they watched sound pictures in the making and were the subjects of a number of shots themselves. The team was still talking about the New Year's Day game and trying to figure out how they had been beaten so badly.

"Southern California has a great team," Tom Parkinson told the Paramount players, "probably the greatest team I've ever had the honor to play against."

Toby Uansa, the flashy halfback who reeled off sixty-eight yards on the first play of the game, wasn't making any alibis, but was wondering why he couldn't get going. "I'm not trying to excuse myself. I had plenty of interference, but I seemed to be doing a lot of running in one place. The Trojans have a great team, and Saunders is a real star."

Coach Jock Sutherland had almost entirely recovered from the shock of the record defeat, and was almost jovial. "We were able to stop the Trojan power play better than we expected," he said. "We feared their power and we stopped it, but to little avail, for we left ourselves wide open for Saunders's passes."

Praised for the snappy play which enabled Uansa to dash in the clear on his opening gallop, Sutherland remarked, dryly: "Yes, it was a good play. In fact, it was so good that the quarterbacks didn't call it again the rest of the afternoon." On the play in question the ball was passed directly from the center to Uansa, instead of to the fullback, as on the reverses, which were tried frequently.

TROJANS MEET ARIZONA FIVE

Opener of Two-Game Series Billed for Tonight

Shrine Auditorium Will be Scene of Contests

Barry Grooming Locals for California Clashes

BY BOB RAY

Making their final appearance before they go north next Friday to play their opening Pacific Coast Conference games with the California Bears, Coach Sam Barry's Trojan basketballers swing into action tonight at the Shrine Auditorium in the first of their two tussles with the invading Arizona Wildcats.

SAM BARRY

The Trojans didn't look any too hot in splitting even with Utah State in last week's two-game series and Barry has been working them overtime in an effort to whip them into top form. The new U.S.C. basketball mentor hopes that his charges will show considerable improvement over their last week's form in their clashes with the Arizona quintet, which is plenty tough enough to upset the Trojans.

SHORT PASS ATTACK

Coach Barry has been drilling the Trojan cagers long and often in an effort to have them perfect his short passing attack, which is somewhat strange to the locals, who were used to the system employed by Leo Calland. The Trojan coach believes his charges have a chance to win the southern section of the conference race, but their hopes hinge on the result of their two opening games against "Nibs" Price's Bears next Friday and Saturday.

The Trojan starting line-up against Arizona will be the same that Barry has used in all of the practice clashes, with Gardner and Pierce at the forward berths, Frank Smith at center and Capt. Lehners and Caldwell at the guard positions. When this combination is clicking, it's a mighty tough one to stop, inasmuch as it has size, beef, speed and no less than four good shots. Lehners, who has generally always been considered a good shot, hasn't been able to sink 'em in his customary form so far this season but is expected to get the range any day now.

MORTENSEN INJURED

Southern California cage hopes received a jolt in the New Year's Day grid game against Pitt when Jesse Mortensen, who was considered the outstanding Trojan basketballer during the previous two seasons, injured his left shoulder. The injury is not serious but it will prevent Mortensen from rounding into proper basketball form for at least a couple of weeks. Mortensen, who can play either center or forward, had recently recovered from an injury to his right shoulder that was suffered early in the football campaign.

Tony Jurich, another football player who also can do quite a bit with a casaba, is a recent recruit to the cage forces. Jurich starred at center for the Trojan frosh last year and in 1928 helped lead the Santa Monica High five to a Southern California championship.

PHELAN ARRIVES TODAY

New University of Washington Football Coach Due Here in Airplane from Texas

Following his success in coaching a Midwest all-star team against a southern group at Dalla New Year's Day, James Phelan is scheduled to arrive here tonight on the Western Air Express plane from Texas.

Phelan, who gained his fame at Purdue and will coach the Washington Huskies next season, is due to arrive about 8 p.m. and will go at once to the Biltmore, where he will be greeted by Graduate Manager Campbell of Washington. There has been a rumor that Phelan would conduct a winter coaching class at U.C.L.A., but Bill Spaulding said he knew of no such plans on the part of Phelan.

Local sports writers will be guests at a luncheon tomorrow at the Biltmore at which Phelan will be greeted by his friends here.

SHIRES IS BARRED IN MICHIGAN

Art Suspended on Charge of Attempting to Frame Fight With Criss

DETROIT, Jan. 2. (Exclusive)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires, White Sox first baseman, who recently has been seeking glory and gain in the ring, was suspended from fighting in Michigan at a meeting of the Michigan State Boxing Commission today on the presentation of evidence that Shires's handlers attempted to induce Battling Criss to "lay down" in their scheduled fight at Dancel last night. The fight was canceled because of Shires's reported illness.

"THE GREAT" SHIRES

Matches scheduled for Shires in Flint, Jackson and Grand Rapids were ordered canceled by the commission and a recommendation was sent to the National Boxing Commission that Shires be suspended in the States controlled by that body.

"We have a statement signed by Vance Gildersleeve, the manager of Battling Criss, that he was approached by representatives of Shires and told that Criss would 'have to take a dive' or the fight would be called off," James Brown, chairman of the Michigan commission, said.

"Gildersleeve says the men who approached him said they would pay Criss extra for going 'into the tank,' or quitting, to Shires. Gildersleeve came to Commissioner Komrofsky and myself with the information and, because of the evidence, we have suspended Shires."

HARD-HITTING HALFBACK SLATED FOR NEW BERTH

Devine Will Teach Sophomore Star How to Pass; Trojans Need Man to Replace Russ Saunders

BY BRAVEN DYER

If he can be converted from a very mediocre ball tosser into a capable passer, Erny Pinckert, the lion-hearted San Bernardino youth, will be Southern California's first-string quarterback next fall. This discrepancy, however slight it may appear to the uninitiated, is what stands between the Trojan halfback and a chance to assume that dashing role played with such success during 1929 by "Racehorse Russell" Saunders.

Such was the declaration yesterday of Howard Jones as the Trojan mentor toured the California Country Club golf course for a bit of relaxation following his team's stunning 47-to-14 victory over Pittsburgh at the Rose Bowl New Year's Day. Mr. Jones relaxed to such an extent that he came in with an 82, which is pretty good golf considering that he had not been playing much during the fall.

ERNY PINCKERT

"Naturally, I like to have a driving quarterback such as Saunders and Morley Drury," said Jones as he bruised a brassie shot some 240 yards down the fairway. "Marshall Duffield has proved himself a fine quarterback and will play a lot of football for us next year, but you know as well as I do that three men in this position are none too many."

DEVINE CONFIDENT

"Think you could teach Pinckert to pass?" inquired Jones of Aubrey Devine, who used to do everything with a football but swallow it when he was playing as an all-American for the Trojan mentor at Iowa.

Now Mr. Devine is an athlete who is imbued with confidence, not only as to his own ability but also as to his ability to impart this knowledge and finesse to others.

"You bet I can teach Pinckert to pass," was Aubrey's reply. "And what's more, just to show you I'm a good fellow I'll spend two weeks during spring practice doing that little thing."

There really wasn't any reason why Aubrey should have been confident about anything yesterday for he experienced one of those terrible rounds that fall to the lot of every golfer, be he good or bad. Of course, that's beside the point here. If anybody can teach Pinckert to pass, and neither Jones nor Devine seem to regard Erny as a lost soul in this respect, that somebody is Aubrey. His progress with Pinckert during spring practice will be watched with considerable interest.

Of course, Orv Mohler, coming

OILERS COP TILT FROM HOLLYWOOD

Wilson's Goal as Bell Ends Second Period is Deciding Factor

In a wild and woolly hockey clash that was decided on a shot that sent the puck into the air while the bell was ringing to end the second period, the Richfield Oilers nosed out the Hollywood Millionaires, 2 to 1, last night before an enthusiastic gathering at the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

Jack Wilson was the hero of the Richfield victory that sent the Oilers up into third place in the standings, a scant point behind the San Francisco Seals, for it was his goal, which he sent on the way as the bell sounded, that broke a 1-1 deadlock and settled the issue. The Millionaires protested that Wilson's goal shouldn't count inasmuch as the bell had rung to end the period, but the referee ruled it was fair because the puck was in the air and on its way when the second period ended.

Once in front, the Oilers played defensive hockey and the Hollywooders, try as they might, couldn't get one past Goalie Murray, who played a whale of a game. Even Smoky Harris, Hollywood's new manager, took the ice in the third period in an effort to spur his team on to a goal, but it was no use.

Hollywood scored one before the Oilers knew what it was all about when Maher passed up Murray with a shot after three minutes of play. The Millionaires continually peppered the Richfield goal in the first period, but Murray stopped them all.

Near the end of the second

COAST FOOTBALL BEST IN LAND

Walter Eckersall Says Defeats of Carnegie Tech, Army and Pittsburgh Were So Decisive That There is No Question About Western Supremacy

BY WALTER ECKERSALL
Former All-American Quarterback

PASADENA, Jan. 2.—I have seen football games on the Coast since 1916 and I am thoroughly convinced that better football is played on the Pacific Coast than in any other section of the country.

Defeats of Carnegie Tech, Army and Pitt, the three eastern elevens which invaded California, do not augur well for football as played along the Atlantic seaboard. The eastern teams were defeated decisively and all credit should go to the Pacific Coast elevens. They play football out here and the teams are coached by some of the best football teachers in the country. Strong elevens will continue to be developed as there is an abundance of material and the boys in the high schools are receiving much better coaching than in former years. The result is that they know football fundamentals when they enter any of the Pacific Coast Conference schools. Their ability is known to the coaches who immediately start to teach them the finer points of the game.

The decisive defeat of Pittsburgh yesterday by Southern California, 47 to 14, stamps Notre Dame as just about the strongest football team in the country for the season of 1929. Before yesterday's struggle the Panthers were undefeated and untied. They were looked upon as one of the best teams in the country but they were so far outclassed yesterday that Notre Dame must be given the honors.

Notre Dame defeated Southern California in Chicago, 13 to 12. The Trojans defeated Stanford which in turn won from the Army. The Cardinal also defeated California which won from the Trojans in one of the biggest upsets on the Coast last fall.

Pittsburgh played poor football, in the first half especially. The Panthers had no forward pass defense and the Trojans shot the oval over the heads of the last two men in the box defense. In the last two periods Pitt used the diamond style, with the result that the aerial attack of the Trojans was held in check more successfully.

WHAT JONES EXPECTED

Coach Jock Sutherland planned his defense to stop the Trojan running plays. This is just what Coach Howard Jones of Southern California had anticipated. Shortly after Southern California obtained possession of the ball early in the opening quarter, the forward pass was called into commission. The plays were executed perfectly and their success was due to accurate timing by both the passer and receiver. When these passes were being completed Pitt did not change its defense until ordered to do so by Coach Sutherland between halves.

As the game wore on Southern California mixed its attack nicely with the result that Pitt became more outclassed. Saunders, Shaver, Edelson, Pinckert and Duffield made choppy gains when the forward pass was not used. There was plenty of power in every ground-gaining effort and the backs and linemen worked in unison. It was this variation of attack which Pitt could not stop.

The effectiveness of the Trojan's forward pass attack may be gathered from the fact that Southern California gained 297 yards by the aerial route against 83 yards for Pitt. The local team completed eight of its fifteen passes while Pitt connected with four out of twenty tries. Southern California gained 428 yards from scrimmage and forward passes against 363 yards for Pitt. The Trojans made ten first downs against eight for the eastern team.

BILL HUNTER DESERVING OF RULES COMMITTEE JOB

When Willis O. "Bill" Hunter, director of athletics at the University of Southern California, was named as a member for 1930 of the official football rules committee at the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention in New York on New Year's Day, the election came to the local man as a richly deserved honor.

BILL HUNTER

For eleven years Bill has been chief assistant to the head football coach of the Trojans and for the past five years he has held down the important faculty job at the university of director of intercollegiate athletics. When Elmer Henderson was the Trojans' head coach from 1919 to 1924, inclusive, Hunter was his first assistant on the gridiron and when Howard Jones took over the football boss job in 1925 he kept Hunter on as chief aide. Hunter's eleven years with the Southern Californians make him the oldest coach on the staff in point of service.

Recognition of Hunter's abilities as a football expert in his appointment to the football rules committee has come as the result of the high standing he has attained among football authorities in the West. Recently at the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Conference and Managers' Association in San Francisco, it was suggested by

The first boxing show of the new year at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight will find Frankie Klick, San Francisco boy, defending his Coast featherweight championship against Maurice Holtzer of France. Klick having beaten Ignacio Fernandes, the Filipino, at Hollywood a month ago showed enough in that shot alone to warrant making him the favorite to win.

TOM GALLERY.

Frankie Klick and Maurice Holtzer are youngsters and coming up in the fight game. Holtzer has won his two fights at Hollywood in a way which has made boxing men believe he will be heard from but he isn't the clever boxer and hasn't advanced as far as Klick. Holtzer is an infighter and a stiff body puncher. He fights more like the old-timers and doesn't center all his attack on the head. He is a strong youngster who can take a lot of beating, and still be in good shape.

There are many boxing men who predict that before the end of the year Klick will be fighting the best boys in the country. He has been coming along for more than a year having beaten all the good featherweights in Northern California and now comes to Los Angeles for bigger game and fatter purses. If he cops tonight there are Santiago Zorilla, Joey Sanger and Goldie Hess to meet.

A strong card on paper has been booked by Tom Gallery which he expects will give the stadium fans a good show. Lefty Cooper, now a middleweight, fights Sandy Garrison. Cooper was a good welterweight and five years ago battled Mickey Walker for the welter title in San Francisco. The younger Garrison is expected to prove too clever, and has too much on the ball for Cooper.

Frankie Diaz, Mexican lightweight, meets a newcomer in Fred Tomkins in the special. Diaz is young and has a wallop. Art Yarnell fights Leonard Allen in one four-rounder and Johnny Navarro fights Johnny Zukus in the curtain raiser.

Pomona Starts Hard Training

CLAREMONT, Jan. 2.—With Christmas and New Year's out of the way, Coach Fuzz Merritt and his Pomona basketball team expect to settle down to some real hard work and strict training. The Sagehens are severely handicapped in their basketball training for the vacation period breaks right into the middle of it, and the boys come from so far that it is next to impossible to keep them together during that period.

Merritt has lined up a series of practice games for the Sagehens, and intends to keep the boys working early and late.

The success of the Pomona basketball team for the coming season depends largely on whether or not Al Putnam can get his arm in shape. Putnam hurt that member of his anatomy in the Oxy-Pomona football game, and it has been rather slow in getting well. Putnam, when in shape, teams with Harold Hadfield at the forward berths, and these two make a wonderful pair of forwards.

It is hard to say at this time just what will be the first-string line-up of the Sagehens, but it is pretty certain that the above two men will be at forwards, while Capt. Clarence Bishop will hold down the center job. When we come to the guards, however, we find four men on equal terms. Those men are Owen Kelson and Frank Clements, running guards, and Stew Hagested and Walt Shannon, standing guards.

No matter what the outcome of the season, Sagehen fans can be sure of one thing, and that is that Pomona will have a fast, hard-fighting crew on the floor, for any team that Fuzz Merritt coaches always has plenty of drive and pepper.

HUNTER EARNS NEW GRID POST

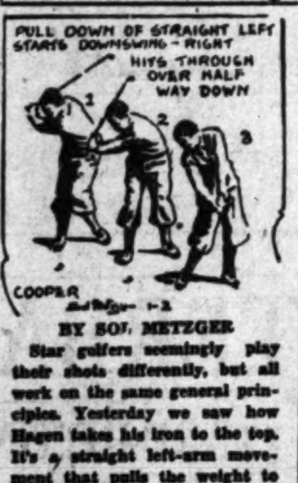
both bodies that Hunter's name be proposed for the committee, and it was the unanimous backing of the westerners that resulted in Hunter's name being placed before the N.C.A.A. convention this week. In receiving the appointment to the committee, Hunter succeeds George Varnell, Seattle football official and writer, as the eighth district's representative.

The Trojan athletic director will participate in the meetings of the football rules committee for the first time next month when he will attend committee sessions in New York where suggested changes in the present code of rules receive action.

Members of the rules committee, in addition to Hunter from the eighth district are E. K. Hall, chairman; W. S. Langford, member at large; T. A. D. Jones, first district; W. W. Roper, second district; H. J. Stegeman, third district; A. A. Stagg, fourth district; M. F. Ahearn, fifth district; Ray Marshall, sixth district, and H. W. Hughes, seventh district.

Hunter fulfills all the qualifications for membership in the important rules body as he is experienced as a coach, a former star player at Oberlin College, and a faculty man as director of athletics at S.C.

Right is Aid in Downswing



PULL DOWN OF STRAIGHT LEFT STARTS DOWNSWING—RIGHT HITS THROUGH OVER HALF WAY DOWN

BY SOL METZGER

Star golfers seemingly play their shots differently, but all work on the same general principles. Yesterday we saw how Hagen takes his iron to the top. It's a straight left-arm movement that pulls the weight to the right side, where a braced right leg and locked right hip catch it, and preserve one's balance. Then the final cock of the wrists.

Today let us get a mental picture of the downswing, using Harry Cooper as the example. There is no hurry in starting it. It's done by pulling the club straight down the right side with the straight left arm. The wrists remain cocked. Halfway down (Fig. 2) the wrists are still cocked.

Here's where the right begins to do the hitting. With it you hit straight through the ball and on out toward the flag. Don't try to roll the wrists. They'll take care of themselves if you hit through the ball and out toward the flag with the right. Keep the arms firm at the wrists, too, so you'll cut through the turf after contact.

Tomorrow—A freak iron shot.

The action of the knees, the hips, the arms on the backswing and at time of impact is well described in Sol Metzger's leaflet on "The Pivot." He will send it to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Oxy Runners in Workout

Cece Howard, crack Occidental College sprinter, yesterday failed to show at the initial call of track-and-field candidates by Coach Joe Pipal, veteran cinderpath mentor.

Howard declared emphatically yesterday that he would not run for the Tigers this year, but instead would work and attend strictly to studies besides.

All in all, the Tiger turnout yesterday resulted in the same comment as made before by the Oxy mentor, to wit: "We hardly look forward to a track championship this year. We have a field team, not a track team. We haven't a single track veteran other than Capt. Fred Appleton."

Pipal sent his candidates around the Patterson Field oval on a jaunt of several laps, after which he announced an interclass meeting for the 25th inst. and further informed his charges that on February 8 the Tigers encounter the strong L.A.A.C. squad at Oxy.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

THE UNFORGETTABLE

THINGS you can never forget about the New Year's game between Pitt and Southern California:

The rapid-fire thrills in the first quarter—Uansa's dazzling run for 68 yards and Saunders's successful stern chase on the opening scrimmage play of the game, Saunders's 34-yard pass to Edelson and the latter's 30-yard run for the first touchdown, Saunders's 20-yard pass to Pinckert and the latter's 15-yard run to the second touchdown.

All these throbs before the game was ten minutes old.

Also in the first quarter—Shaver's tremendous punt over the heads of the Pitt secondary backs. It traveled 69 yards from the line of scrimmage before coming to a stop on the Pitt 5-yard line. The ensuing exchange of kicks cost Pitt 33 yards.

And in the second quarter—Duffield's quick kick over the secondary defense for a net gain of 55 yards, paving the way for the Trojan third touchdown, which came in a five-play sequence from the 19-yard line and was culminated by the outmaneuvering of all-American Joe Donchess by Duffield.

Also in this period Duffield's 37-yard pass to Mortenson and the latter's 20-yard run to the Pitt 3-yard line, from which point Duffield went over on a spin play.

In the third period—Saunders's personal excursion from the middle of the field for a touchdown in eight plays, five by himself; Uansa's muffing of a perfect pass for a touchdown, but a few seconds later Walinchus's completion of Baker's 38-yard toss in the end zone for Pitt's first score. And then three minutes later Saunders's 39-yard pass and Edelson's 10-yard run for Troy's sixth touchdown.

And in the final quarter a reminder of the day when Notre Dame beat Southern California, 13 to 12, at the Coliseum three years ago because a left-handed passer named Parisien completed two perfect tosses to Butch Niemiec for the winning score in the last two minutes of the game. This time it was a 36-yard pass and a 10-yard run by Collins that turned the trick, but the effort did not win the game for Pitt.

But the biggest thrill of all—in the fourth quarter—when Wilcox of Troy and Williams and Uansa of Pitt raced for a 51-yard pass from Marshall Duffield. Wilcox plucked the ball out of the air, knocking both Pitt men to the ground and leaving Uansa sprawled out stone cold as he sped on 20 yards to the goal line.

EAST-WEST RECORD

THERE never has been a game like it to describe since the annual East-West football classics were started back in 1916 at Pasadena, not even the Alabama-Washington thriller in 1926 when the Crimson Tide came from behind to roll up 20 points in the third period and eventually defeat Washington by the margin of a single point, 20 to 19.

Nor is it likely that for many years will a team come out of the East with such a record as Pitt—nine victories and no defeats, with a goal line crossed but six times throughout the season—and suffer such an ignominious rout.

Seven times the Trojans crossed the last Pitt stripe on the field of play—once more than the combined total of nine other teams, including West Virginia, Nebraska, Ohio State, W. and J., Carnegie Tech and Penn State.

The triumph was more outstanding, the rout more convincing even than the so-called California "Wonder Team's" 28-to-0 defeat of Ohio State nine years ago.

And that was the record East-West score until the Trojans rose up in all their might Wednesday and smote the Golden Panthers from Pittsburg hip and thigh.

It was literally a case of uncrowned all-Americans annihilating a team which boasted four all Americans in the line-up.

And Troy didn't do it because of reserve power, but because of real, downright football ability. The regulars scored twice before the game was ten minutes old. Troy had thirty-four men on the bench, Pitt thirty-three. There was no disparity there.

THE ALL-AMERICAN GUFF

AND if we must have all-American teams, let's have them by section hereafter.

On the strength of what Stanford and Southern California did to their last two respective foes an all-American team selected from the ranks of these squads alone could mop up with a team combed from the entire East and Midwest sectors.

In the California and Army games Stanford was invincible. Experts who saw those two games said no team in the country could have beaten Stanford. The Cards won 21 to 6 and 34 to 13, respectively.

The experts said the same thing after the Trojans' crushing of Carnegie Tech, 45 to 13, and Pitt, 47 to 14.

Surely, no one will deny that Muller, end, and Smalling, fullback, couldn't have been improved upon in their last two games for Stanford. Or that Saunders of Troy is one of the hardest running and hitting backs that ever played football. Or that Arbelbide is a sweet flanker.

And yet you never heard of any of these four players being mentioned for any all-American teams this year. Grantland Rice, who essays to be the Walter Camp of the current era, passed them all up cold. So did Christy Walsh and his coaches—and others.

You never heard anything of Galloway and Anthony, who played the right side of the Trojan line, being considered for all-American teams this year, and yet they are big factors in making the Troy so-called power plays possible.

And Pitt, with all its reputed power, was not making yards through them when yards counted—nor through Barragar and Hall on the other side. Save for one 59-yard march, 42 yards of which arrived by air on two successful passes, Pitt's power that startled the East was pretty well trussed up between the 25-yard lines.

PINCKERT MAY PLAY QUARTER

Jones to Try Halfback at New Position

Devine Will Undertake Job of Coaching Star

Sophomore Must Learn How to Pass Correctly

up from the frosh, may be the chap Jones is looking for. Orv can kick, pass and run with the ball, but there is some doubt, until Mohler gets on the varsity, as to his ability to enact the battering-ram role which Saunders, Drury and others filled to such perfection. Mohler is lighter than any of these men, but not much more so than Morton Kaer. It might be mentioned that both Drury and Saunders like Pinckert, were halfbacks as sophomores.

The most promising candidate for Pinckert's outside halfback position, in case Erny does master the art of passing, will be Kirkwood, a big 190-pound youth from the frosh. Kirkwood can kick splendidly and is an excellent passer.

When asked what made him feel, prior to the game, that he was going to defeat Pitt by a large score, as he stated, Jones declared:

SAUNDERS RIGHT

"I was pretty confident that Saunders was right and that he would be hard to stop. I knew that if he was running as he did against Washington State and Carnegie Tech that Pitt would have to sacrifice secondary strength in order to keep him from making long gains. When this sacrifice was made I felt that our passes would work, and they did. Then I had a hunch our players were mentally and physically keyed up. Also I had heard that Pittsburgh was inclined to underestimate our strength. Putting all these things together it looked to me as if we would win."

Jones's desk at the University of Southern California was covered with congratulatory messages yesterday. Among those sending telegrams were Knute Rockne, Paul Schissler, Oregon State coach; Glenn Devine, brother of Aubrey and now a midwestern coach, and many others.

The annual football banquet, at which monograms will be awarded, is slated to be held within the next ten days, according to Bill Hunter, director of intercollegiate athletics. A captain will be elected at that time. Several players are in the running, although the leading candidates are Marshall Duffield, Marger Apsit and Don Moses. Apsit is likely to play more football than either of the other two, as he will take Harry Edelson's position. Harry, incidentally, can pay some attention to his business of radio salesman now that the grid season is over.

Jess Mortensen came out of the game with an injured shoulder, which is a tough blow to Sam Barry's basketball team.

Garrett Arbelbide suffered an injured knee, but the hurt was not serious. Arbelbide, to my way of thinking, was plain poison to the Panthers. He just naturally annoyed them all along the line. Maybe he did miss a couple of tackles but he knocked down two or three Pitt men nearly every time he went into action.

One question that naturally arises as a result of the lopsided score is this: What constitutes a set-up? Some of the local scribes have been "on" the Trojans for their schedule. Oregon State was defeated, 21 to 7; Washington State, 27 to 6; Washington, 48 to 0, and Occidental, 64 to 0. Most of these teams were referred to as third and fourth-rate outfits. A lot of writers claimed the Trojans should be ashamed of themselves for playing 'em. Then along comes Pittsburgh with a claim, not advanced locally but by eastern critics, to the national championship. And Pitt takes a 47-to-14 licking and is so badly outclassed that the spectacle was positively pathetic. The Panthers looked worse than Washington did when taking that 48-to-0 beating in Seattle and that's no hooey.

But now the boys are claiming that Pitt didn't ever have a football team. Never had met anybody to speak of—which is partly true. But don't forget this—eastern writers and Pitt supporters emphatically stated that the 1929 Pitt team was far superior to the outfit which came here two years ago. And Stanford barely eked out a 7-to-6 win over that aggregation. Which is worth remembering when you bump into some chap who is rather loath to give the Trojans credit for their feat in annihilating the Panthers.

Already some eastern critics are coming back with the statement that the huge score is not a true indication of the real ability of the two teams. And these critics are right, only the wrong way. Troy could have made it more. But Jones, with a lot of eager young men on the bench, tossed in fourth and fifth-string players who would have never been injected had the game been close.

"All these boys gave their best efforts through a long season and they deserved a chance to play so I sent them in," was the way Jones put it.

Ev Brown, who rates after Shaver, Musick, Moses and Hill as a fullback, was sitting on the bench late in the game.

"What position can you play, Brownie?" was Jones's query.

"I can play any place," was Ev's comeback in his eagerness to get into the battle.

So Jones sent him in at right halfback, where Brown had never played before.

No, the score did not represent the real difference between the two teams as they played New Year's Day.

MEANWELL DEFENSE—GUARDS OR FIRST MEN THROUGH IN ZONES—ONE FORWARD JOINS IN ZONE DEFENSE.

BY SOL METZGER

Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, one of the greatest basketball coaches in America, is always springing something new. "Doc" is a hound for technical stuff and his teams show it. Last year his defense was well-nigh perfect in conference play and helped his Wisconsin team tie for the conference title.

It's not quite the same as the standard defense in the conference. His men break into a two-line defense when the opponents get the ball, guards to the rear. They play a zone defense. But when the opposition shows its hand by its first advance, when the opponents, for example, rush the No. 1 man down first, the forward facing him lets him go by. But watch Meanwell's other forward. He breaks back to become the pivot or center man of the three-one basket defense.

That leaves Meanwell his center and one forward in the first line to break for the basket when the ball switches hands.

Tomorrow—Another combination defense used by California at Los Angeles.

BOUT TOURNEY PLANNED HERE

Junior Lightweight Tilts Carded by Olympic

Plans were launched yesterday by the Olympic to hold a junior lightweight tournament with the Cecil Payne-Goldie Hess bout next Tuesday as the starter. The New York commission has called off both the 130 and 140-pound junior championships.

Tod Morgan is home after his fight with Benny Bass when he was stopped in the second round by the Philadelphian. The action of New York leaves Bass without a recognized title.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams said he would attempt to have the winner of the Payne-Hess fight recognized as the Pacific Coast champion and let the winner fight Morgan and Bass as the final test.

The California commission never has taken official cognizance of either the junior lightweight or the junior welterweight championships.

Even when Mushy Callahan whipped Pinkey Mitchell at old Vernon the title was purely a claim through the press and not the boxing body.

Hess may be an even-money bet against the Kentuckian this time. Friends of the Ocean Park slugger say he was not in his best form when he lost to the Kentuckian before, having just recovered from a double operation.

Since then Hess has defeated the hard-punching Baby Sal Sorio and is apparently on his old system of doing things when he beat Santiago Zorilla, Morgan and Gaston Charles.

Payne and Hess will box at 132 pounds. It is catchweights for both. They tipped around 131 for their first battle, which Payne won with his deceptive "Harry Greb" style.

Jack Lakin, manager of Payne, said he was close to signing Cecil to meet Al Singer in New York early in February.

Tony Portillo and Joe Ewer, welterweight from Louisville, are signed for the six-round semi-wind-up under Payne and Hess.

Tiger Cagers Play Tonight

Occidental's classy varsity basketball machine will engage in its last practice tilt of the season tonight in preparation for the opening game against the Redlands Bulldogs next week, when the Tiger cagers play host to the Santa Barbara State College quintet in the Glendale High gym at 8 p.m.

The visiting Roadrunner five is expected to prove easy prey for the fast-traveling Bengal machine, whose only defeats thus far have been at the hands of the Brigham Young and the L.A.A.U. teams by very close margins.

Kienholz of the Tigers will start his strongest combination, comprised of Seller, center; Beebe and Elliott, guards, and Dimter and Glover, forwards, with hopes of running up a huge scoring lead before the first half ends. The Oxy pilot plans to use every player in tonight's game.

MICHIGAN BARS "GREAT" SHIRES

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, when apprised of Shires's predicament, said he would take no action affecting Shires's status as a baseball player until an investigation has been made of the evidence supporting the Michigan Boxing Commission's stand.

"I have no intention to do the player an injustice by discussing the situation until I have had opportunity to first verify the action of the boxing commission and then determine whether action was based upon sound evidence," Landis said.

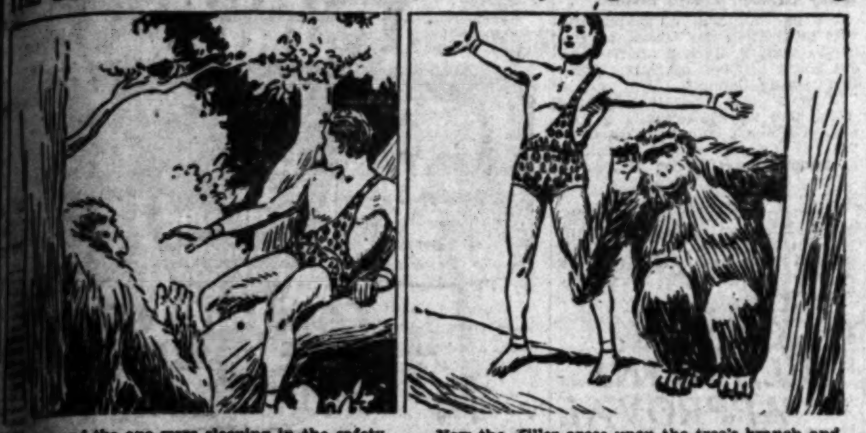
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

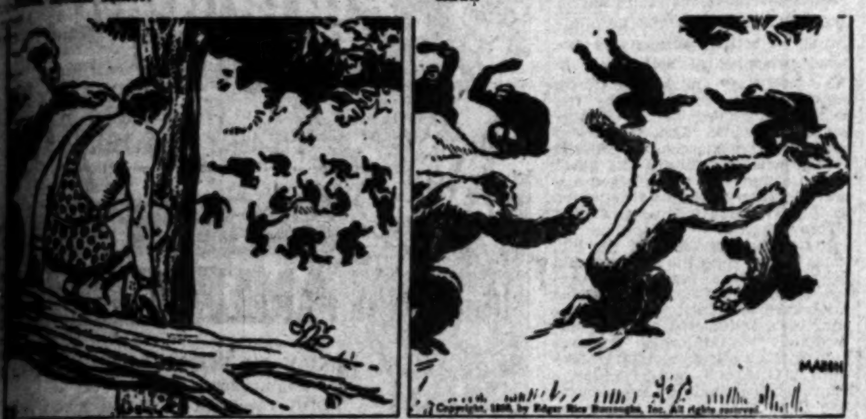
THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



The boy and the ape were sleeping in the safety of a great tree when the booming sound smote upon their ears. Both awoke at once. Akut was the first to interpret the strange cadence. "The great apes!" he growled. "They dance the Dum-Dum. Come, Korak, son of Tarzan, let us go to our people." Months before Akut had given the boy this name. He could not master the man-given name of Jack. In the apes' language Korak means Killer.

Now the Killer arose upon the tree's branch and stretched his lithe young muscles. The ape stood up, too, squatting after the manner of his kind. Low growls rumbled from his great chest, growls of excited anticipation. The boy growled in harmony with the ape. He was happy and expectant. Now all thoughts of London and civilization were gone. Except for form and mental development, he was as much an ape as the great, fierce Akut.



Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Louder and louder came the sound of the drum's booming as the two came nearer to the dancing apes. Presently through a break in the foliage the whole savage scene burst upon the boy's eager eyes. To Akut it was a familiar sight, but Korak's nerves tingled as he looked. The great bulls were leaping in the moonlight about a flat-topped, earthen drum, which three old females were beating with resounding whacks from heavy sticks.

Akut knew the customs of his kind, and he was too wise to make their presence known until the frenzy of the dance had passed. When the drum was quiet and the tribe had feasted he would hail them. After a parley he and Korak would be accepted into membership, unless there might be some who would object. But Akut hoped there would be those who had known Tarzan. His dearest wish was that Korak, son of Tarzan, should become king of the apes.

IMPROVEMENT ACT ATTACKED

Title Company Asks Writ to Halt Assessment

Increase Without Warning Called Confiscation

Werner Maintains Original Notice Sufficient

Constitutionality of the Improvement Act of 1911 under which millions in city district assessments have been collected and spent is attacked in an injunction suit asked against the city by the Title Insurance and Trust Company argued before Superior Judge Gates yesterday. The case was submitted on briefs.

The title company asserted that assessments against four lots in the Topanga Canyon-avenue improvement district between Roscoe and Ventura Boulevards were raised from $21,668 to $24,484 without giving the owner an opportunity to protest.

The city, in its reply, filed by City Attorney Werner, protested that the original notice that there would be an assessment was sufficient to advise all taxpayers that a change in their assessment was possible.

The assessment on certain lots was raised when owners of other lots objected that the assessed value of their property was too high. The City Council's board of equalization then redistributed the assessments, lowering some and raising others, to collect the $114,265 necessary to complete the job.

Attorney Ward Chapman, for the plaintiff company, argued that the assessing of lots without notifying taxpayers was equivalent to "confiscating property without due process of law."

St. Louis Estate Trustee Scouts Ouster Report

Press dispatches from St. Louis asserting three heirs are seeking his removal as trustee to a large fortune on the ground that he and another trustee have not made a proper accounting, were refuted here yesterday by Gustav A. Franz, 5128 Olympia Boulevard.

Franz is the son of Ehrhardt W. Franz, former St. Louis grocer, who, in 1896 invested $21,000 in Burroughs Adding Machine Company stock that now is worth more than $10,000,000. When the elder Franz died in 1898 he left the stock to his wife and other heirs.

"The action in St. Louis was instituted by a bank representing the estate of one heir, now deceased," declared Franz yesterday. "A proper accounting was made and filed. None of the other direct heirs are seeking a change of trustees."

The other trustee is Gustav A. Buder, St. Louis publisher.

RICHARDSON SENDS WIRE ON MURDER

Former Governor Asserts Taylor Slaying Mystery Now Near Solution

Friend W. Richardson, former Governor, yesterday announced he had sent a telegram regarding the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery to Joseph Vickers, attorney of Los Angeles and formerly the Governor's secretary, with instructions to submit the message to Dist.-Atty. Fitts. Vickers, when questioned last night at a meeting of American Legion Post No. 8, of which he is adjutant, said that he did not know of the arrival of the telegram or its contents because he had not been to his office yesterday.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts said earlier yesterday that Vickers had said that he never had heard of the message.

"It is better late than never to reopen the Taylor murder case," Richardson explained yesterday in San Francisco, after announcing that he had sent the telegram on Wednesday. "I am determined that it shall be reopened and the mystery of it solved. The telegram was important and its disclosure at this time might have the effect of scaring off needed witnesses."

The former Governor declined to reveal the telegram's contents. Thomas M. Gannon, formerly a member of the State Prison Board, said that one of the witnesses believed to have had information regarding the case is Arthur or George Heffner. Gannon added that the information which won Heffner's parole from Folsom proved unreliable and that the man is said to be sought now as a parole violator.

Shooting Case Trial Date Set

Charged in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson with having shot a fellow-employee New Year's Eve, Sterling H. Duncan, 48 years of age, was arraigned in Municipal Court and his preliminary hearing set for 2 p.m. on the 9th inst.

Duncan is charged with having shot Carl J. Ostrom, 44, in the office of the Merchants' Fire Dispatch, where both were said to have been employed. The shooting is asserted to have climaxed a misunderstanding between the pair.

DR. STREET REPORTED ON WAY TO RECOVERY

Dr. Lionel A. B. Street was reported yesterday to be on his way to complete recovery following an operation for acute appendicitis. Dr. Street, who is a past-president of the International Medical Association, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis more than a week ago, and for a time was seriously ill. He is at the California Hospital.

Industry's Leaders Look for Many New Refinements

More Program Exchanges With Europe Expected

Stations Announce Several Interesting Offerings

The Times Forum, KHJ, 10:30 a.m. will present Jennie Durkee, playing the ukulele, banjo and Spanish guitar.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

The year 1930 is expected to be another period of great advance in radio, particularly in the direction of refinements rather than new developments.

Radio industrial leaders anticipate a more or less regular exchange of programs with Europe, the practicability of which was exemplified on Christmas day when programs were received from Holland, Germany and England with exceptional clarity and negligible interference. Differences in time between the United States and Europe, which would prevent having evening audiences on both sides of the water at the same time, it is believed, can be conquered by recording the programs and transmitting them at the proper time, a development which already has been given serious consideration by officials of the Federal Radio Commission, who discuss the subject in their annual report to Congress.

POSSIBILITY CITED

"It is not beyond the range of possibility that American broadcasting stations will consider it desirable to rebroadcast programs originating in Europe," it is declared. "Because of the great difference of time existing between the European and American continents an international audience ordinarily could not be obtained by simultaneous broadcast of the same program in both countries. There are indications that it may be necessary to record a European program on wax or film and rebroadcast that program a few hours later in this country at a time when an audience can be regarded as assured."

HIGHLIGHTS TODAY

Miss Durkee, appearing on The Times Forum over KHJ at 10:30 o'clock this morning, will play the following on the ukulele: "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," sextette from "Lucia di Lammermoor," Spanish medley, "Wedding of the Painted Doll," "Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Song of the Islands;" on the banjo, "Kentucky Babe" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia;" on the guitar, "Country Gardens," by Granger; "In Old Madrid" and "Bonnie Sweet Bessie." The three instruments will be interspersed, affording a rare treat of old favorites.

An unusual feature on KHJ from 1 to 2 o'clock this afternoon will be a C.B.S. program carrying talks by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur and Dr. J. B. Scott, from Washington. The Yale Glee Club is to be the musical feature of this program.

SCENARIST TO TALK

From 8 to 8:30 tonight, Jeannie Macpherson, noted scenarist, will be on KHJ to give advice to young writers. An imported made-in-Switzerland yodeler, together with Tige and Buster, will be the added attractions. The famous Hallelujah Quartet again will salute the KHJ microphone from 8:30 to 9 p.m. with spirituals and southern syncopations.

KFI has for the home owner and artist a N.B.C. program on interior decorating at 10 o'clock this morning. At 6 tonight a medley of songs by Billie Jones and Ernie Hare will be given. Jessica Dragonette, light opera soprano, will sing over KFI at 6:30. At 8 William Don, "Dr. Oojah," English comedian, will entertain over KFI.

KNX promises a program of excellent music and song beginning at 11:30 this morning. At 7:30 until 8 p.m. the KNX ensemble will present a group of beautiful old-time songs; while the Lion Tamers' Circus at 9 o'clock will bring the atmosphere of circus days with a real ring master 'n everything.

KMTR will mingle an excellent musical program with a recreated prize fight between Nelson and Gans. Immediately following the dinner concert, vocalists will be heard with Wright's Melodists at 8 o'clock in well selected numbers. At 8:30 tribute will be paid California composers. The compositions of Carrie Jacobs Bond and Charles Wakefield Cadman will be among its features. At 9 tonight John Driscoll will recreate the Nelson-Gans fight of years ago, bringing bygone days back to old-time fight fans.

FIREMEN SAVE THREE BABIES

Inhalator Squads Respond to Calls from Doctors as Infants Face Death

Three babies yesterday owed their lives to the prompt work of fire department inhalator squads. Irwin Cohen, 12 days of age of 3021 Tenth avenue, was struggling for breath when Dr. L. H. Greenbaum called Capt. Blake and Rescue Squad No. 1. After the inhalator squad had worked for ninety-two minutes the child was pronounced out of danger.

Congestion threatened the life of Robert Depue, 6 weeks of age of 2206 South Kaffey street, San Pedro, when Dr. W. R. Warnack called in Capt. Johns of Rescue Squad No. 3. Capt. Cooper, also of Squad No. 3, worked over the newly born infant of Mrs. A. Bartlett in the San Pedro General Hospital when called by Dr. L. W. Stark.

BILLIE DOVE ADMITS HER SEPARATION

No Hope of Reconciliation With Willat, Director, Declares Film Actress

While Billie Dove, film actress, yesterday declined to discuss the possibility of filing a divorce suit she asserted there is no hope for a reconciliation between her and her husband, Irvin Willat, director. The admission by Miss Dove that she and Willat have separated culminated reports to that effect which started about a year ago.

Willat now is in New York where he went several weeks ago to direct a picture for an independent company.

Miss Dove in admitting the separation asserted the parting came because of their inability to get along together and that they separated by mutual agreement feeling they were obstacles to each other's happiness and success. Miss Dove is a player in First National films.

Suicidal Shot Laid to Illness

Report of the suicide of Edward Schmidt, Jr., at his home in La Canada was sent yesterday to the Sheriff's office. According to the report, Schmidt, son of a Los Angeles tailor, fired a shot into his head late Wednesday night. The father told officers that his son had been despondent because of illness.

The body was sent to the undertaking establishment of Kiefer & Eyrick, Glendale.

LIONS TO HEAR TALK ON LIFE WITH CIRCUS

Members of the Los Angeles Lions' Club will hear a talk on circus life at the weekly meeting of the organization at the Biltmore today at noon. The speaker is Al Priddy of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Circus. Mr. Priddy has spent many years in circus life and has an interesting list of circus anecdotes to amuse his hearers.

He is a resident of San Bernardino. E. M. Gore is chairman of the Lions' Club programs for January. His second meeting will be devoted to the National Orange Show the 10th inst.

ROOMER ASPHYXIATED

In a gas-filled room, Peter F. Wolff, 40 years of age, who roomed at 1939 South Maple avenue, was found yesterday by the landlady. She said he had been despondent because of illness. The body was removed to the morgue.

OTTO KAHN'S SON WITH LASKY

Carewe Makes Two Films a Year—Also Other Plans; Harrison Ford Signed for Featured Film Role; Billie Bakewell Featured by Warners

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

More and more musical talent, as you have doubtless observed, is being attracted to the talking pictures.

Now it is no less colorful an individual than 22-year-old Roger Wolfe Kahn, son of Otto Kahn, internationally known capitalist and patron of the arts, who is to become identified with pictures.

Young Kahn is signing with Paramount. He is coming west from New York within a few weeks to study the whole art of picture making, and especially the musical end, and is to compose and direct special scores and musical numbers.

When still in his teens, after studying music for some time, Kahn ran away from home and joined a band, playing the saxophone. He became well known in musical circles. Soon he became head of his own orchestra, and, one of his musical activities at present is leading an orchestra in one of New York's smartest night clubs. Already young Kahn has composed a number of musical numbers, and is said to be also engaged in the writing of the music for a musical comedy.

CAREWE PLANNING TWO FILMS A YEAR

EDWIN CAREWE

After all, Edwin Carewe will not sign with Pathe. Indeed, he is so greatly interested in two lines of business outside of pictures that he said yesterday he means to make but two pictures a year, devoting the remainder of his time to business pursuits. These two pictures, however, he will produce as specials and perhaps independently.

"Both will be epics or westerns," he said. "I shan't make any more of these romances like 'Evangeline.'"

Carewe is postponing the production of "The Spoilers" for several months. He and Mrs. Carewe are going to New York within a week or two, there to effect the release of the interest which Pathe owns in the above-named Rex Beach story. This release will cost him $45,000, but he considers the Beach rights worth it.

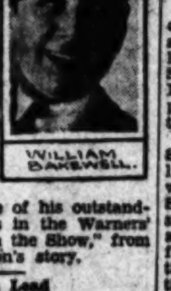
"The Silver Horde," another Beach story, having to do with the fishing industry, is also owned by Carewe and he expects to produce this following "The Spoilers."

Concerning the Pathe deal, Carewe declared that if he accepted the position offered him he felt that he would be too much tied down to production detail for him to be able to accomplish what he wished in either pictures or his other lines of work.

"Before going to New York we are going to Havana for a trip," Carewe said. "We are going by way of the Panama Canal."

Billy Bakewell In It

That rising young comedian, William Bakewell, is beginning the year well.



WILLIAM BAKEWELL.

He is to be cofeatured with Marian Nixon in Warner Brothers' "Miss Kitty Bellaires," we learned yesterday.

Bakewell, though hardly out of his teens, has had a brilliantly successful career in pictures, having played leads in a number of Warner Brothers' and Universal films. One of his outstanding successes was in the Warners' picture, "On With the Show," from Humphrey Pearson's story.

Harrison Ford in Lead

Casts appear to be all-star these days, so that no one need be surprised to find a former lone star favorite sharing honors with some other star in any production now under way.

HARRISON FORD

Harrison Ford used to be one of our favorite stars in the old days of the silent pictures. Yesterday he was signed to play a featured role with Richard Dix in Dix's newest stellar vehicle, "I Love You," adapted from William Le Baron's play.

There are three important male roles in "I Love You," and, along with Dix and Harrison Ford will appear also Bert Moorehouse, who likewise was signed yesterday for the picture. Mel Brown is directing.

Walter Huston Arriving Soon

Walter Huston, who has been definitely decided on for the name part in D. W. Griffith's production of "The Life of Abraham Lincoln," is to arrive in town on the 11th inst. Following his arrival, United Artists and Griffith will begin the casting for the remainder of the historic characters in the picture.

Harry Gribbon Leaves Sennett

It's like thinking of taking the vote away from the American people to imagine Mack Sennett without Harry Gribbon or Harry Gribbon leaving Sennett.

However, this separation of producer and star is actually to occur. Gribbon's contract with Sennett having expired, the comedian is announcing that he is leaving Sennett to return to New York and quite probably the stage there.

During his Broadway career Gribbon starred or played important roles in a score or two of notable musical productions, including a number of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas.

O'CONNELL BILL WINS APPROVAL

Chamber Indorses Move for Hospitalization of ex-Service Men

National enactment of legislation that will provide for the hospitalization of retired officers and enlisted personnel of both sexes in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, yesterday was approved by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The subject was brought before the chamber's board by the aviation, military and naval affairs committee, which urged approval of the proposal as contained in the O'Connell bill, now pending before Congress.

Under the provisions of the bill, those retired from the service would be placed on a parity with provisions now made for the honorably discharged personnel. Notice of the chamber's action will be sent immediately to California Senators and representatives, Secretary-Manager A. G. Arnoll, said yesterday, a request being made to Representative Crail that his bill calling for additional beds and increased personnel in the Veterans' Hospital at Sawtelle, have an amendment added to allow hospitalization of officers and personnel referred to in the O'Connell bill.

Wife Charges Realty Dealer With Cruelty

A hearing of the contested divorce action of Mrs. Bonita W. Smiley and Bert L. Smiley, Los Angeles real estate dealer, involving community property with an asserted value of $50,000, was begun yesterday before Superior Judge Jamison. Mrs. Smiley asks for a divorce, $200 a month alimony and $1000 attorney fees. The decree is asked on the grounds of cruelty. Smiley has no cross-complaint, but has filed an answer, in which he denies the charges made by his wife.

According to the complaint, the couple married December 6, 1920, and separated August 10, 1929. They have one adopted daughter. The Smileys are formerly of Fort Dodge, Iowa, where Mr. Smiley was a prominent dealer in electrical fixtures.

In her testimony yesterday Mrs. Smiley accused Smiley of frequently going into sulking spells during which he refused to talk to her. She also asserted that on one occasion he got angry while they were at dinner and pushed her away from the dinner table. Another time he cursed her while they were the dinner guests.

In his answer to the suit Smiley denies the accusations of his wife, asserting that she frequently flys into fits of temper and also that she nags him. He asserts he was more successful in business in Iowa than in California; that when he expresses a wish to return to the Middle West his wife flys into a rage and declares she will not leave California.

The hearing of the case will continue today.

Contest Opened on Crombie Will

Relatives opposing the will of Mrs. Annvernette M. Crombie, who left most of her $100,000 estate to the doctor and nurse who attended her in her last illness, appeared in Superior Judge Bowron's court yesterday to begin the contest to the will.

The suit was brought in the name of Mrs. Linda Burrell, and besides the heirs, Dr. Robert H. Kennicott, Dr. Donald J. Frick and Miss Elizabeth Moore, a nurse, the Los Angeles First National Bank, executor of the will, is named as defendant. The testator is asserted to have been of unsound mind.

LONG-INHABITED TOWN YIELDS INDIAN RELICS

Oraibi in Arizona, the oldest occupied town north of Mexico, continuously inhabited for 1000 years, has welcomed Mark R. Harrington, research director of the Southwest Museum. Mr. Harrington went to Oraibi recently to make a collection of the articles used by the ancient Indians in their daily life. The chief of the Hopi tribe was interested that a museum wanted to preserve their belongings, which are rapidly disappearing, and co-operated with Mr. Harrington in his project. He made him a member of his tribe during his visit there and a pueblo was whitewashed for his occupation.

The Soyal ceremony in preparation for spring, which is an important time in Indian life, takes place each December and lasts five days. Mr. Harrington joined the Indians in this ceremony. The prayers were for the people of the tribe, particularly Mr. Harrington; the people of the country and the people of the world that they might have enough to eat and be happy.

From early morning till midnight, Indians flocked to Mr. Harrington's pueblo bringing their choicest possessions. He is pleased with his purchases. Fascinating gambling games, valuable bowls of prehistoric days and a complete weaving outfit with a partly woven blanket on the loom were acquired. The museum now has the furnishings necessary for a Hopi house, including old beams from Oraibi. This house will be built when funds are available.

ZIEGFELD CHARMERS EXTOLLED

"Glorifying the American Girl," Pays Tribute to Beauties of Famed Revue

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Motion pictures extend compliments to Florenz Ziegfeld . . .

Thus might "Glorifying the American Girl' be briefly headlined.

For further enlightenment it can be mentioned that the film's proffer tribute to the far-famed revue produper in the form of a backstage talking picture, which is now showing at the Paramount Theater.

Mary Eaton, the sparkling dancer, is its leading woman, and a cast, unknown to most moviegoers, furnishes the support. The most familiar face is perhaps that of Bull Montana, who is also duly glorified, though not given screen credit.

Millard Webb directed this production, and in collaboration with J. P. McEvoy wrote the story. "Glorifying the American Girl" was for several years merely a title. It was also a plan and a project that seemed destined never to see realization. The talk always was that it would be a big and spectacular feature when it was made, but apparently luck was against the enterprise.

As it now emerges, it is an impression of life "behind the scenes," that will perhaps have to stand comparison with various stories of similar character already shown. The plot offers nothing of startling newness except a denouement that suggests a feminine variation on the old "Pagliacci" idea. In other words, the heroine of the story learns that the boy she loves has wedded another, and so with tears welling up into her eyes she goes forth to achieve her grand triumph of being glorified.

Miss Eaton is a very capable dancer, and enacts the leading portrayal with sincerity, especially in her scenes with the hoofer, played by Dan Healy. The conflict between the girl and her dancing partner when they are out on a vaudeville tour is the strongest dramatic point in the picture. The interest of the later scenes is added to by their atmosphere, and the glitter of color photography.

For a few moments the production is lifted to a dazzling height of comedy by Eddie Cantor, who appears in the revue episode, doing his tailor-shop act. The audience finds this immensely funny and in many ways the true bright spot of the picture.

In the same revue episode Rudy Vallee and Helen Morgan do song numbers.

Relatively speaking, "Glorifying the American Girl," at this somewhat belated date, reveals no surprises, but it is made in workmanlike fashion and discloses some interesting sidelights on the Follies, and incidentally and very slightly New York. It was made at the Paramount eastern studio.

The opening, that shows shadow glimpses of girls from all parts of the country trekking to Gotham town, is interesting photographically. Various song hits of the big revue are recalled during this prelude. Music by Walter Donaldson, Irving Berlin, Dave Stamper and Larry Spier is introduced during various portions of the film, a number of the tunes being familiars.

Milton Charles at the organ, and a short "Noath's Lark" cartoon comedy are other features of entertainment, along with views of the U.S.C.-Pitt game at the Rose Bowl and floats from the tournament parade.

MERRIMENT ABOUNDS IN "OH, YEAH"

Robert Armstrong, James Gleason Touch High Spots of Fun at R.-K.-O.

BY JOHN SCOTT

Robert Armstrong and James Gleason don overalls in "Oh, Yeah" at the R.K.O. Theater this week and breezily wend their way through this film depicting the experiences of two "boomer" brakemen, leaving behind them several hundred weak but willing spectators—weak from continuous laughter but willing to sit through the performance again.

"Oh, Yeah," judging from the reception given it yesterday at the R.K.O., is destined to further enhance the popularity which the two leading characters already enjoy. But for that matter the two could wear bathing suits and throw pies at each other, or on the other hand offer the most serious of dramas. Audience reaction would be the same. They are capable and finished actors and the vehicle is quite subsidiary to their respective talents.

However, the dialogue provides no drawbacks to the comics' abilities. To the man who has "railroaded" some time during his life, it will bring back fond memories. To the ordinary layman whose experience on trains is limited to dressing in upper berths, it fulfills exactly the language requirements of two such "boomers," men who work for a week or two on one railroad, then move on to the next.

There is a double romance involving Patricia Caron, a newcomer from the stage, and ZaSu Pitts, long a favorite. The inability of Armstrong to express himself to Miss Caron and the volubility of Gleason, who is finally out-talked by Miss Pitts, provide situations which are full of humor, resulting in hilarity and yet pity on the part of the audience for these well-meaning characters, who try so hard to be half-way cultured when near their sweethearts.

The story may be taken with a grain of salt, as it is probably meant to be. Dude and Dusty, pals of years' standing, wander into a railroad camp and promptly fall in love with the two girls who manage the commissary. Two villains attempt to "frame" Dude but fail eventually to disrupt the lives of the two men and their newly found loves. The final scenes are reminiscent of the old serials, with the flat car running wild and the girl turning a switch just in time to avert a wreck with the passenger train.

Tay Garnett, who adapted and directed the film for Pathe, evidently gave full rein to the leading characters and probably if the truth were known, had as much pleasure directing them as patrons have in seeing and hearing them on the screen. The director's ability to keep a maudlin note from creeping into the friendship of Dude and Dusty and his timing of the numerous comedy situations are notable and outstanding factors. James Gleason directed the dialogue. Minor roles are capably handled by Bud Fine, Frank Hagney, Harry Tyler and Paul Hurst.

The stage attraction this week brings Buster West and his coworker, John West, in familiar melody and merriment. West is favorably remembered as a leading performer on the variety stage. Other acts including Randolph's Jubilee Singers, Ethel Davis, Johnson and Duker and Schepp's Comedy Circus are well received.

Mirthful Aviation Comedy Listed

Patsy Ruth Miller

Is a prominent member of Edward Everett Horton's supporting cast in "The Aviator," which comes to Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater today. Robert Lord and Arthur Caeser did the screen story. Roy Del Ruth directed.

SONGWRITER'S TROUBLES TOLD

The romance of the gentleman whose personal fame may be unsung, but whose lyrics are chanted the world over—sometimes, when they're good—came to the Boulevard Theater yesterday.

It is called "Red Hot Rhythm" and it's all about a big, bashful song writer who is pretty dumb about everything except tunes, but who, like most gentlemen of his ilk, is patted on the back and pushed on to success by a pretty young thing.

Alan Hale is the lyric manufacturer. Kathryn Crawford is the girl who has faith in him, while the finely chiseled features of Josephine Dunn mask the mercenary motives of a feminine menace. Walter O'Keefe plays a song-writer role.

Incidentally, this is Hale's first starring picture and his first talkie. It reveals the fact that he has a good voice, knows how to use it in such a way as to make the most of his lines, which are for the most part somewhat banal. It also puts further emphasis on his decided penchant for the comic. As a matter of fact, he seems somewhat miscast. Imagine this large blond actor writing songs, tripping about in a dinner jacket at evening musicales and generally acting the sap.

The idea of the story is excellent and some of the individual comedy bits are grand. Tey'll get a chuckle from most any one, but the whole, which in its major outlines has so many amusing and sprightly qualities, lacks smoothness and finish. The picture is then spotty.

Speaking of the bright moments, there's a grand bit of pantomine from Alan when he gets the wrong hat and can't quite figure out what's behind the mistake. O'Keefe is given a couple of smart situations, of which he makes most, such as when he cooks too much rice, and escapes down the fire escape in lady's pajamas.

More, undoubtedly, will be seen and heard of Kathryn Crawford following her work in this picture. She has been given excellent "breaks" and although her singing is none too good, the result, perhaps, of recording or projection difficulties, her performance is meritorious. Josephine Dunn does her usual consistent work.

The picture is embellished by two richly colorful dance sequences created and staged by Richard Boleslavsky. These are distinctly sophisticated and leave a good impression.

Leo McCarey, responsible for that excellent picture, "The Sophomore," directed for Pathe. With William Conselman, he is given credit for the story.

On the stage at the Boulevard this week is the Pom Pom revue, a pot pourri of snappy song and dance numbers of the kind seen more usually in an intimate presentation. It scores decidedly with the audience.

RODZINSKI PRESENTS RUSSIANS

Symphony Earns Ovation; Horowitz Gives Brilliant Performance

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Young Russia was in the ascendant at the Philharmonic concert conducted by Dr. Artur Rodzinski last night. The symphony was excruciatingly new, having been written by Dimitri Szostakowicz at the age of 21. The soloist was also very young—Vladimir Horowitz, one of the amazing piano talents of the day. He played the third Rachmaninoff concerto. Other numbers on the long list were: Mozart's overture to "Figaro," played like a Russian Gopak; the Dances from Prince Igor, by Borodin, and a Bird suite by Respighi, the Italian pupil of Rimsky-Korsakoff.

The overture to "Figaro" was all accent with top notes barely heard. "The Birds" was a charming harking back to the early classics by Respighi. The modernists like to do this sort of thing to prove their ability. Unnecessary repetition is one gesture they could eliminate with profit. Modern writers have learned brevity and it is well.

This suite was marked for small orchestra, but Rodzinski elected to play it with many men. The Prelude, Dove, Hen, Nightingale and Cuckoo, were all delicately etched in tone and their respective characters sympathetically delineated.

Of the Szostakowicz symphony there is little to write after a first hearing. It is interesting, if that means anything to you. The composer is not a man of ordinary talent. His themes are neither noble nor banal. They move along in the development of the symphony in a satisfactory way and his flair for orchestral color is remarkable. The work is of great difficulty and Dr. Rodzinski and the men with him gave it their utmost, and the enthusiastic applause which was accorded the effort was well deserved.

Horowitz has long been heralded here but never heard. He has been praised by the most discriminating and lauded as the "greatest," the most astounding, and all the rest of the superlatives press representatives overwork. After a first hearing in a concerto which makes tremendous technical demands upon the player, but contains little that is emotional or poetic, my impression of Mr. Horowitz is that he has been overrated. He is, without question, one of the astounding piano talents in point of facility and, in what is better, musicianship. He lacks feeling and his truly marvelous ability and cleverness for effect does not compensate. He is yet too young in soul to be called a great pianist. The future will answer what he will become.

This afternoon Dr. Rodzinski will repeat this brilliant program, and on Wednesday evening of next week Horowitz will be presented in recital at the Philharmonic Auditorium. There one will have better opportunity to judge him.

Estabrook Now at Fox Studio

Continuing the rapid pace he set last year, Howard Estabrook has now become associated with the William Fox organization. Although under contract to Paramount, Estabrook secured a leave of absence in order to accept the assignment of writing the picture version and dialogue for "Yonder Grow the Daisies." This is said to be one of the most popular books written during the past two years.

Previous to going to Fox, Estabrook made similar arrangements to join Pathe's forces. For the Kennedy company he wrote an original story, the picture version and dialogue, which is to be produced this year as a special.

LOVE DRAMA FORCEFULLY RECOUNTED

"Their Own Desire" Gives Norma Shearer New Acting Laurels; at Loew's

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Hiding its light under a typically moviesque title, an expert, civilized and powerful talking picture found its way to the screen at Loew's State Theater yesterday. Called "Their Own Desire," and serving as a starring vehicle for the delicately poised Norma Shearer, the film for three quarters of its course presents entertainment as adult and as finished as anything in our town. It is the sort of drama pretty generally considered sacrosanct to the spoken stage; and I have an idea that the preservation of its dramatic quality in a film production is the accomplishment of James Forbes, a playwright in his own right, who did the dialogue adaptation and staging for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

It is all the more to be regretted, then, that the powers-that-be ruled out an ending that would be as fine as what had gone before. The picture, an adaptation of a story by Sarita Fuller, tells again of the ceaseless conflict between the younger generation and the older. Step by step it follows the careers of both, and then abruptly—possibly because its featured player happens to be a member of the younger group—settles her own particular problem and leaves the rest to shift for themselves. A melodramatic climax, the ultimate purport of which is not indicated, leaves Miss Shearer happily in the arms of Robert Montgomery, but since they were there before, the spectator is told nothing new.

True, the news that his daughter and the son of the woman he intends to marry are lost, strayed or stolen does bring Lewis Stone post-haste to the rescue, but there is no indication at the close that he will do other than return to his intended after the fade-out. This leaves his current spouse, played by Belle Bennett, as unhappy and deserted a person as she was before, and holds out for the boy and girl the embarrassing prospect of having more fathers and mothers than they will know what to do with.

I mention this situation at length because I was led to expect, by the detailed manner in which the case of the parents was laid open, that some solution of their own troubles would be attempted by the producers. It is, perhaps, a tribute to the vividness of the early reels that the unfulfillment of the later ones was more keenly felt.

Miss Shearer's performance sustains an amazingly true key throughout. "Naturalness" is an overworked word in describing the ability of our talkie stars, but it takes on real significance when applied to Miss Shearer. Robert Montgomery's sincerity as her lover is also to be commended. Belle Bennett and Lewis Stone, as always, attain distinction as the father and mother of the girl—Miss Bennett especially scoring in her characterization. Helene Millard plays the other woman, mother of the boy.

The direction is credited to E. Mason Hopper, whose competency in what I presume was the pictorial end is also unquestioned. The adaptation of the Fuller story was made by Frances Marion.

Harry Langdon returns to the downtown screen in "Sky Boy," an exceptionally hilarious and absurd Hal Roach comedy. It is extremely likely that Roach, who made Laurel and Hardy what they are today, has a talking comedian of equal caliber in the child-like and ingenuous Mr. Langdon. Not, of course, that he requires any extended introduction!

The best thing in Fanchon and Marco's "Ivory Idea" is an ensemble of ten girl pianists, playing under the direction of a proud and fatherly maestro. The High Hatters, Hy Meyer, Goets and Duffy and others take part in the show, with Betty Lou Webb officiating as mistress of ceremonies.

Robert McWade Cast in Chief Role of Comedy

Robert McWade, character comedian, popular for his appearances in "New Brooms," "Daddies" and "The Big Pond," is returning to the Hollywood Playhouse as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players.

McWade, whose engagement starts with the Sunday matinee on the 12th inst., will be seen in "It Pays to Advertise," the comedy by Roi Cooper and Walter Hackett.

In this piece McWade will have one of his favorite grouch roles, this time as Cyrus Martin, the hard-headed but warm-hearted soap manufacturer. The story concerns the conspiracy entered into between Martin and his secretary to stir up ambition in his son Rodney. Appearing in the role of the son will be Irving Mitchell, who acted the same part in the New York production of the comedy and played it on tour for a season.

Campus Story Will Come to Palace Screen

"So This Is College" will follow Cecil B. De Mille's first talking production, "Dynamite," starring Charles Bickford, Kay Johnson and Conrad Nagel, as the second attraction to be booked on the new policy at the Fox Palace Theater. "Dynamite" closes Wednesday.

Directed by Sam Wood, "So This Is College" is a singing and dancing comedy of campus life featuring Elliott Nugent, Robert Montgomery, Cliff Edwards (Ukulele Ike) and Sally Starr.

The campus grounds of U.S.C. served as the main locale of the picture, with members of the student body playing as extras. The story concerns the exploits and adventures of two college pals, members of the football team, whose bonds of friendship are broken through the influence of the school vamp.

but the very nature of things compels us at times to be in possession of some cars. These we convert into cash or put them out on contract as soon as we find the owner is not able to redeem. In order to do this quickly, we usually accept far less than the car's market value; we have found this plan more satisfactory than waiting for a profit.

Before you buy a car consult us; we can, no doubt, make you a considerable saving, and we may accept your old car as down payment.

Concrete Coated With Metal
Concrete waterproofed with metal has been developed in Germany. After the slab of concrete has been made it is given a coating of molten zinc, tin or lead by means of the spray method.

In spraying, a special apparatus has been designed. Into it a wire of the metal is fed and melted as it passes through the "gun." As it reaches the fluid state it is forced out and hurled against the surface being treated. A hard and durable coating is formed.

SHRINE CIRCUS ACTS ENGAGED

Plans Completed for First Annual Spectacle

Many Expected to Attend February 1 to 9

Menagerie and Side Shows Will be Features

STANTON A. BRUNER

Final plans for the first annual Shrine Hippodrome Circus to be conducted by Al Malaikah Temple, February 1 to 9, inclusive, were completed yesterday when Director General Stanton A. Bruner received the last of a large number of signed contracts of world-famous circus artists who are coming to Los Angeles. The Shrine Civic Auditorium will be the scene of the circus while the huge pavilion will be devoted entirely to free freak acts and side shows.

MENAGERIE, TOO

A circus menagerie will extend from Figueroa street to the pavilion along Thirty-Second street, with hundreds of impressive animal exhibitions. Lions, tigers, elephants, camels, clowns, ringmasters and freaks will be part of the spectacle.

The theater proper, with its 6500 seats, will hold the circus proper. Since the tearing down of the famous huge Hippodrome Theater in New York City, the Shrine Civic Auditorium has the largest stage in the world.

Measuring 13,800 square feet in area the stage proper is 108 feet wide beneath the proscenium arch. Owing to the seating arrangement making possible the elimination of duplicate end ring acts, featured circus acts were obtained exclusively. Spectators will witness one major and two secondary acts proceeding at the same time.

PROMINENT ACTS

Twice-daily performances will be given. The Shriners have been able to select their acts from several circuses owing to the fact that the various organizations are now in winter quarters. Performers known throughout the nation and connected with Ringling Brothers, will be featured, such as the Six Riding Rooneys, the Mounted Family act, Richard Havermann and his animal act consisting of lions, tigers and leopards. The Three Flying Floyds' leaps through space, Marie Sweeney, who hangs from the highest ceiling of the circus by her teeth alone; the McKeown Acrobatic Act, The Jacks and many others.

Bruner, an official of Al Malaikah Temple, who handled the Circus Maximus at the Coliseum during the Shrine convention last June, is in charge of the present undertaking.

Tickets will not be placed on sale until the 18th inst. Tickets exchangeable for reserved seats or for use as general admission will be offered Shrine members and to the general public. Transportation companies are arranging for special excursion rates to Los Angeles. With eighteen performances the Shriners will have seats for more than 115,000 persons and expect to accommodate at least 50,000 from out of town.

NO WALKOUT IN GARMENT SHOPS HERE

Industry in Many Other Parts of Country to be Tied Up by Strike

While other cities soon are to have strikes in the ladies' garment industry, conditions in Los Angeles do not call for a walkout, a gathering of local garment workers was told last night by Abraham Plotkin, Coast representative of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. The meeting was held in the Alexandria, and was called by Local 65, Cloak and Dressmakers' Union, as a recruiting assemblage.

Plotkin reported on the national convention of the Ladies' Garment Union, held last month in Cleveland. He announced that shortly 100,000 garment workers will strike in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Toronto for the abolition of the sweat-shop system. He admitted that internal difficulties within the union ranks had weakened the organization, and asserted that employers had taken advantage of this lack of solidarity.

"Sweat shop," as he explained, did not refer to a type of factory exclusively, but to speeding up, piecework and unregulated hours. He predicted a drive for the forty-hour, five-day week. Asked about the union plans for Los Angeles, he admitted that this city is not included in the strike call issued for various cities, and that it is premature to make any definite statement as to the possible outcome in the local market. He asserted that there are 1000 cloakmakers and 4000 dressmakers in Los Angeles, and that the union has a local membership of 2500.

NEW POLICE CHIEF GUEST OF AGENTS

Chief of Police Steckel was introduced yesterday at the monthly luncheon of the Special Agents' Association of Southern California in the Alexandria. His predecessor, James E. Davis, presented the new Chief to the agents, representing the various public utilities, and both were applauded roundly. Fred P. Phillips, chief special agent of the Santa Fe Railway, presided.

HEARING POSTPONED

Hearing of protests against granting a permit to Sol J. V. Godman to establish a rock crusher in Tujunga Canyon was continued by the City Council yesterday until the 13th inst., because Councilman Randall, who represents the district, is now taking a vacation.

NEW SHIPPING ACT PROPOSED

Representative Free Plans to Sponsor Measure

Definition Sought of Clause in Jones-White Bill

Waiver of Interest on Loans While Building Aim

BY WALDO DRAKE

American ship operators would be saved millions of dollars in projected new construction under provisions of a bill to be introduced by Representative Free of California when Congress reassembles this month. Mr. Free's bill proposes definition of an "inactive" ship so that when it is building it will be entitled to lower interest rates on Shipping Board loans.

Under the Merchant Marine Act of 1928, (Jones-White bill,) a fund of $250,000,000 is available for twenty-year loans for new ship construction. The interest rate on active ships, built from this loan fund, is 3 per cent for ships engaged in foreign trade, but when these ships are inactive the interest rate becomes 5½ per cent.

Mr. Free points out that the Shipping Board has ruled that when a vessel is building she is "inactive" and, therefore, the high interest rate is applicable. He declares that this was not intended by framers of the Jones-White bill and that it works great hardship and higher costs on American shipbuilding. The proposed bill will define an inactive ship as one actually out of operation after completion of construction.

The idea of the loan feature of the Jones-White bill, Mr. Free declares, is to keep American shipping in the trade with foreign countries as far as possible. Sentiment of shipping interests on both coasts is known to be solidly behind the Free measure and early passage of the bill is predicted.

LASSCO ENVOY ON WAY TO ANTIPODES

Making a definite bid for Australians to visit and depart the United States by way of Los Angeles, the Los Angeles Steamship Company yesterday dispatched Howard Truslow to the Antipodes.

He left for Hawaii on the liner City of Los Angeles, and will transfer to a Canadian-Pacific liner at Honolulu.

"We recently affected passenger transfer arrangements with the Canadian-Pacific line, which make the voyage this way extremely attractive, and Truslow is expected to tell Australians about it," explained Roy V. Crowder, passenger traffic manager. Truslow has been stimulating Hawaiian travel in Western American states the past year.

Crowder also announced assignment of William Cogswell to Honolulu as a permanent special passenger representative, to aid travelers on Lassco ships, in addition to the regular agency of B. F. Dillingham & Co.

Returning also on the City of Los Angeles yesterday were Lloyd R. Killam, professor of sociology at the University of Hawaii, and thirteen students, who have been attending the Asilomar conference at Monterey.

Lieutenant-Commander R. J. Weeks, in charge of the Navy Hydrographic Office at San Pedro, requests all Pacific mariners to acquaint themselves with the different characteristics of Point Loma light and the aviation beacon on San Miguel Mountain, twelve miles south-southeast of San Diego. The San Miguel beacon has in the past few months confused many navigators who thought it was Point Loma, several resultant groundings on the Los Coronados Islands having been narrowly averted.

Commander Weeks is in receipt of a letter from Second Officer Dow of the Isthmian liner Steel Worker, whose officers were confused by the San Miguel air beacon on the night of November 12, while northbound to this port. The Point Loma light flashes once every fifteen seconds, while the San Miguel beacon flashes once every ten seconds. The Steel Worker officers picked up San Miguel an hour before sighting Point Loma light, and, thinking it Point Loma, shaped a course for San Pedro light. An hour later, the mistake was realized when Point Loma light became visible.

With Capt. J. J. Cadogan on the bridge, the Dollar Steamship Lines' direct Singapore liner steamship President Hayes will arrive Wednesday noon discharge oriental cargo and take on cargo for her third voyage in the latest Dollar service, that of the direct-to-Singapore service.

Under the new service the liner does not go to Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, or Hongkong. The President Hayes will call for San Francisco Saturday and for Honolulu on the following Tuesday. From Honolulu the President Hayes sails for Singapore, via Manila. From Singapore the liner returns over the same route.

The President Monroe, now in the round-the-world service of the Dollar Lines, will enter the direct-to-Singapore service in February, thus affording shippers and passengers a monthly service direct to Manila and Singapore.

W. S. "Rusty" Reagh, well known on the Pacific as former first officer of the Dollar around-the-world liner President Wilson, has again succumbed to the spell of salt water. After a year spent in mountain ranching, he returned to port yesterday as freight clerk of the Dollar Manila liner President Hayes.

Barber Line's motorliner Thurland Castle, pathfinder of Barber's New York-Los Angeles-Orient service, sailed for the Far East early yesterday with Capt. R. L. Hughes in command. She loaded here 1000 bales of cotton, 4000 cases of sardines and shipments of tires, tubes and machinery.

Barber's next ship on the run will be the Norwegian motor ship Taishan, due from the Atlantic on the 13th inst. to embark six passengers and a heavy cargo for Manila and Shanghai.

Lassco's liner City of Honolulu is due home from Hawaii this morning with 195 passengers and 3000 tons of island freight, including canned and fresh pineapples, coffee, mail and parcel post.

The French Line freighter Notre Dame De Fourviere, sailed for Havre yesterday after loading 600 barrels of cotton and consignments of canned fruits and fish at the General Steamship Corporation terminals. Tomorrow, General will have in from Gulf ports the Japanese "K" Line freighter Rhine Maru, loading out 1200 tons of Los Angeles products for Yokohama and Shanghai.

David N. French, popular young marine insurance broker of the port, was back at his desk yesterday morning after joining the ranks of the Benedicts last Sunday. French and Miss Ora Lee Quillan of Long Beach were married at the Wee Kirk O' the Heather, at Glendale. They will make their home at 923 Obispo avenue, Long Beach.
